JFK Gives Tito Red Carpet Welcome

U.S. And Yugo Chiefs Report Talks Useful

Communist Leader Greeted With Full Military Honors

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Tito of Yugoslavia, paying a brief but significant visit to President Kennedy, said Thursday he believed that both East and West now realize they must "follow the path of negotiation" on cold war issues.

The 71-year-old Communist leader, who was greeted with full military honors by Kennedy, said he found the U. S. Chief Executive to be a "very good partner" in discussing international issues as well as those between their two countries.

Tito also said after two one-hour working sessions with the President that Kennedy had accepted an invitation to visit Yugoslavia. Asked when the President might make such a trip, Tito replied: "We shall see." He indicated no date has been set.

Joint Communique

Shortly after the White House session, Kennedy and Tito issued a joint communique which said they "concluded that, with determined effort and support from all nations willing to make their contribution, further progress would be made in reducing the danger of war and insuring a basis for world peace."

The communique said the meeting provided "a timely opportunity for a useful exchange of views on a number of important matters in regard to the international situation and to the United States - Yugoslav relations."

During the sessions, Kennedy offered the Yugoslav president surplus U. S. barracks housing for 10,000 homeless victims of the earthquakes that rocked the city of Skipje last July 25, killing thousands. The barracks formerly were used by the military in France.

No Loans, Aid Needed

On the question of any loans or aid, the joint communique made the point that Yugoslavia no longer needs such help from the United States. Tito's country is more intent on increasing trade with this country.

Tito, the first Communist leader ever received here by Kennedy, flew to Washington by helicopter from Williamsburg, Va., and returned there after his six - hour visit. He was scheduled to leave Williamsburg early Friday for Yosemite National Park.

While Tito was in the White House, some 100 members of Serbian and Crotian organizations picketed outside with placards denouncing him as a "murderer," "tyrant," and "Moscow's spy." Except for several critical speeches in Congress, there were no other incidents.

Jackie Returns From Vacation

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Kennedy Thursday night greeted his sunburned and beaming wife as she returned from a three-week vacation in Greece and North Africa.

Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy arrived at National Airport at 9 p.m. EDT aboard a small jet transport which met her commercial airliner when it landed earlier at Idlewild Airport in New York.

Earlier, Mrs. Kennedy flew from Paris. She arrived in the French capital on a flight from Morocco where she was guest of King Hassan II.

More Forest Blazes Erupt In Arid East

CHICAGO (AP) — New forest and woodland fires broke out in the arid East on Thursday and the spreading autumn drought took more bites out of farm production and cut hydro-electric power output in New England.

Definite indications that arsonists touched off some of the latest woodland fires in New York State, New England and Arkansas added new peril to the critical situation.

The U.S. Weather Bureau in Washington has forecast little or no rain in the eastern half of the nation for the next five days and subnormal rainfall in most of the eastern quarter of the nation for the next 30 days.

About 100 separate fires were burning in the woodlands of New York State, including 30 new outbreaks. A Conservation Department spokesman said arsonists definitely were at work in the area.

Softer Rights Measure Gains Demo Support

WASHINGTON (AP)— Democrats on the House Judiciary Committee charted a line of retreat Thursday on the tough civil rights bill the administration wants modified.

Urged on by Chairman Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., Atty Gen. Robert F. Kennedy and White House aides at a hastily called meeting, most of the committee's Northern Democrats agreed to support a less-sweeping bill.

The agreement is a big step toward putting together a measure that can be expected to pass the House. But an even bigger step lies ahead—getting Republicans to join in the compromise.

The administration wants bipartisan support for its bill but committee Republicans are as badly split as the Democrats, with some favoring the far-reaching bill drawn by a subcommittee and others preferring a much narrower one.

Celler canceled a full committee meeting in order to sound out Northern Democrats.

"I wanted to see if I'm on firm ground," Celler told newsmen in explanation of the meeting. Asked how it turned out, he replied: "I feel I'm on fairly firm ground."

Celler made it clear there is no solid party position but it is solid enough for him to take the next step—sounding out Rep. William M. McCulloch, R-Ohio, the ranking GOP member of the committee.

McCulloch told newsmen he plans to call the GOP members together before the next committee meeting, now set for Tuesday.

MIAMI (UPI) — Havana radio reported Thursday that 820 hurricane victims have been identified in Oriente Province alone.

First Of Sentry Satellites Goes Into Lofty Orbit

A-Test Watchdog 60,000 Miles Up, Second En Route

CAPE CANAVERAL (UPI)—The first of America's two super-secret spy satellites that will keep watch for any sneak nuclear tests in space Thursday reached a lofty orbit 60,000 miles above the earth.

It attained orbit — about a quarter of the way to the moon — at about 4:04 p.m. EDT to begin its job as space "watchdog."

There was no official confirmation from the Air Force of the super secret mission, but it was learned all was going well.

The second of the twin nuclear spy moonlets still was en route to its orbit at the same far - reaching altitude, which it was expected to achieve 38 hours later — or at about 6 a.m. EDT Saturday.

Tripleheader Shot?

This satellite needed just one more rocket "kick" to put it on its patrol path in space.

Both satellites were operating as planned and appeared to spell success for the significant safeguard project.

It was also speculated that a third satellite climbed into orbit on the same space shot — a smaller vehicle to detect radiation.

The shot was the first in a top - secret space program called "Vela High Altitude" of "Vela Hotel." Security was so tight at Cape Canaveral during the launching that newsmen were barred from the space center for the first time in five years.

Launched Wednesday

The sentinel satellites package was launched Wednesday night.

Despite the absence of any confirmation a tiny Hedon (TRS) satellite — weighing little more than a pound — might have climbed into orbit in the tandem shot, there was speculation such a spectacular feat was involved. This smaller vehicle would have attained an eliptical orbit of about 50,000 miles at its most distant point, and 200 at its closest.

Plans of scientists called for letting the satellites reach a altitude of 60,000 miles, then give them another "kick" forward with small, solid fueled rockets. This would level out their oval orbit and prevent them from sliding back toward earth.

King Concedes Some Protests Hurt Campaign

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., a leader in the direct action movement against segregation, said Thursday the summer's demonstrations produced some resentment among white Northerners and brought a temporary setback to his movement.

"Demonstrations in such cities as New York and Chicago aroused the ire of many persons in the North," King said.

"But the Negro revolution has revealed to many persons in the North that they had more deep-seated prejudices than they realized.

"And we can never have meaningful integration until these prejudices are realized and discarded."

King made this comment in a telephone interview from Detroit; he expanded on remarks made earlier this week in a conversation with an Associated Press reporter.

King was asked if this negative reaction outside the South portended the throttling of his eight-year fight against segregation.

"This is a kind of temporary setback necessary to make the journey ahead. If it had not come now, it would have come at some other time. Our only reaction is to move steadily forward," he replied.

King said he was not discouraged with the over-all civil rights movement.

King said there were these factors working in favor of his efforts:

"The growing industrialization of the South; and a recognition by young Southern white businessmen of the adverse effect of bigotry on the economy.

"The rolling tide of public opinion which will force the federal government to take a strong stand.

"And the new determination of the Negro himself. This is the most encouraging factor—even in the rural areas."

Cure Proves Worse Than Bite

THURMONT, Md., (AP)—The owner of a snake farm, who was bitten by a five-foot Indian cobra last month, has found that the treatment is worse than the bite.

Gordon Gaver was bitten by one of his cobras Sept. 26 and rushed to Frederick, Md., Memorial Hospital where he was given serum to counteract the bite.

Gaver was allergic to the serum, however, and it caused a massive swelling of his joints and extensive skin rash and hives.

The physician who administered the serum said Gaver had been given tests to determine if he was allergic to the serum, but that the urgency of the situation demanded hat the serum be administered even though the tests showed positive.

Gaver is now recuperating at his home here.

Pope Paul Appeals To Non-Catholics

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Addressing non-Catholics, Pope Paul VI Thursday night appealed to all Christians seeking unity to turn their backs on the past and look to the future. "Our attitude hides no snare," he said.

The Pope made his appeal at his first audience for the group of 66 Protestant, Anglican and Orthodox observers from 22 churches attending the Vatican Ecumenical Council.

Nhu Says CIA Agents Plotted Against Diem

By WILLIAM L. RYAN

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Ngo Dinh Nhu, powerful and controversial brother of South Viet Nam's president, says Buddhists under interrogation have identified U.S. Central Intelligence agents and other Americans who constantly prodded them to attempt to overthrow the government.

Nhu said CIA agents "may have received orders to do it against their will."

"Perhaps because they didn't like the orders they didn't carry them out very successfully," Nhu added with an amiable smile.

Nhu spoke to a group of visiting foreign correspondents Thursday at Gia Long Palace. President Ngo Dinh Diem's brother talked 2½ hours about what he called the "mess" in South Viet Nam.

Speaking of the CIA, Nhu said: "One thing I don't understand is why some CIA agents were involved in the Buddhist affair."

He was referring to the government clash with Buddhists in the wake of Buddhist protests of discrimination and a series of ritual suicides by fire.

"I don't know whether they received their instructions from higher up. I must say until the Buddhist affair broke, CIA played an important part in making a winning program" against Viet Cong Communist guerrillas.

Nhu did not blame top levels of CIA for what went on, but said "it really was suicidal to destroy what was so promising" in the anti-Communist program.

"For that reason I don't believe at all that chiefs of CIA were responsible for the mess here in Viet Nam," he added.

White Slave Ring Smashed

CINCINNATI (AP)-FBI agents arrested two Cincinnati men Thursday and said this broke up a major ring to recruit prostitutes for houses of ill fame on the Eastern Seaboard.

Ed Mason, special agent in charge of the Cincinnati FBI office, identified the men as Jack Ray Young and Clifford Everett (T-Bone) Hughes, 22. Both were charged with transporting women from Cincinnati to Baltimore Md., for purposes of prostitution.

The victims of the white slave ring were recruited mostly in a bar in Cincinnati's Over-the-Rhine District, Mason said. Young and Hughes were regular customers at the bar along with F.B. Horne, 21, who also has been charged with transporting a woman from Cincinnati to Baltimore for purposes of prostitution.

Cincinnati police said they have received complaints that knockout drops were used on women in the area of the bar.

Two Die In 3-Truck Pennsylvania Crash

INDIANA, Pa. (UPI) — Two men were killed and two others injured Thursday in an accident involving three tractor trailers on Route 422 eight miles east of here.

State police identified the victims as Theodore R. Kuhn, 47, of 306 C Drive, Warren, Ohio, and Elbert Blackburn, 31, 3803 Burgone Rd., Altoona.

Space Weapons Ban Voted By UN

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) — The United Nations General Assembly unanimously outlawed nuclear-armed space satellites Thursday in the first concrete cold war breakthrough since the limited nuclear test-ban treaty.

Voting by acclamation, the 111-nation assembly approved a sweeping resolution to halt the arms race on the fringes of space. The United States and the Soviet Union hailed the agreement as a significant disarmament milestone.

Sky Raiders Hit Viet Nam Reds' Camp; Five Slain

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—A Communist band which chose to camp in a rice paddy area only 15 miles west of Saigon got a surprise from the sky Thursday.

U.S. helicopters landed 60 South Vietnamese troops for an attack on the Viet Cong guerrillas while other helicopters flew air support.

The troops captured 12 guerrillas. They said they killed five others and wounded a dozen.

Officials said there were no casualties among the Vietnamese and American raiders, though one of the helicopters was hit six times by Communist ground fire and one bullet ripped through the fuselage of another.

A government source said Communist mines planted in a road 60 miles north of Saigon killed four Vietnamese soldiers and wounded nine of a military convoy Wednesday.

Two Communist platoons simultaneously attacked two strategic hamlets in Phku Province, about 200 miles northeast of Saigon, and made off with a number of weapons. Nine of the hamlets' defenders were reported missing.

VANDENBERG AFB, Calif. (UPI) — The Air Force announced the successful launch Thursday of its 18th Minuteman Intercontinental Ballistic Missile (ICBM) from this West Coast missile base.

President Will Visit Father Next Sunday

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy will visit his ailing father, Joseph P. Kennedy, at Hyannis Port, Mass., next Sunday after speaking appearances Saturday at Orono, Maine and Boston.

Pierre Salinger, White House press secretary, said Kennedy will fly from Boston to Hyannis Port by helicopter sometime Sunday morning.

He said the President will spend the afternoon at the home of the elder Kennedy, who suffered a stroke 22 months ago.

Preacher Shatters Negro Vote Barrier

ST. FRANCISVILLE, La. (UPI) — An elderly Baptist preacher Thursday became the first Negro eligible to vote in West Feliciana Parish (County) since 1902.

The Rev. Joe Carter managed to register even through white residents formed a human chain across the main entrance to the courthouse.

Four other Negroes took registration tests, but all failed. Thirty-eight more were waiting for examinations when the office closed 90 minutes ahead of schedule.

Algiers Radio Says Troops Pushed Back

Ben Bella Setback Follows Collapse Of Peace Efforts

ALGIERS, Algeria (UPI) — Heavy concentrations of Moroccan troops, supported by planes, tanks and artillery, have pushed Algerian forces out of the disputed Sahara border post of Tindjoub, Radio Algiers said Thursday night.

The admission of the Algerian setback by the official radio followed the collapse of peace talks in Marrakech, Morocco.

Radio Algiers said the Algerians were forced to retreat nine miles when a "vastly superior" force of 6,000 Moroccan troops attacked Thursday. It was the first admission by the Algerian government that the people's army of President Ahmed Ben Bella had suffered a setback.

The Algerians rushed a reported 50,000 fresh troops, artillery and planes to the border in preparation for possible all-out war.

Delegates Fly Home

Algerian delegates M'Hamed Yazid and Col. Hoffman Slimane flew home from the stymied peace talks in Marrakech, Morocco to report to Ben Bella. Yazid said he did not know if they would go back for further negotiations.

"Our soldiers were pursued by planes, tanks, artillery and armored cars—everything necessary," the Radio Algiers report said in a broadcast from Fort Loft—50 miles from Hassi Beida. It said fighting was still raging late Thursday night.

Hassi Beida is the other border post claimed by Morocco, which Moroccans said Wednesday they had recaptured along with Tindjoub. The Algerians had reportedly mounted counter - attacks on both posts.

10,000 Moroccans In Action

(A dispatch from Marrakech said Morocco had 10,000 men in action and was sending reinforcements to the front. The dispatch said 700 Moroccan wounded had been taken to Marrakech in an indication the fighting was heavier than reported in Algiers.)

Reports from Algerian army headquarters at Colomb Bechar 500 miles southwest of here said reinforcements were flooding in there while fighting continued 250 miles farther to the southwest for the fourth consecutive day.

The fighting was said to be limited for the time being to long range artillery firing without close-in combat. Casualties were reported relatively light.

Algiers Radio said Thursday night fighting continues "without respite" and that the Moroccans are constantly reinforcing their troops and harassing the Algerians with artillery fire and aerial bombing.

Russ Border Guards Pass British Convoys

BERLIN (UPI) — The British army Thursday sent four military convoys from West Germany to Berlin to demonstrate Allied rights of free access to the highway link across Communist Germany. Soviet border guards passed them without trouble.

A U. S. Army convoy is scheduled to test Soviet intentions on the vital 110-mile Autobahn Friday.

Soviet border guards Wednesday held up a British convoy for nine hours and delayed an American convoy for more than 48 hours last week.

Mrs. Nhu Complains Snub "Shows Real Cruelness"

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mrs. Ngo Dinh Nhu complained Thursday that the Kennedy administration "shows real cruelness" in ignoring her visit here.

As for her father, former South Viet Nam Ambassador Tran Van Chuong, whom she tried in vain to see at his residence here, she blamed the rift between herself and her parents on great pressure by some of their American friends.

The sister-in-law of South Viet Nam's President Ngo Dinh Diem talked of many things about her divided family, saying her father once hoped to replace the Diem regime were it to fall. He quit as ambassador in the turmoil over government treatment of Buddhists in South Viet Nam.

Winding up her two-day whirl of the U.S. capital, Mrs. Nhu held a news conference and spoke to the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

She told reporters women manage to get along much better than men of different nationalities and said if there were more women in high political life there might be more peace.

At the Junior Chamber of Commerce gathering, she was asked whether she felt slighted because the government was entertaining President Tito of Yugoslavia, a Communist, and ignoring her, an anti-Communist.

"It is not very helpful behavior of the American administration toward me," she said.

Informant Reports Home Will Be Prime Minister

LONDON (AP)—A high government source reported Thursday night that Lord Home, the foreign secretary, had beaten Richard A. Butler in the contest for control of the British government and soon would be named prime minister.

The outcome of the struggle for power came as a major political sensation. Earlier in the day, it had appeared virtually certain that the prize would fall to Butler, 60, now deputy prime minister.

The decision in favor of Home, also 60, became known after a day of feverish bargaining at the bedside of Prime Minister Macmillan.

Macmillan, 69, was reported exhausted from a round of continuous consultations since he underwent an operation to remove his prostate gland a week ago.

The informant said Macmillan will formally resign Friday by sending a letter to Queen Elizabeth II and at the same time he will be ready to advise the monarch that Lord Home should be his successor.

Despite various tangled legal and political complications, Home was reported ready to be appointed prime minister immediately.

This would make him the first peer to take over any British government in this century. The last member of the House of Lords to take the premiership was Lord Rosebery in 1895.

Move To Free Rights Demonstrators Fails

ATLANTA (AP) — Attorneys for four civil rights demonstrators held in jail at Americus, Ga., since Aug. 8 tried unsuccessfully Thursday to file an extraordinary motion in the Georgia Supreme Court for their release on bond.

Howard Moore, an attorney associated with the law firm headed by civil rights lawyer Doland L. Hollowell, was advised by court clerk Henry Cobb that his action is premature.

Cobb ruled that the motion was not in order until the Superior Court clerk at Americus transmits to the highest court in the state an appeal from a decision denying bond at the lower level.

"Perhaps because they didn't like the orders they didn't carry them out very successfully," Nhu added with an amiable smile.

Nhu spoke to a group of visiting foreign correspondents Thursday at Gia Long Palace. President Ngo Dinh Diem's brother talked 2½ hours about what he called the "mess" in South Viet Nam.

Speaking of the CIA, Nhu said: "One thing I don't understand is why some CIA agents were involved in the Buddhist affair."

He was referring to the government clash with Buddhists in the wake of Buddhist protests of discrimination and a series of ritual suicides by fire.

"I don't know whether they received their instructions from higher up. I must say until the Buddhist affair broke, CIA played an important part in making a winning program" against Viet Cong Communist guerrillas.

Nhu did not blame top levels of CIA for what went on, but said "it really was suicidal to destroy what was so promising" in the anti-Communist program.

"For that reason I don't believe at all that chiefs of CIA were responsible for the mess here in Viet Nam," he added.

President Will Visit Father Next Sunday

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy will visit his ailing father, Joseph P. Kennedy, at Hyannis Port, Mass., next Sunday after speaking appearances Saturday at Orono, Maine and Boston.

Pierre Salinger, White House press secretary, said Kennedy will fly from Boston to Hyannis Port by helicopter sometime Sunday morning.

He said the President will spend the afternoon at the home of the elder Kennedy, who suffered a stroke 22 months ago.

Preacher Shatters Negro Vote Barrier

ST. FRANCISVILLE, La. (UPI) — An elderly Baptist preacher Thursday became the first Negro eligible to vote in West Feliciana Parish (County) since 1902.

The Rev. Joe Carter managed to register even through white residents formed a human chain across the main entrance to the courthouse.

Four other Negroes took registration tests, but all failed. Thirty-eight more were waiting for examinations when the office closed 90 minutes ahead of schedule.

Space Weapons Ban Voted By UN

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) — The United Nations General Assembly unanimously outlawed nuclear-armed space satellites Thursday in the first concrete cold war breakthrough since the limited nuclear test-ban treaty.

Voting by acclamation, the 111-nation assembly approved a sweeping resolution to halt the arms race on the fringes of space. The United States and the Soviet Union hailed the agreement as a significant disarmament milestone.

Sky Raiders Hit Viet Nam Reds' Camp; Five Slain

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—A Communist band which chose to camp in a rice paddy area only 15 miles west of Saigon got a surprise from the sky Thursday.

U.S. helicopters landed 60 South Vietnamese troops for an attack on the Viet Cong guerrillas while other helicopters flew air support.

The troops captured 12 guerrillas. They said they killed five others and wounded a dozen.

Officials said there were no casualties among the Vietnamese and American raiders, though one of the helicopters was hit six times by Communist ground fire and one bullet ripped through the fuselage of another.

A government source said Communist mines planted in a road 60 miles north of Saigon killed four Vietnamese soldiers and wounded nine of a military convoy Wednesday.

Two Communist platoons simultaneously attacked two strategic hamlets in Phku Province, about 200 miles northeast of Saigon, and made off with a number of weapons. Nine of the hamlets' defenders were reported missing.

Minuteman Fired

Algiers Radio Says Troops Pushed Back

Ben Bella Setback Follows Collapse Of Peace Efforts

ALGIERS, Algeria (UPI) — Heavy concentrations of Moroccan troops, supported by planes, tanks and artillery, have pushed Algerian forces out of the disputed Sahara border post of Tindjoub, Radio Algiers said Thursday night.

The admission of the Algerian setback by the official radio followed the collapse of peace talks in Marrakech, Morocco.

Radio Algiers said the Algerians were forced to retreat nine miles when a "vastly superior" force of 6,000 Moroccan troops attacked Thursday. It was the first admission by the Algerian government that the people's army of President Ahmed Ben Bella had suffered a setback.

The Algerians rushed a reported 50,000 fresh troops, artillery and planes to the border in preparation for possible all-out war.

Delegates Fly Home

Algerian delegates M'Hamed Yazid and Col. Hoffman Slimane flew home from the stymied peace talks in Marrakech, Morocco to report to Ben Bella. Yazid said he did not know if they would go back for further negotiations.

"Our soldiers were pursued by planes, tanks, artillery and armored cars—everything necessary," the Radio Algiers report said in a broadcast from Fort Loft—50 miles from Hassi Beida. It said fighting was still raging late Thursday night.

Hassi Beida is the other border post claimed by Morocco, which Moroccans said Wednesday they had recaptured along with Tindjoub. The Algerians had reportedly mounted counter - attacks on both posts.

10,000 Moroccans In Action

(A dispatch from Marrakech said Morocco had 10,000 men in action and was sending reinforcements to the front. The dispatch said 700 Moroccan wounded had been taken to Marrakech in an indication the fighting was heavier than reported in Algiers.)

Reports from Algerian army headquarters at Colomb Bechar 500 miles southwest of here said reinforcements were flooding in there while fighting continued 250 miles farther to the southwest for the fourth consecutive day.

The fighting was said to be limited for the time being to long range artillery firing without close-in combat. Casualties were reported relatively light.

Algiers Radio said Thursday night fighting continues "without respite" and that the Moroccans are constantly reinforcing their troops and harassing the Algerians with artillery fire and aerial bombing.

Russ Border Guards Pass British Convoys

BERLIN (UPI) — The British army Thursday sent four military convoys from West Germany to Berlin to demonstrate Allied rights of free access to the highway link across Communist Germany. Soviet border guards passed them without trouble.

A U. S. Army convoy is scheduled to test Soviet intentions on the vital 110-mile Autobahn Friday.

Soviet border guards Wednesday held up a British convoy for nine hours and delayed an American convoy for more than 48 hours last week.

Move To Free Rights Demonstrators Fails

ATLANTA (AP) — Attorneys for four civil rights demonstrators held in jail at Americus, Ga., since Aug. 8 tried unsuccessfully Thursday to file an extraordinary motion in the Georgia Supreme Court for their release on bond.

Howard Moore, an attorney associated with the law firm headed by civil rights lawyer Doland L. Hollowell, was advised by court clerk Henry Cobb that his action is premature.

Cobb ruled that the motion was not in order until the Superior Court clerk at Americus transmits to the highest court in the state an appeal from a decision denying bond at the lower level.

Informant Reports Home Will Be Prime Minister

LONDON (AP)—A high government source reported Thursday night that Lord Home, the foreign secretary, had beaten Richard A. Butler in the contest for control of the British government and soon would be named prime minister.

The outcome of the struggle for power came as a major political sensation. Earlier in the day, it had appeared virtually certain that the prize would fall to Butler, 60, now deputy prime minister.

The decision in favor of Home, also 60, became known after a day of feverish bargaining at the bedside of Prime Minister Macmillan.

Macmillan, 69, was reported exhausted from a round of continuous consultations since he underwent an operation to remove his prostate gland a week ago.

The informant said Macmillan will formally resign Friday by sending a letter to Queen Elizabeth II and at the same time he will be ready to advise the monarch that Lord Home should be his successor.

Despite various tangled legal and political complications, Home was reported ready to be appointed prime minister immediately.

This would make him the first peer to take over any British government in this century. The last member of the House of Lords to take the premiership was Lord Rosebery in 1895.

Mrs. Nhu Complains Snub "Shows Real Cruelness"

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mrs. Ngo Dinh Nhu complained Thursday that the Kennedy administration "shows real cruelness" in ignoring her visit here.

As for her father, former South Viet Nam Ambassador Tran Van Chuong, whom she tried in vain to see at his residence here, she blamed the rift between herself and her parents on great pressure by some of their American friends.

The sister-in-law of South Viet Nam's President Ngo Dinh Diem talked of many things about her divided family, saying her father once hoped to replace the Diem regime were it to fall. He quit as ambassador in the turmoil over government treatment of Buddhists in South Viet Nam.

Winding up her two-day whirl of the U.S. capital, Mrs. Nhu held a news conference and spoke to the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

She told reporters women manage to get along much better than men of different nationalities and said if there were more women in high political life there might be more peace.

At the Junior Chamber of Commerce gathering, she was asked whether she felt slighted because the government was entertaining President Tito of Yugoslavia, a Communist, and ignoring her, an anti-Communist.

"It is not very helpful behavior of the American administration toward me," she said.

Delaware Trooper Killed In Gun Battle With Theft Suspects

Maryland Police Join Big Manhunt

WILMINGTON, DEL. (AP)—A Delaware state policeman was shot to death Thursday in a gun battle with two suspected burglars at a motel on Route 13, seven miles south of here.

Trooper Robert A. Paris, 28, was hit with what investigators believe to be a shotgun blast. They said three pellets entered his right side below the ribs and one in his forehead.

Paris, state police said, fired his gun four times at the two men as they fled the Dutch Village Motel in Hare's Corner.

Capt. Paul Riley, state police information officer, said Paris, in plain clothes, had been assigned to investigate thefts of television sets from motels across the state. He had alerted room clerks in all motels in his area.

Paris and a uniformed trooper, Robert J. Forenski were ordered to the Dutch Village Motel to investigate two burglary suspects. Riley said the troopers took positions at opposite ends of the motel, planning to signal by whistling if either spotted the men stealing TV sets.

Later, Riley reported, Forenski heard shots, ran toward the sound, and as he got there two men sped off in a car. Forenski fired four shots, then tried to help Paris, but the latter was dead, Riley said.

Paris' gun was found on the ground about three feet from his extended hand, and his identification card holder was at his fee, the information officer related.

Capt. Riley said Paris apparently approached men to make an arrest. Riley said it was proper to approach suspects with your identification holder in the left hand and gun in the right.

A short time later, a car with Florida license plates was found at the rear of the Airport Inn about a mile north.

There were bullet holes in the rear of the car," Riley said, "and blood on the front seat. There's a good possibility that one or both of these men were wounded."

The shooting prompted one of the largest manhunts ever conducted in this area, covering approximately six square miles. Police are using airplanes and teams of dogs. About 120 troopers, including a detail from the adjoining Maryland area joined in the hunt. Maryland State Police also sent a helicopter and some dogs.

Riley said the men sought are white and about 30-year-old. One is six feet tall and weighs 200 pounds. He has curly hair and was wearing a gray suit. The other is 5-10, about 170, and wore a white shirt and gray sweater.

Bedford County Fire Sweeps 300 Acres

ALTOONA, PA. (AP) — Two fires which swept approximately 1,300 acres of choice timberland in the Allegheny Mountains of Western Pennsylvania were still burning Thursday but under control. Numerous small fires also were reported..

A spokesman for the Gallitzin District of the State Forests and Waters Department said there were a couple of dozen minor fires in Cambria County alone.

The larger of the two major blazes destroyed an estimated 1,000 acres of timber in an area near Patton in Cambria County.

The other big blaze roared over a section of Tussey Mountain in Bedford County. Mrs. Helen C. Johnston, operator of the tri-county tower on the mountain, estimated 300 acres were destroyed.

U.S. Building "Uglier" Cities, Architects Told

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — America is building more than anybody else in the world "but we are building uglier and uglier cities," Charles M. Nes Jr., president of the Middle Atlantic Conference on the American Institute of Architects, said Thursday.

Nes spoke at the opening session of a conference on ugliness and aesthetic responsibility attended by architects from New Jersey, Delaware, Maryland, Virginia, and West Virginia.

He said such conferences are being held throughout the nation to organize a fight against ugliness in American architecture.

"More and more people are becoming worried about what they see about them," Nes said.

He said architects "are holding these meetings because we are a small profession and we need help."

Richard W. Snibbe, a New York architect, led an afternoon seminar on the responsibility of the community in preventing ugliness.

He said that "broad citizens' committees on aesthetic responsibility must be established throughout the nation to. . .bring pressure on everyone responsible for our visual environment to stop this desecration of our country."

Dr. Albert Bush-Brown, president of the Rhode Island School of Design and a member of the seminar panel, said "there is no way to legislate against ugliness."

"But individuals from many kinds of professions can come together" to work for solutions to the problem, he said.

"Nature is seldom ugly," he said, and many of our problems come the fact that "we are probably the first civilization that can trample nature so that it can't grow back."

Marylander Drowns In Boat Accident

FEDERALSBURG, Md. (AP) —William H. Jones, 63, of Federalsburg, Md., drowned in Marshyhope Creek one mile east of Federalsburg Thursday.

State police reported Jones left the office of the J.E. Rosser Sand and Gravel Co. about 10:45 a.m., on his way to a dredging barge in the creek. A man on the barge, Norman Henry, noticed a 12-foot aluminum boat overturned in the creek and a search was started.

Jones' body was recovered in four feet of water, 12 feet from the creek bank, shortly after noon.

Baltimorean Tests Accommodations Law

BALTIMORE (AP)—The proprietor of a Baltimore sandwich shop has challenged the validity and constitutionality of the city's equal public accommodations law.

An attorney for Marvin H. Hall, the shop owner, told the Equal Opportunity Commission that his client contends the law is no longer in effect.

George Washington Williams said his client did not deny refusing to serve a Negro in his restaurant, but insists the city public accommodations law violates his rights under the Constitution because it deprives him of property without due process of law.

Former JCS Members Urge Definite Terms

WASHINGTON (AP) — Three retired generals who served on the Joint Chiefs of Staff recommended Thursday that the length of service for all five members of that top military command be specified by Congress.

Not knowing how long they will serve hangs like a "sword of Damocles" over the nation's top military commanders, they told a House Armed Services subcommittee.

The three testified in support of legislation to set a four-year term for each of the four service chiefs and the chairman, with no provision for reappointment.

Air Force Gen. Nathan F. Twining, former chairman, and Gen. Thomas D. White, Air Force chief of staff until 1961, used the phrase "sword of Damocles."

Twining said he favors the term provided under the bill. White said there are arguments for a specific term of two, three or four years.

Gen. George H. Decker, who retired as Army chief of staff in 1962 after two years, told the subcommittee he considered that a term of four years is preferable to a shorter term.

Their views conflicted with that of Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara and Deputy Secretary Roswell L. Gilpatric, who contend passage of the bill would tie the President's hands in picking his advisers.

McNamara, in a letter, and Gilpatric, in person, told the subcommittee Wednesday that members are free to speak their minds. They belittled the idea that worry about reappointment would prevent a general or admiral from telling Congress if he disagrees with civilian leaders of the Pentagon.

GOP Strategists Doubt Nixon Could Be Nominee

WASHINGTON (AP) — Could Richard M. Nixon come up with the 1964 Republican presidential nomination?

Most Republican strategists say they don't think it could happen. But in almost the same breath they add that the way things are going in their party the improbable is at least possible.

Republican congressional leaders have been told by the former vice president, who lost to President Kennedy by a hairline margin in 1960, and was defeated for governor of California in 1962, that he will not become a candidate again under any circumstances.

They are inclined to accept at face value Nixon's recent news conference statement: "I am not a candidate and will not be. There will be no darkhorse nominated at this convention. That rules out myself and any others who are not now working for the nomination."

That seemed to narrow the field to Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona and New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller. But Nixon subsequently added the names of Govs. George Romney of Michigan, William A. Scranton of Pennsylvania and Sen. Thurston B. Morton of Kentucky.

Scranton said Wednesday that he isn't a candidate and that if any move developed to draft him he would stop it.

Republicans who don't like Goldwater's conservative views and who think Rockefeller's popularity has skidded, might turn to Nixon if they can keep Goldwater from running off with the nomination in the primaries and no other contender pops up to make a battle out of it at the San Francisco nominating convention.

Three Share Nobel Prize For Medicine

STOCKHOLM (UPI) — The 1963 Nobel Prize for Medicine was awarded Thursday to two Britons and an Australian for their discoveries on how nerve cells work.

The researchers who will share the $51,158 cash award are Allan Lloyd Hodgkin, 49, and Andrew Fielding Huxley, 45, both of Cambridge University, England, and Sir John C. Eccles, 60, of the Australian National University, Canberra.

The Nobel Committee hailed the findings of the three doctors as being in the "great tradition of nerve physiology."

The committee said Eccles, former president of the Australian Academy of Science, was honored for his research into the fundamental transmission of nervous impulses. He had solved what has "long been one of the main riddles in the physiology of the central nervous system," it said.

Eccles recently announced that he and his laboratory colleagues had discovered how to identify brain cells which had a depressive effect as distinct from those which excite the brain.

The prize winning work of Hodgkin and Huxley concerned the physical and chemical nature of nerve impulses, the Nobel Committee said.

7-Year-Old Salisbury Boy Drowns In River

SALISBURY (AP) — Herman E. Snead, 7, drowned when he fell into the Wicomico River Thursday.

Salisbury city police said the boy had been fishing from a wharf on Fitzwater Street. Police said a 10-year-old companion of the victim reported Snead was walking on some wet stones when he slipped into the water.

The child was pronounced dead on arrival at Peninsula General Hospital.

Elkins Replies To Chaplain's Frat Criticism

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP)—"There has been no challenge of freedom of speech for chaplains or anyone else at the University of Maryland," university president Dr. Wilson H. Elkins said Thursday.

His statement, issued by the university late Thursday afternoon, was in reply to the Rev. Jesse W. Myers, Presbyterian chaplain at the college who had sent letters out to some 300 incoming Presbyterian students last July criticizing fraternities.

Dr. Elkins said earlier Thursday that he did not feel the chaplain was within his rights to criticize any university activities or say what he wants.

"Nobody else on campus is—including me," Elkins said.

Myers said he sent a letter to Elkins apologizing for any embarrassment the controversial letter may have caused, but said he still had the right to say what he pleased.

Myers, in his letters to incoming Presbyterian students, had quoted from a sociological study, "Individual in Society," by David Krech.

The excerpt said, in part:

"The frat rat is expected to speak the special language of his house; this language is loaded with ugly vulgarisms designed to reinforce a self-image of toughness and cynical sophistication. . .The frat rat is expected to drink heavily."

Three Share Nobel Prize For Medicine

STOCKHOLM (UPI) — The 1963 Nobel Prize for Medicine was awarded Thursday to two Britons and an Australian for their discoveries on how nerve cells work.

The researchers who will share the $51,158 cash award are Allan Lloyd Hodgkin, 49, and Andrew Fielding Huxley, 45, both of Cambridge University, England, and Sir John C. Eccles, 60, of the Australian National University, Canberra.

The Nobel Committee hailed the findings of the three doctors as being in the "great tradition of nerve physiology."

The committee said Eccles, former president of the Australian Academy of Science, was honored for his research into the fundamental transmission of nervous impulses. He had solved what has "long been one of the main riddles in the physiology of the central nervous system," it said.

Eccles recently announced that he and his laboratory colleagues had discovered how to identify brain cells which had a depressive effect as distinct from those which excite the brain.

The prize winning work of Hodgkin and Huxley concerned the physical and chemical nature of nerve impulses, the Nobel Committee said.

7-Year-Old Salisbury Boy Drowns In River

SALISBURY (AP) — Herman E. Snead, 7, drowned when he fell into the Wicomico River Thursday.

Salisbury city police said the boy had been fishing from a wharf on Fitzwater Street. Police said a 10-year-old companion of the victim reported Snead was walking on some wet stones when he slipped into the water.

The child was pronounced dead on arrival at Peninsula General Hospital.

Elkins Replies To Chaplain's Frat Criticism

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP)—"There has been no challenge of freedom of speech for chaplains or anyone else at the University of Maryland," university president Dr. Wilson H. Elkins said Thursday.

His statement, issued by the university late Thursday afternoon, was in reply to the Rev. Jesse W. Myers, Presbyterian chaplain at the college who had sent letters out to some 300 incoming Presbyterian students last July criticizing fraternities.

Dr. Elkins said earlier Thursday that he did not feel the chaplain was within his rights to criticize any university activities or say what he wants.

"Nobody else on campus is—including me," Elkins said.

Myers said he sent a letter to Elkins apologizing for any embarrassment the controversial letter may have caused, but said he still had the right to say what he pleased.

Myers, in his letters to incoming Presbyterian students, had quoted from a sociological study, "Individual in Society," by David Krech.

The excerpt said, in part:

"The frat rat is expected to speak the special language of his house; this language is loaded with ugly vulgarisms designed to reinforce a self-image of toughness and cynical sophistication. . .The frat rat is expected to drink heavily."

Mail Fraud Trial Start Delayed To Wednesday

BALTIMORE (AP) — The criminal mail fraud trial of four men, including the former speaker of the Maryland House of Delegates, will open in U.S. District Court Wednesday, instead of Monday as originally scheduled.

The failure of defense attorneys and federal prosecutors to agree on the make-up of an array of 38 potential jurors forced the delay. Sixteen jurors, including four alternates, will be selected from the 38 to hear evidence in the case. The trial is expected to last three months.

The defendants in the case are A. Gordon Boone, who stepped down voluntarily as House speaker after his indictment earlier this year; C. Oran Mensik, Chicago financier; Frank McGurren, Mensik's Chicago civil lawyer, and D. Spencer Grow, a savings and loan promoter from Provo, Utah.

Budget Control Plan Awaited

HAGERSTOWN (AP) — A legislative subcommittee is expected to recommend within a week ways for the Maryland Legislature to increase its control over the state budget.

This was announced Thursday by State Sen. George E. Snyder, D-Washington, a member of the subcommittee on budgetary review.

Snyder said one of the recommendations would be that federal funds, which make up about one-sixth of the state budget, be scrutinized carefully as to their long-term impact.

He noted that built-in health, education and welfare services account for an automatic increase of $25 million every year.

Another area of concern, the senator said, is capital improvements, because operating costs must increase to operate the new facilities. The capital improvements made this year will require an additional $5 million in operating costs, he said.

State Comptroller Leaves Hospital

PRINCE FREDERICK, Md. (AP) — State Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein was released from Calvert County Hospital Thursday and left immediately for Baltimore.

"I think he went to the teachers' convention," Mrs. Goldstein said. "He didn't even come home first."

Goldstein, 49, was hospitalized Wednesday after complaining of a pain in his right side which began Tuesday morning.

Mrs. Goldstein said X-rays and tests disclosed no ailment, and doctors reported the pain may have resulted from food poisoning.

Maryland News In Brief

NAHA, Okinawa (AP) — Cpl. Carroll J. Belt, 28, of Baltimore, who took up boxing after joining the U.S. Marine Corps, died at Camp Hue Army Hospital Monday of a brain hemorrhage apparently caused by a boxing injury.

Belt was injured last Friday while sparring in a bout as a member of the U.S. 3rd Marine Division boxing team. A veteran of three years in the Marines, Belt's enlistment would have expired next May.

He was born at Sparrows Point near Baltimore and played basketball at Sollers Point High School. He enlisted in the Marines after graduation.

WESTMINSTER, Md. (AP) — Western Maryland College has accepted Negro undergraduates for its regular sessions for the first time in its 96-year history.

Two Negroes, one from Baltimore and the other from the Congo Republic, have been attending classes for the last three weeks. Western Maryland officials said there have been summer and graduate Negro students before, but none had applied for regular terms until this fall.

"We have never actually been segregated," one official said Wednesday.

FERNDALE, Md. (AP)—The manager of a Glen Burnie supermarket, who disappeared from the store at the same time that $3,690 turned up missing, was held in $1,000 bond Thursday.

Larceny after trust was the formal charge against Charles E. Hopkins, 22, Glen Burnie, who surrendered himself to Anne Arundel County police at Ferndale Wednesday night.

The money was discovered missing Monday at the Acme Supermarket on Crain Highway. About $3,000 of it has been recovered.

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP)—Honey production per colony of bees in Maryland is at its lowest point since 1950.

The Maryland-Delaware Crop Reporting Service said the expected average of 24 pounds per colony is 8 pounds less than last year. The total honey crop in Maryland for 1963 was 792,000 pounds, down 23 per cent from 1962.

The service attributed the drop to dry weather reducing the nectar supply throughout the state and winter damage to nectar plants, especially in Western Maryland.

BALTIMORE (AP) — The Bureau of Water Supply says an extremely dry summer and early autumn have reduced the city's water reserves by one-third.

Leroy V. Schuerholz, head of the bureau, said the water level at Loch Raven Dam dropped so low last month that the city had to open valves of the Prettyboy dam to augment the Loch Raven reserve. It was the first time this had to be done since December, 1955.

Mr., Mrs. Millard Bowman Observe Golden Wedding

Mr. and Mrs. Millard Bowman entertained in celebration of their 50th wedding anniversary with a turkey dinner, Wednesday evening at their home in Cresaptown.

The former Miss Mae Holler, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. George Holler, Boynton, Pa., became the bride of Mr. Bowman of West Salisbury, Pa., October 16, 1913. The ceremony was solemnized in Centre Street Methodist Church, Cumberland.

Coming to Cumberland 28 years ago, Mr. Bowman is a retired employe of the Celanese Corporation. Mr. and Mrs. Bowman are the parents of three children, Mrs. Dorothy Clayton, Mrs. Leola Longerbeam and Gordon Bowman. They have five grandchildren.

Mrs. Bowman's hobby is her home and flowers. His is his garden.

Yellow mums and assorted snapdragons were used in decorations. They were presented a money tree and tiered anniversary cake decorated in white and yellow.

Attending were Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Clayton, Linda Clayton, Mrs. Longerbeam, Darrell Longerbeam, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Bowman, Linda Bowman, Michael Bowman, Mrs. Kenneth Toohey, Paul Holler, Mr. and Mrs. James Moore Jr., Paul Henderson and Miss Evelyn May.

Beauticians Appoint Convention Delegates

Delegates to the state convention were named at the meeting of the Allegany Hairdressers Association, conducted by Mrs. Alberta Lindner Monday evening at the Tri-State Beauty Salon. They are Mrs. Virginia Nave and Mrs. Frances Huster. The convention will be held at the Emerson Hotel, Baltimore, November 23.

A Christmas party also was discussed. It will be in the form of a dinner December 9 at 6:30 at the Elks Club.

Combined Meeting To Be November 4

Plans for a combined dinner meeting of the WSCS and Wesleyan Service Guild were formulated at the meeting of the WSCS in Asbury Hall. It will be November 14 at 6:30 p.m.

Announcement was made of the mission study each Sunday at 5:15 p.m. by Dr. Wayne W. Hill; district child care board meeting at 10:30 a.m. October 24 in Washington Square Church, Hagerstown; quiet day observance at 11 a.m. October 30 in the chapel; and an Aldersgate program.

Devotions were led by Mrs. Cletus Hartsock. A skit was presented by Mrs. Robert Young, Mrs. H. R. McClay Sr., Mrs. Russell Hilleary Jr. and Mrs. Ralph Hoelzer.

Plans were made to hold nomination, election and installation of officers at the meeting November 11 at the academy.

Leslie Smith was elected president of the Happy Valley 4-H Club at the home of Janet Squires. Nancy McClelland will serve as vice president; Janet Squires, secretary; Robin Phillips, assistant; Shirley McClelland, treasurer; Mary McClelland, Trail delegate and Jean Rice, reporter.

The November 25 meeting will be at the home of Carol and Elaine Ranker. Miss Linda Boardman, assistant agent, was a guest. Others present were Carol Ranker, Elaine Ranker, Rebecca Ranker, Mary McClelland, Diane McClelland, Mary Spence, Cynthia Mease, Laura Griese, Anita Twigg, Rita Daniels, Eileen Rice and Patricia Rice.

Ladies Order of Owls, Nest 2180, will meet tonight at 8 at the home, 121 Harrison Street.

Mapleside Society Donates

Mapleside WSCS gave $10 each to the Business Girls Lodge and Sibley Memorial Hospital, and $7 for foreign medical supplies at a meeting conducted by Mrs. Colleen Lapp in the social room. The symbol of the membership pin was explained and it was decided to buy a pin for Mrs. Lapp and past president pins for Mrs. Jesse Dom and Mrs. Doris Proudfoot.

Members were reminded of the Aldersgate Witness Week, October 23-25 at Oldtown church with Rev. Fred Thorn speaker; the talk by a missionary from India on the aid received by UNICEF; and a movie, "One Love, Conflicting Faiths," November 17, sponsored by the MYF. Plans were made for a noon meeting to assemble packets for World Community Day, and complete plans for the annual turkey and ham dinner. A request was made for volunteer Brownie and Girl Scout leaders. Reports were given by Mrs. Jean Dicken, Mrs. Edith Martin, Mrs. Mary Davis and Mrs. Lillian Dom.

The worship, "Give unto the Lord," was led by Mrs. Dorothy Evans. Taking part were Mrs. Norma Thorn, Mrs. Frances Siebert, Mrs. Glendora Polans, Mrs. Jeannette Shobe and Mrs. Proudfoot. Mrs. Jesse Dom was pianist. Gourds and straw flowers decorated the refreshment table. Mrs. Proudfoot and Mrs. Dom were hostesses.

Reservations To Be Made

Women's Golf Association Awards Dinner Tuesday

The "Awards Dinner" of the Women's Golf Association of the Cumberland Country Club will be held Tuesday at the club house, beginning at 6:30.

Mrs. William H. Ryan will preside and introduce the new board for the 1964 season. Mrs. Lester Deneen and Mrs. Richard Kendall are co-chairman of prizes and will award prizes for all tournaments and special events of the entire season.

Arrangements are under the direction of Mrs. S. Lua Sykes, hospitality chairman. Reservations are to be made at the club by Sunday.

McKinley OES To Have Visitation, Anniversary

Mrs. Nellie K. Chesney and Howard E. Falk, worthy grand matron and patron of the Grand Chapter of Maryland, Order of Eastern Star, will be honored and the 62d anniversary of McKinley Chapter 12 will be observed at the regular meeting tonight, 8 o'clock at the Masonic Temple.

The meeting will be conducted by Mrs. Mounsey Smoak and John R. Earsom. The state officers will be accompanied on their official visit by other grand officers, past grand matrons and patrons and deputy grand lecturers. A special program will be presented.

Past matrons and patrons of the chapter will be honored in the observance of the anniversary of its institution.

Following the meeting, refreshments will be served by Mrs. Mary Settle and her committee.

A dinner will be served at 6 p. m. in the assembly hall for guests, members and friends. It will be served by the WSCS of LaVale Methodist Church.

Panel Discussion To Be Feature Of BPW Program

Members of the legislation and the civic participation committees of the Cumberland Business and Professional Women's Club will present a panel discussion on "The Discriminating Male." The program will be given at the regular dinner meeting Tuesday at 5:45 p.m. in Central YMCA. Panelists are Miss Edith Scharf, Mrs. Margaret Kirby, Mrs. Lillian Hast, and Miss Helen Beck. Miss Orpha-Bonita Pritchard will be the moderator.

Mrs. Freida Massara will preside at the business session. Plans for attending the leadership training meeting of the Western District in Hagerstown on October 26 will be made. Miss Gerardine Pritchard will report from the state board meeting and the state kickoff dinner for National Business Women's Week.

Mrs. Thelma Fatkin will be mistress of ceremonies. Mrs. Ellen Carroll will give the invocation; Mrs. Mary Miller, the inspirational reading, "Cooperation." Miss Louise Mathews is in charge of the table arrangements.

Co-chairmen of the legislation committee are Miss Beck and Mrs. Grace Wilson; and of the civic participation committee, Mrs. Fatkin and Mrs. Hast. Other members of the legislation committee are Miss Mary Apple, Miss Elizabeth Philson, Mrs. Elizabeth Hollis, Miss Margaret King, Mrs. Dessie Williams, Miss Orpha-Bonita Pritchard, Mrs. Carroll, Mrs. Miller, and Miss Scharf.

Miss Lucretia Boucher, Mrs. Alice DeHaven, Miss Mathews, Mrs. Esther Rosenbaum, Mrs. Marie Seymour, Miss Geneva Stone, Miss Phyllis Sterner, Mrs. Cora Hardin, Mrs. Kirby, and Mrs. Mary Jo Prendergast are the other members of the civic participation committee.

WHAT WOMEN CAN DO FOR PEACE — Mrs. John F. Gardiner, Baltimore, MFWC chairman of safety, discussed the woman's place in countries around the world at the meeting of the Woman's Civic Club yesterday. She was introduced by Mrs. Seth W. Harter, program chairman. Mrs. Harry B. Maroney, in the costume of Holland, played the national anthem of each country as a member modeled the appropriate costume, during the talk. The program began with America, represented by Mrs. W. Edward Solomon and concluded with "Peace" portrayed by Mrs. G. Louis Spoerl. Left to right are Mrs. John J. Reinhard Jr., Austria; Mrs. James E. Beatty, Hawaii; Mrs. Spoerl, Mrs. Gardiner, Mrs. William R. Allen, Isle of Martinique; Mrs. Edward W. Dove, India, and Mrs. Maroney. Other countries represented by costumes bought by Mrs. Gardiner in her trip around the world are Mexico, Mrs. A. J. Feigus; Sweden, Mrs. Buford L. Saville; Guatemala, Mrs. Ralph Isiminger; Cuba, Mrs. William E. Bruce; England, Mrs. Albert Heacox; France, Mrs. Raymond Lapp Jr.; China, Mrs. G. William Harrison; Japan, Mrs. William H. Geppert; Spain, Mrs. Joseph Schriver; Portugal, Mrs. Albert Paye; Scotland, Mrs. Charles Helmrich; Argentina, Mrs. William A. Smith; Peru, Mrs. John MacVeigh; Korea, Mrs. Merrill Barnes, and Bethlehem, Mrs. T. Cass Dye. Following the meeting a tea was held, with Mrs. Fred Hutchison, chairman.

Program Topic Will Be Used

A demonstration on "accessories in your wardrobe" was given by Mrs. Walter Taschenberger at a meeting of the Spring Gap Homemakers, and each member was asked to wear her favorite accessory to the November meeting.

"Car Talk in a Woman's Language" was discussed by Mrs. John Davis and Mrs. Golda Riley. It was announced that Miss Mary Wise will attend the next meeting, which will be at the home of Mrs. Donald Monnett.

Others attending were Mrs. Merlin Barb, Mrs. Chester Delawder, Mrs. George McGregor, Mrs. Monnett, Mrs. James Taschenberger, Mrs. Joseph Steger, Miss Alma Taschenberger, Mrs. Pearl Twigg, Mrs. Herbert Howard and Mrs. Norman Monnett.

The Mizpah Bible Class of First Baptist Church will meet at 7:30 tonight at the home of Mrs. Robert Bobo, Valley Road.

Mr., Mrs. Millard Bowman Observe Golden Wedding

Mr. and Mrs. Millard Bowman entertained in celebration of their 50th wedding anniversary with a turkey dinner, Wednesday evening at their home in Cresaptown.

The former Miss Mae Holler, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. George Holler, Boynton, Pa., became the bride of Mr. Bowman of West Salisbury, Pa., October 16, 1913. The ceremony was solemnized in Centre Street Methodist Church, Cumberland.

Coming to Cumberland 28 years ago, Mr. Bowman is a retired employe of the Celanese Corporation. Mr. and Mrs. Bowman are the parents of three children, Mrs. Dorothy Clayton, Mrs. Leola Longerbeam and Gordon Bowman. They have five grandchildren.

Mrs. Bowman's hobby is her home and flowers. His is his garden.

Yellow mums and assorted snapdragons were used in decorations. They were presented a money tree and tiered anniversary cake decorated in white and yellow.

Attending were Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Clayton, Linda Clayton, Mrs. Longerbeam, Darrell Longerbeam, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Bowman, Linda Bowman, Michael Bowman, Mrs. Kenneth Toohey, Paul Holler, Mr. and Mrs. James Moore Jr., Paul Henderson and Miss Evelyn May.

Beauticians Appoint Convention Delegates

Delegates to the state convention were named at the meeting of the Allegany Hairdressers Association, conducted by Mrs. Alberta Lindner Monday evening at the Tri-State Beauty Salon. They are Mrs. Virginia Nave and Mrs. Frances Huster. The convention will be held at the Emerson Hotel, Baltimore, November 23.

A Christmas party also was discussed. It will be in the form of a dinner December 9 at 6:30 at the Elks Club.

Combined Meeting To Be November 4

Plans for a combined dinner meeting of the WSCS and Wesleyan Service Guild were formulated at the meeting of the WSCS in Asbury Hall. It will be November 14 at 6:30 p.m.

Announcement was made of the mission study each Sunday at 5:15 p.m. by Dr. Wayne W. Hill; district child care board meeting at 10:30 a.m. October 24 in Washington Square Church, Hagerstown; quiet day observance at 11 a.m. October 30 in the chapel; and an Aldersgate program.

Devotions were led by Mrs. Cletus Hartsock. A skit was presented by Mrs. Robert Young, Mrs. H. R. McClay Sr., Mrs. Russell Hilleary Jr. and Mrs. Ralph Hoelzer.

Plans were made to hold nomination, election and installation of officers at the meeting November 11 at the academy.

Club Elects

Leslie Smith was elected president of the Happy Valley 4-H Club at the home of Janet Squires. Nancy McClelland will serve as vice president; Janet Squires, secretary; Robin Phillips, assistant; Shirley McClelland, treasurer; Mary McClelland, Trail delegate and Jean Rice, reporter.

The November 25 meeting will be at the home of Carol and Elaine Ranker. Miss Linda Boardman, assistant agent, was a guest. Others present were Carol Ranker, Elaine Ranker, Rebecca Ranker, Mary McClelland, Diane McClelland, Mary Spence, Cynthia Mease, Laura Griese, Anita Twigg, Rita Daniels, Eileen Rice and Patricia Rice.

Ladies Order of Owls, Nest 2180, will meet tonight at 8 at the home, 121 Harrison Street.

Mapleside Society Donates

Mapleside WSCS gave $10 each to the Business Girls Lodge and Sibley Memorial Hospital, and $7 for foreign medical supplies at a meeting conducted by Mrs. Colleen Lapp in the social room. The symbol of the membership pin was explained and it was decided to buy a pin for Mrs. Lapp and past president pins for Mrs. Jesse Dom and Mrs. Doris Proudfoot.

Members were reminded of the Aldersgate Witness Week, October 23-25 at Oldtown church with Rev. Fred Thorn speaker; the talk by a missionary from India on the aid received by UNICEF; and a movie, "One Love, Conflicting Faiths," November 17, sponsored by the MYF. Plans were made for a noon meeting to assemble packets for World Community Day, and complete plans for the annual turkey and ham dinner. A request was made for volunteer Brownie and Girl Scout leaders. Reports were given by Mrs. Jean Dicken, Mrs. Edith Martin, Mrs. Mary Davis and Mrs. Lillian Dom.

The worship, "Give unto the Lord," was led by Mrs. Dorothy Evans. Taking part were Mrs. Norma Thorn, Mrs. Frances Siebert, Mrs. Glendora Polans, Mrs. Jeannette Shobe and Mrs. Proudfoot. Mrs. Jesse Dom was pianist. Gourds and straw flowers decorated the refreshment table. Mrs. Proudfoot and Mrs. Dom were hostesses.

Reservations To Be Made

Allegany County Lay Health Group will have a luncheon and business session October 29. It will be held at Maplehurst Country Club, Frostburg, beginning at 12:30 p.m.

Reservations are to be made by October 26. They may be made by calling Mrs. Pearl Blair, HO 3-4584 or Mrs. Albert Sittig, OV 9-8457.

Re Temple 118 To Hold Founders Day Tea Sunday

Re Temple 118, Daughters of the Nile, will entertain with a Founders Day tea for members only. It will be held Sunday at the Ali Ghan Country Club from 3 until 5 o'clock.

A golden color scheme will be carried out in the decorations, marking the 50th anniversary of the Daughters of the Nile, which was founded in Seattle October 30, 1913, by 22 women whose husbands were nobles of the A.A.O.N.M.S. The local temple was organized May 13, 1957.

Mrs. Sara G. Lindsay, queen of Re Temple, will give a brief history of the order.

Past queens will serve as hostesses and are in charge of arrangements. They are Mrs. Ann Bennett, Mrs. Dorothea Wickard, Mrs. Anna Reed, Mrs. Ethel Zimmerman and Mrs. Gladys Close.

To Hold Masquerade

A Halloween masquerade party will be held by the LaVale Lionettes October 26. It will be held at the Rod and Gun Club, Club House Road, LaVale.

LaVale Lions and their wives are invited. There will be prizes, games and refreshments. Costumes are requested but not required.

Finnigan's Hollywood

By JOSEPH FINNIGAN

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) —Spike Jones, that back alley Beethoven, has gone straight, recording an album of music without ripping the tunes apart.

Since he became a musical assassin about 20 years ago, Jones has been considered by Western civilization in the same light as Attila the Hun.

Maybe his new Liberty album, "Washington Square," will make up for some of the sour notes Spike has played in the past. He once described himself as "dandruff in the long hair of music."

"It's a temporary musical department," said Spike of his decision to play it straight.

"You might say 'Washington Square' is a mixture of folk music and Dixieland."

Spike, who once got fired from a band job because he wore tennis shoes with his tuxedo, is finding no difficulty playing music in the more accepted fashion than his regular style. A Jones band usually sounds like a set of instruments falling down stairs.

"We have to know how to play music straight in order to satirize it," the one time drummer said. "It's like the clown ice skater. He probably can skate better than the star."

Spike admits though that he was tempted at times during the "Washington Square" recording session to play his old style.

"I felt at home playing the music, but was also rather restless," he said.

In the past, Spike's band rarely played music as it was written. Occasionally when a vocalist was singing, the boys would manage a bit of self control. After all, no singer could vocalize along with Spike's regular style.

The common man's maestro said his new album is selling at a fast clip. He's even picking up a following of lady fans who seem to find his new style romantic.

"The way this album is going, I may continue to play straight, said Spike. "But we could also do the other type of music."

As proof that he hasn't left the zany field for good, Spike mentioned another album he's putting out.

"It's called 'Sing Along with Dracula and Vampira,'" said Jones, sounding like the Spike of old. "The album consists of monster parodies."

It's good to know that Spike hasn't gone all the way with his new style.

Like Mother, Like Son

AMARILLO, Tex. (AP) — With the opening of school a family profession begun by his mother will be carried on by Jerry Lynn Spencer. Spencer began his first year as a teacher in the Amarillo school system and his mother, Mrs. Mollie Spencer, began her 29th year as a teacher.

Traveling Light

ROCKFORD, Ill. (AP) — Starting out with only $100 between them, two locals boys completed a 3,000-mile trip through Canada and western United States on a motorcycle. "People everywhere have been just wonderful," reported Robert Hendricks, 18, and Edward Halley, 17, after their tour of nearly three months.

Algiers Hotel Apparently Finished As Notorious Espionage Center

By ALAN RAYMOND

ALGIERS (UPI) — The Aletti Hotel seems finished as one of the most notorious espionage centers in North Africa.

At various times during its colorful history, the Aletti housed Nazis, Free French, anti-Gaullist European terrorists and innumerable spies and once even flew the Vatican flag.

President Ahmed Ben Bella's government has swept it up with other Algiers hotels and restaurants in his nationalization program.

And as Algeria settles down after its recent turbulent past there appears little chance that the Aletti will become anything but a large hotel like any in Atlantic City or other coastal resorts.

Once, Hollywood thriller-writers would have found scores of plots in the white, seven-story building perched on the waterfront.

It was briefly the headquarters in World War II of the Nazis in Algiers. The Germans were followed by the Vichy French, then the British and finally the Free French of Gen. Charles De Gaulle. Always there were the go - between agents.

The hotel was the headquarters for war correspondents for two years after the Allied invasion of North Africa.

Anti - Gaullist collaborators plotted in its bars and restaurants in 1942. Twenty years later terrorists of the Secret Army Organization (OAS) schemed De Gaulle's downfall for handing Algeria to the Moslems.

One story says the Aletti had so many flags in and before World War II, including a Vatican flag marking the 1938 Eucharistic Congress, that French army officers used them to make underwear for themselves during the war's textile shortage.

The Aletti slipped into a lull between the end of World War II and the outbreak of the Algerian revolutionary war in 1954.

But soon French army officers, embittered by defeat in Indo-China, invaded it to proclaim France would not "sell out" Algeria and the hotel's bars rang with denunciations of French public figures who supported Algerian independence. The chant of "Algerie Francaise" sounded repeatedly through its corridors.

Less than 18 months ago one could make contact at the Aletti to meet Jean-Jacques Susini and other members of the die-hard OAS. The OAS watched newsmen at the hotel covering the war, once kidnaped a party of Italian reporters, slashed an American journalist with a razor, threatened others.

News Commentary

By DONALD JOHNSTON

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UPI) — Continuation of unrest in the Congo is causing unexpected headaches for the United Nations and the United States.

Virtually everyone at U.N. headquarters had assumed that the U.N. military force finally could be pulled out of the huge African country at the end of the year. It was hoped that the books on the costly, politically-aggravating episode in U.N. history could be closed with a collective sigh of relief.

But the problem is far from settled, and it has been decided to continue the Congo operation for at least six months more—until June 30. It is to add $15 million in expenditures to the $400 million already spent since mid-1960.

This decision will increase the U.N. debt, now running close to $140 million. It will complicate further a complex constitutional controversy over payment of arrears by dues delinquents such as the Communist states and France. It will use up energies previously earmarked for other problems.

For the United States, the supporter of the operation, it means $5.5 million added to the nearly $200 million American taxpayers already have contributed to the peace-keeping mission. It is expected to revive outcries in Washington from opponents of both the political and financial aspects of the affair.

At U.N. headquarters, even with the so-called "spirit of cooperation" resulting from the limited nuclear test ban treaty, the Congo issue has re-opened old wounds and caused new ones.

During the budgetary committee's debate on whether to appropriate money to extend the operation, tensions flared between East and West, between Russia and the Africans, between Washington and its Latin American neighbors. Disunity developed even within the African group and within the Latin American group over certain aspects of the question.

Under such circumstances, why then is the operation not closed down as long as the fighting long since has stopped?

The answer is the fear that premature withdrawal would invite a new blow-up. Such a development could cancel out the sacrifices of money and men, and deal a disastrous blow to the organization's prestige and peace-keeping potential.

Despite three years of U. N. police activity and technical assistance in the Congo, Congolese Premier Cyrille Adoula has reported continuing threats to his country. He has expressed fears of fresh outbreaks of lawlessness, tribal warfare, and secessionist activities if the U.N. troops are pulled out before the national army and police are trained adequately to maintain order.

Secretary General Thant, in a report to the Security Council, said Moise Tshombe, who lost a two-year battle to make his Katanga Province independent, is believed standing by in Southern Rhodesia with three of his former ministers.

The report said "their potential for trouble-making undoubtedly remains high," adding that "some believe that he (Tshombe) is only awaiting the withdrawal of the United Nations troops to make a new move."

UPI reports from the Congo cite members of Tshombe's former army as a primary problem to Adoula's government. The tough Katangese gendarmes, believed to number about 15,000 men, have been hiding in the bush. There have been suggestions that they are awaiting a directed scheme of action to return to organized contingents.

Flu Strikes Horses

MIDLAND, Tex. (AP) — The horse show scheduled for Labor Day weekend at Midland Boarding Stables was canceled because some of the horses had the flu.

Known as Virus X, the ailment is similar to Asian flu in humans. The horse has a slight cough and its temperature may run as high as 105 degrees. Unlike flu in humans, no vaccine has been found to combat Virus X.

Densest of all gems is the tinstone, a colorless to yellow stone found in Australia, Bolivia, Malaya, Mexico and in Cornwall, England.

New Astronauts Will Be Named

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — The names of a third group of astronauts will be revealed Friday. Some may be jet pilots with physical science training that will be useful in early explorations of the moon.

The group may double the size of the manpower pool for the advanced Gemini and Apollo space shots that have an objective of placing astronauts on the moon within the decade.

The Manned Spacecraft Center announced Wednesday the group will be introduced at a formal conference Friday afternoon at 4 p.m. Their number is expected to be from 10 to 16.

The original seven Mercury astronauts were selected in 1959 and nine military and civilian trainees were added in 1962.

Applications were received from 271 military and civilian pilots including two women who were disqualified. Of these, 29 were disqualified.

Qualifications were streamlined, possibly because of pleas that early moon shot crews include scientifically oriented personnel.

A test pilot requirement was dropped in favor of a minimum of 1,000 hours jet pilot time or test pilot status. An earlier requirement of a degree in physical or biological sciences or in engineering was simplified to a degree in engineering or physical sciences.

The report said "their potential for trouble-making undoubtedly remains high," adding that "some believe that he (Tshombe) is only awaiting the withdrawal of the United Nations troops to make a new move."

UPI reports from the Congo cite members of Tshombe's former army as a primary problem to Adoula's government. The tough Katangese gendarmes, believed to number about 15,000 men, have been hiding in the bush. There have been suggestions that they are awaiting a directed scheme of action to return to organized contingents.

Flu Strikes Horses

MIDLAND, Tex. (AP) — The horse show scheduled for Labor Day weekend at Midland Boarding Stables was canceled because some of the horses had the flu.

Known as Virus X, the ailment is similar to Asian flu in humans. The horse has a slight cough and its temperature may run as high as 105 degrees. Unlike flu in humans, no vaccine has been found to combat Virus X.

Densest of all gems is the tinstone, a colorless to yellow stone found in Australia, Bolivia, Malaya, Mexico and in Cornwall, England.

New Astronauts Will Be Named

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — The names of a third group of astronauts will be revealed Friday. Some may be jet pilots with physical science training that will be useful in early explorations of the moon.

The group may double the size of the manpower pool for the advanced Gemini and Apollo space shots that have an objective of placing astronauts on the moon within the decade.

The Manned Spacecraft Center announced Wednesday the group will be introduced at a formal conference Friday afternoon at 4 p.m. Their number is expected to be from 10 to 16.

The original seven Mercury astronauts were selected in 1959 and nine military and civilian trainees were added in 1962.

Applications were received from 271 military and civilian pilots including two women who were disqualified. Of these, 29 were disqualified.

Qualifications were streamlined, possibly because of pleas that early moon shot crews include scientifically oriented personnel.

A test pilot requirement was dropped in favor of a minimum of 1,000 hours jet pilot time or test pilot status. An earlier requirement of a degree in physical or biological sciences or in engineering was simplified to a degree in engineering or physical sciences.

Christmas Club Checks To Be Mailed Out Early Next Month

More than $800,000 will be mailed out to residents of the Cumberland area in the next few weeks, that amount representing Christmas Club savings in the city's four major financial institutions.

Each of the institutions reported increased savings in Christmas Club payments, although two banks reported slight drops in the number of accounts.. Officials said this was explained by a trend toward larger accounts, noted over the past several years.

Actually, there were 903 more accounts than last year when checks totaling $738,028 were distributed to 7,805 individuals.

This year, according to a check of the four institutions, 8,708 checks will be mailed out, with the total amounting to an estimated $808,575.

The First-Second National Bank and Trust Company reports handling 3,300 accounts this year, compared to 3,350 by the two banks in 1962 prior to the merger. Checks will total an estimated $310,000, while last year's total was $302,000.

First-Second will mail out checks on November 2, and the new Christmas Club account will open on the following Monday.

The Liberty Trust Company reports handling 2,357 Christmas Club accounts this year, with the savings placed at $237,375. Totals last year were 2,068 accounts and $223,210.

The largest gain in both the number of accounts and the amount to be distributed is reported by First Federal Savings and Loan Association.

That institution reports having 2,247 Christmas Club members who will receive a total of $160,000. Last year, First Federal distributed $119,000 to 1,575 members. This year's totals represent a gain of 672 members and $41,000 more in savings.

The Cumberland Savings Bank reports handling eight fewer accounts than in 1962, although the total savings are $7,382 more this year.

The bank will mail out 804 checks on November 4, with the total amount estimated at $101,200. In contrast, 812 accounts were handled last year, with the amount placed at $93,818.

Man Awarded $78 Verdict

J. Bruce Phillips of Meyersdale, Pa., was awarded a verdict for $78.72 by Associate Judge W. Earle Cobey in Allegany County Circuit Court Tuesday.

The Meyersdale man had been awarded a judgment for $88.96 by Trial Magistrate Frank P. Kelly in Frostburg in a case in which Ellis Broadwater, Consolidation Village, Frostburg, was the defendant. The difference in the verdicts resulted from Judge Cobey's elimination of $10.24 from the amount.

In another appeal which had been scheduled for trial Tuesday, a judgment by agreement of counsel in favor of the plaintiff, Sunset Memorial Park Inc., and against the defendants, James A. and Virginia C. DeVore, for $251.24, was entered. This was an appeal from a decision by Trial Magistrate F. Allan Weatherholt in favor of the defendants. Louis A. Fatkin was attorney for Sunset and Noel Speir Cook represented the defendants.

Chief Judge Morgan C. Harris found for the defendant in another civil appeal heard Monday. Joseph Boyle, 109 Mt. Pleasant Street, Frostburg, had been awarded $487.43 damages by Trial Magistrate Kelly in Frostburg from Roger Clifton Seifarth, Depot Road, Frostburg. However, the plaintiff did not answer when the case was called in Circuit Court. Testimony then was taken before Judge Harris and he found for the defendant.

Local 568 To Meet

Local 568, Iron Workers Union, will hold a membership meeting Saturday at 7 p. m. in the Allegany Labor Temple. It will be preceded with an executive board session at 6 p. m.

VERONA, Italy (AP) — The bulletin board outside the quartermaster's office at the Southern European Task Force Headquarters of the United States Army here carried a list of available shoes in off sizes.

But what irked Capt. Charles L. Naegel was when some joker phoned to ask whether the size 12 triple E's came with or with out laces.

Modern Approach

GODTHAAB, Greenland (AP) —Greenland, noted for its modern criminal code designed to rehabilitate rather than punish offenders, has no prisons and only one house of detention which holds a maximum of six prisoners. Inmates may work at outside jobs, but doors are locked at 6 p.m. on weekdays and 9 p.m. on Sundays.

Man Awarded $78 Verdict

J. Bruce Phillips of Meyersdale, Pa., was awarded a verdict for $78.72 by Associate Judge W. Earle Cobey in Allegany County Circuit Court Tuesday.

The Meyersdale man had been awarded a judgment for $88.96 by Trial Magistrate Frank P. Kelly in Frostburg in a case in which Ellis Broadwater, Consolidation Village, Frostburg, was the defendant. The difference in the verdicts resulted from Judge Cobey's elimination of $10.24 from the amount.

In another appeal which had been scheduled for trial Tuesday, a judgment by agreement of counsel in favor of the plaintiff, Sunset Memorial Park Inc., and against the defendants, James A. and Virginia C. DeVore, for $251.24, was entered. This was an appeal from a decision by Trial Magistrate F. Allan Weatherholt in favor of the defendants. Louis A. Fatkin was attorney for Sunset and Noel Speir Cook represented the defendants.

Chief Judge Morgan C. Harris found for the defendant in another civil appeal heard Monday. Joseph Boyle, 109 Mt. Pleasant Street, Frostburg, had been awarded $487.43 damages by Trial Magistrate Kelly in Frostburg from Roger Clifton Seifarth, Depot Road, Frostburg. However, the plaintiff did not answer when the case was called in Circuit Court. Testimony then was taken before Judge Harris and he found for the defendant.

Local 568 To Meet

Local 568, Iron Workers Union, will hold a membership meeting Saturday at 7 p. m. in the Allegany Labor Temple. It will be preceded with an executive board session at 6 p. m.

DELANEY — TIMES-NEWS '63

Frostburg May Get Two Doctors

The prospect of adding at least two more physicians to the medical staff of Miners Hospital — one "at most any time" — was announced publicly Wednesday during an open meeting held by the Frostburg Fire Department.

It was emphasized by both the hospital board of governors and the hospital's medical staff at two previous meetings within the last two months that Miners Hospital and the community are in dire need of more physicians.

Frank T. Powers, describing himself as not a member of the hospital board but interested in securing more physicians because he was asked to help, announced that "we have good promise of two doctors," and he added, "I think one is going to settle at most any time."

Powers said Dr. Leslie R. Miles of Lonaconing is bringing one physician prospect to look over the Frostburg situation.

Wednesday's meeting was an out-growth of a September 25 session called by the firemen because of difficulty their rescue squad was having with emergency cases at the Frostburg hospital. It was then that Powers suggested the approximately 50 persons in attendance act as a committee to apply their efforts in securing physicians.

The need for more physicians in Frostburg initially was made public following a meeting September 9 between the Frostburg city commissioners and the hospital board.

Fire Department vice president, James D. Williams, presiding over the meeting, said that having two prospects was a "great step forward," and Powers urged citizens again to make personal contacts to secure physicians. Another public meeting was scheduled for Thursday, November 7.

Alvin H. Rankin, a member of the fire department, referred to three physicians who were interviewed for positions on the medical staff but who did not open practice in Frostburg. He said he did not believe the story to be true that they didn't stay because of not liking the town, the people and one's wife not liking the clothes available.

William S. Jenkins, president of the hospital board, responded, "We are all familiar with the doctors who were here and did not stay." He continued that the hospital is looking for well-qualified physicians and in the process of obtaining physicians he said some who are undesirable for varying reasons will be encountered.

Rankin later cited a recent "isolated case" where the fire rescue squad had to rush a child to Memorial Hospital, Cumberland, when emergency medical treatment by a Frostburg physician could not be obtained. "I don't see it," Rankin said, "they (doctors) take an oath. They shouldn't refuse to go see anyone. What if the fire department did that?"

John Durst, captain of the fire department rescue squad, asked if there was anything the hospital board could do to have a doctor on call. He mentioned an incident last Sunday when a young girl, badly burned in a Mt. Savage accident, was brought to Frostburg and the doctor on call could not be located.

Jenkins explained that the medical staff works on a rotation system in regard to having a doctor on call. "If that system breaks down, there is nothing this board can do about it. I don't know where that doctor was."

Jenkins said in most cases the system works, "except for these isolated, occasional cases."

A woman asked how many physicians were able to be on hospital duty and Jenkins responded there were five.

"Our real problem is we don't have enough men," said Jenkins. He added it was possible the doctor on call might be out on another call when an emergency occurs.

Several comments were made concerning the physician on call notifying another doctor to fill in, or letting the hospital know of his whereabouts. Jenkins agreed they should notify another doctor. "I think they keep in touch with the hospital," he said, and reiterated that the rotation system occasionly breaks down.

The board president said there are close ties between the medical staff and board and "when these things happen, we try to find out what happened and who is responsible."

Fire Chief Joseph Durst injected that he was approached by a member of the Allegany-Garrett County Medical Association and that a meeting with the association on the problem could be arranged with responsible parties concerned. Mayor Joseph James, also a board member, said he would confer with Durst on the possibility.

A very bad trump break complicated what would otherwise be a routine game contract in clubs in today's hand. A shortage of entries to the dummy made it necessary for the declarer to handle his assets with great resourcefulness, and his successful performance rates the very highest plaudits.

South opened the bidding with one club and, when West made a preemptive jump to three spades, he really presented North with a problem. Altho the latter was somewhat tempted to bid four hearts, this appeared overly drastic on so ragged a five card suit, so he finally settled for a competitive raise of partner to four clubs. South carried on to game.

West opened the queen of spades which was taken in the closed hand. The natural move at this point would be to draw trumps for, if both hands follow to the first club, the contract is assured. As a preliminary measure, however, South first led a heart to the ace and ruffed a heart in his hand. The reason for this play will become apparent momentarily.

A small club was led to the king and, when West showed out, East was revealed to possess a trump trick. A second heart was ruffed by South, and he next cashed the king of spades thus stripping East of his major suit holding.

Declarer played the ace and another club, throwing East into the lead at a time when he had nothing but diamonds left. The latter exited with the ace and another diamond to North's king. A heart was ruffed establishing the long card in that suit, and dummy was reentered via a diamond ruff to cash the six of hearts for the game fulfilling trick.

When South led over to the ace of hearts at trick two, he did not know that the trumps were going to break badly but, at no extra cost, his fine technique laid the groundwork that was essential to cope successfully with the actual distribution.

Peace Corps To Offer Test Here On Saturday

The Peace Corps will offer placement tests Saturday at 8:30 a. m. in the Cumberland Post Office for those interested in becoming volunteers.

Those who take the test must also fill out a Peace Corps questionnaire. Saturday will be the last general opportunity to take the Peace Corps placement tests for applicants wishing to qualify for programs beginning the first of the year.

Volunteers agree to serve two years in the Peace Corps, including training time of from ten to 12 weeks. A college degree is not required, as the corps has thousands of requests for those with varied skills.

All travel and living expenses are paid and the corps furnishes administrative support abroad. In addition, the volunteer receives a readjustment allowance of $75 monthly upon completion of his service.

Music Teacher On Program

Al Homburg, vocal music instructor at Beall High School, Frostburg, and music instructor at Allegany Community College, will be one of the featured entertainers during the homecoming celebration this weekend at West Virginia University.

Homburg and other entertainers will perform aboard a showboat that has featured various celebrations during the West Virginia centennial year. He will appear twice nightly today and Saturday.

A folk singer and classical song stylist, Homburg is studying with David Lloyd, artist in residence at West Virginia University who is a tenor with the New York Civic Opera Company and noted for his recording of "The Messiah" with Leonard Bernstein.

The showboat performances will be taped for possible presentation as a special CBS program.

Al Homburg, vocal music instructor at Beall High School, Frostburg, and music instructor at Allegany Community College, will be one of the featured entertainers during the homecoming celebration this weekend at West Virginia University.

Homburg and other entertainers will perform aboard a showboat that has featured various celebrations during the West Virginia centennial year. He will appear twice nightly today and Saturday.

A folk singer and classical song stylist, Homburg is studying with David Lloyd, artist in residence at West Virginia University who is a tenor with the New York Civic Opera Company and noted for his recording of "The Messiah" with Leonard Bernstein.

The showboat performances will be taped for possible presentation as a special CBS program.

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Why don't people keep their mouths shut when they don't know what they are talking about?

I am the mother of twin boys, eight years old. I had a very difficult pregnancy and almost lost my life when the twins were born. The doctor advised me against trying to have more children so my husband and I decided to adopt. It took two years before we were able to get our adorable little girl. Laurie is now five years old and what a joy!

Last week Laurie came home crying as if her heart would break. One of her playmates told her his mother said we couldn't possibly love her as much as we love the the twins because they are of our own flesh and blood and she is not.

I tried to comfort the child and reassure her, but she hasn't been the same since. She seems withdrawn and unhappy. Can you suggest any way we can help her?—FURIOUS MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: I trust (and hope) that Laurie had been told by you and your husband that she was adopted before the neighbor kid got to her. If not, perhaps this is part of the reason for her unhappiness.

Continue to give Laurie generous doses of love and attention. Let her know that as a chosen child she is special—and that you were lucky to get her because so many others wanted her, too.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Last year I wrote to you about a problem I was having with my husband. He agreed to do as you said and it worked out fine. Now we have another problem we'd like you to settle. Again he has promised to take your advice.

Our 8th wedding anniversary is coming up. It falls on the opening day of the hunting season. He wants to go hunting with the fellows. I say a wedding anniversary is a lot more important than hunting, and that he belongs home with me.

We get along a lot better than most of our friends and I would say our marriage is a good one. Please settle this because we've been talking about nothing else for two weeks. Thank you.—MRS. CALL OF THE WILD

DEAR MRS. WILD: And just what kind of an anniversary celebration do you think you'll have with a long-faced martyr who would rather be hunting?

Of course his choice shows he's a self-centered little boy but let him go anyway. Every marriage should have at least one adult and in your home you'll have to be it.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Our son is soon to be married to a lovely girl.

It is customary where I come from for the mother of the bride to ask the mother of the groom for the names of close relatives to assist at the reception. Our family is small but some members will be coming a great distance for the wedding.

I'd like my brother to be at the punch bowl. My husband has two wonderful aunts, charming and well-bred, and I'd like to have them pour.

I realize the bride's family puts on the wedding and the reception but it is our son's wedding, too, and it would seem like a slap in the face if our family were ignored. Please tell me if I should inform the mother of the bride that I feel strongly about this.—A. B. W.

DEAR A. B. W.: The groom's family should indeed be included in the reception activities. If the suggestion comes from you, however, it might be resented.

Ask your son to mention it gently to his fiance and let her take it from there. If you hear no more about it, let the matter drop. The unpleasantness which might result would not be worth it.

To learn how to keep your boy friend in line without losing him, send for ANN LANDERS' booklet, "Necking and Petting — And How Far To Go," enclosing with your request 20c in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Security And Access To Secrets

So secret is the National Security Agency that all it discloses about its activities in the U.S. Government Manual is that it "performs highly specialized technical and coordinating functions relating to the national security."

But it is known to operate, in a $35 million building at Fort George G. Meade, elaborate equipment for monitoring communications and breaking foreign codes, and it is also said to develop codes for the United States. These functions alone make it a prime target for espionage.

The agency has had a number of embarrassments over the years, however. One was the defection of two of its mathematicians to the Soviet Union three years ago. This brought a Congressional investigation and steps to tighten internal security. But now it develops that Army Sgt. Jack E. Dunlap, who served the NSA as a driver and clerk-messenger, passed data to Soviet agents for two years.

Sergeant Dunlap committed suicide last July, but the Pentagon, which supervises the NSA, says he had only limited access to confidential data. But the Russians reportedly felt what he produced was worth $30,000 to $40,000 in one year alone.

It is, of course, difficult to assume the individual reliability of thousands of employes, but an agency as supersensitive as NSA is expected to be a model of caution. The Dunlap case should bring another, and thorough, search for a more nearly foolproof system of personnel selection and supervision.

These Days

By John Chamberlain

Fussin' And Feudin'

Politics, under the surface, can be a pretty lethal business. And the wolves are ravening just now to make use of the so-called "Bobby Baker affair" in ways that could satisfy a number of lethal political appetites.

To understand the snapping and snarling that is going on under cover, one must know something of the background of the Baker case. Robert G. Baker was, until his recent resignation, the Secretary to the Democratic Senate Majority, a post that carried with it a $20,000 annual salary. Bobby owed his job to Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson, who had originally supported him for the position in the days when an "LBJ" tag carried instantaneous approval with a majority of Senators.

When Johnson quit his post in 1961 as Democratic leader of the Senate to become Vice President, he passed Bobby Baker on to the new Majority Leader, Mike Mansfield. Baker was just as popular —and as useful—as ever in running errands for his senatorial bosses. But the sleuthing of Senator John J. Williams, the Delaware Republican, put Baker on the spot when it was revealed that "Lyndon's boy" had outside business interests and had, indeed, made money from contracts that had placed vending equipment in defense industry plants.

Baker chose to resign rather than to fight — a decision which caused anguish among a number of senators, who saw nothing legally or even ethically wrong with anything that Baker had done. The "conflict of interests" laws which cover employees of the executive branch of government do not apply to senatorial employees any more than they do to the senators themselves. Certainly most members of the Senate have outside interests: they maintain law offices, they accept big lecture fees, they do not necessarily resign their business connections when they go to Washington. For example, the late Senator Kerr of Oklahoma, a big oil man, had an industrial empire that makes anything owned by Bobby Baker look like a child's toy, and he never apologized for protesting it. As Senator Dirksen, a Republican who nonetheless disapproved of investigating Bobby Baker, said to Majority Leader Mike Mansfield, no senator would be immune if there were to be a committee investigation of "outside interests."

This being the tag end of 1963, however, there are Republicans who want to get Democrats for campaign reasons, and there are Democrats who want to get each other. The "dump Lyndon Johnson" faction of the Democratic Party has naturally seized upon the Bobby Baker incident to push their campaign to substitute North Carolina's Governor Terry Sanford for the Vice Presidential nomination slot in 1964.

Here the play leads to anyone who can hope to draw Attorney General Kennedy into the act. Bobby Kennedy has never learned to love Lyndon Johnson. Early in September the Hearst White House correspondent, Marianne Means, filed a story from Washington about "a top echelon feud smouldering in the capital." She remarked that "so far Vice President Johnson and Attorney General Kennedy have not drawn on each other in public, but behind the scenes close acquaintances of both are concerned about their hardly contained distaste for each other." The feud, according to Miss Means dates back to the 1960 pre-convention campaign, when Johnson was busy calling attention to Papa Joseph Kennedy's 1940 opposition to U. S. entry into the European War.

Nobody in any responsible position has accused Bobby Kennedy of prodding the FBI to exert energies beyond the call of duty in investigating the affairs of Bobby Baker. Nobody has accused him of trying to overrule his brother on 1964 policies. But the point is that people who want to "get" Lyndon Johnson by agitating the Baker issue have been reporting conversations with FBI men who have supposedly been predicting that the investigations of Baker will have "wide political ramifications." The FBI naturally denies that any FBI man has said anything to anyone. But rumor, in a pre-election year, often does duty for reality—and if enough animosity can be stirred up against the renomination of Lyndon Johnson for Vice President by spreading rumor, the rumor will be spread.

From the Democratic point of view, the danger in the "get Johnson" maneuvers is that it makes for feuds that could disrupt the 1964 campaign. Bobby Baker and Lyndon Johnson have many Congressional friends who will be running in 1964—and if Lyndon is not on the ticket it could be depressing to Democratic energies. On the other hand, it could be even more depressing if Lyndon can't show that he has what it takes to carry Texas.

Communist World Leaders Keeping Watch On Tito's Reception In U.S.

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — The most controversial Communist in Europe, Josip Broz Tito, is now the guest of the United States. On the manner in which he is received, whether he is picketed, and whether Senators Proxmire, D-Wis. and Lausche, D-Ohio, let out their usual hate diatribes will depend to some extent the course of Communism in Europe. For Tito has great influence in the satellite world.

Queen Frederika of Greece, describing her husband's state visit to Yugoslavia, once told me: "When Tito took off his clothes to go swimming, his body was a mass of scars — wounds from war and the torture chamber."

In 1915 when Tito was a young non-com in the Austrian army, two Russian cossacks came up from the rear of the Austrian trench and ran their lances through his body. He was taken prisoner by the Russians, shipped back to Moscow thence to Siberia and spent five years there, most of the time as a prisoner.

At the close of that war, while Tito was still in Russia, I went to his country. I know it well. Yugoslavia, then hastily thrown together by Woodrow Wilson and only a few months old, was struggling to pull itself out of the most ruthless occupation of World War I.

Its livestock was non-existent, its people starving, its houses in shambles, its railroads rusty ribbons with wheezing locomotives that could hardly make the grade.

Led Ragged Army

While I was still in Yugoslavia, helping to rebuild its villages and replow its fields, Tito came back this time to oppose the monarchy and, twenty years later, to put up the most amazing and resourceful resistance against Hitler of any allied leader.

For three years he maneuvered a ragged army of partisans through the forest and mountains of Montenegro, Bosnia and Hercegovina. How he did it is one of the miracles of World War II. I have ridden horseback through those mountains, in the snow and in the scorching summers. I know how wild and forsaken they are. I know how difficult it is to get grass for your horse, let alone bread for the belly.

Yet while mighty France surrendered to Hitler within hours, and while Belgium, Holland and Scandinavia lay prostrate under the Nazis, Tito kept up his resistance. At no time did the Nazi armies ever control all of Yugoslavia.

"I must say that this old Communist, Herr Josip Broz, has really earned his title of marshal," lectured Heinrich Himmler to a group of senior German officers on Sept. 22, 1944. "When we catch him, we shall kill him at once. You can be sure of that. But I wish we had a dozen Titos in Germany, men who were leaders and had such resolution and good nerves that even though they were forever encircled, they would never give in. The man had nothing, nothing at all. He was always encircled, and he always found a way out."

What the pickets who protest against Tito's visit to the United States and the Senators who rail against him don't know is that he performed this military miracle with absolutely no help from Stalin. In radio after radio, Tito appealed to Moscow for help. He got back messages signed "Grandpa," the code name for Stalin, telling him to fight on, but he got no help.

Russians No Jumpers

Finally, in the winter of 1944, Stalin sent a military mission to aid Tito. But they refused to jump in by parachute, as the British and Americans had done, required the partisans to clear the snow off an air strip, and when they arrived wearing shiny boots and prim tunics, the first thing they asked for was the lavatory.

There was no lavatory. The partisans traveled too fast to dig them. The Russians, however, promptly required that one be prepared.

The Russians brought no arms, no food, nothing but official-looking brief cases and some gratuitous advice about military tactics and the demand that the partisans reorganize on the model of the Red Army. They also wanted Yugoslavia soldiers to shine shoes and perform menial tasks for Russian officers.

This led to such friction that Tito used to wise-crack about the way his dog "Tiger" growled distrustfully at General Korneyev, head of the Russian mission.

Finally, as the Nazis retreated and the Red Army entered Yugoslavia, there were 1,219 rapes, 329 attempted rapes, 111 rapes with murder, 248 rapes with attempted murder and 1,205 robberies with violence — all committed by Russian soldiers.

These were some of the incidents which paved the way for the bitter break between Tito and Stalin, when in 1948 Stalin stormed at Khrushchev, "I shall shake my little finger at Tito and there will be no more Tito."

A lot has happened since then. Stalin's body has been removed from its place of honor in the Kremlin. Khrushchev has made two trips to Belgrade to woo Tito back, not too successfully. And today Tito has fulfilled his long-cherished dream of visiting the President of the United States in the White House. Much more significant, however, is the fact that independent Communists like Gomulka of Poland, who disappeared from power when Stalin started venting his wrath against Tito, have now come back to power.

So the welcome which Tito gets in the United States will be watched by every leader of the Communist world for a clue for U. S. relations in the future.

RFK Finds Civil Rights Bill Goes Too Far

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — Attorney General Kennedy has just made a remarkable statement to the House Judiciary Committee on the whole subject of "civil rights" legislation. In a nutshell, he recognizes that the measure reported out by the subcommittee, while desirable in its objectives, goes too far and might even imperil the ultimate enactment of the entire program.

In the course of his testimony, the Attorney General suggested some ways to diminish opposition to the bill. He said, for instance, that it would be unwise for the federal government to interfere in state, county and city elections and that it should confine itself to federal elections. But Mr. Kennedy's main objection was to the wide sweep of authority which the pending bill would give to the federal government to regulate customer relations in "public accommodations." He said that the principle behind the bill — namely, that all forms of racial discrimination are equally objectionable — is a moral one, but that he believes the original anti-discrimination proposal, which did not attempt to extend federal law to cover every form of "public accommodations," was a much better approach. Mr. Kennedy feels that many of the problems can be solved by voluntary means. He declared:

"We were reluctant to extend federal power beyond those areas where it was clearly needed to meet existing problems. The subcommittee has added to this coverage a catchall which prohibits discrimination in any business operating under state or local 'authorization, permission, or license.' This addition meets none of the criteria we thought important . . .

"What businesses are covered by this provision are unclear. It would seem to extend federal regulation to law firms, medical partnerships and clinics, private schools, apartment houses, insurance companies, banks, and, potentially, to all businesses which a state does not affirmatively ban. And its application, if a narrower interpretation is proper, is in any event uneven to the extent that it depends upon widely divergent state licensing practices to determine its coverage."

Mr. Kennedy pointed out that, while excesses by the police have occurred, the proposed use of broad injunctive power might create new problems for the federal government. He said that before the proposed section of the pending bill could be used, it would have to be clear "that a federally protected right has been or is about to be violated." He continued:

"It would be a mistake to assume that all demonstrations are protected because their aims are consistent with national policy and are supported by the vast majority of the American people — like peaceful protests against racial discrimination. Limitations may be constitutionally imposed upon the time of demonstrations, their duration, their place and the number of people. Not all demonstrations are protected by the First and Fourteenth amendments. Thus, no matter how bitterly they may be resented, not all offensive police conduct in connection with civil rights demonstrations would be within the reach of Title III."

The Attorney General spoke of the basic danger of relying on injunctions to control in advance the actions of local police. He said:

"One result might be that state and local authorities would abdicate their law enforcement responsibilities, thereby creating a vacuum in authority which could be filled only by federal force. This, in turn — if it is to be faced squarely — would require creation of a national police force. This is a step which is historically, and with good reason, abhorrent to our federal system. I am sure all members of the committee would be opposed to such a drastic development unless all means of dealing with the underlying injustices fail."

The subcommittee has also proposed the establishment of a fair employment practices commission and would give wide authority to such a body. But inasmuch as a measure of this kind would have to regulate the operations of labor unions, it is apparent that the administration sees trouble ahead. The Attorney General said:

"At the same time, I recognize that there are some experienced members of Congress who feel that the inclusion of this provision in the omnibus bill could make it more difficult to secure a rule from the rules committee and could even jeopardize ultimate passage of the omnibus bill."

Unquestionably Mr. Kennedy is aware that opposition to the bill has been mounting and that this might mean its defeat. As a practical step, therefore, he has been urging that the provisions which have raised most of the protest should be eliminated or modified. This is the customary tactic in Congress in trying to get legislation enacted on a compromise basis. But all the proponents of the legislation, particularly those who have been leading street demonstrations, may not understand the niceties of legislative procedure. That's what sets up a real dilemma for the administration.

TAX CUT — The administration's legislative timetable for final enactment of the tax-cut bill has been thrown badly awry. It now appears that the President won't have an opportunity to place his signature on the final form of the act until next spring.

President Kennedy doesn't like it one bit, but there's nothing he can do about it. Publicly, he has no choice but to put the best face possible on the situation.

It took all of Kennedy's persuasion to get Rep. Wilbur Mills, chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, to move the tax-cut bill onto the House floor. Only the combined forces of the administration and Mills' own high stature among his colleagues got the measure through. And one factor in this achievement was a semi-promise to Mills to get the measure through the Senate before the present session ended.

Mills had taken the position all along that he was unwilling to lead the House to passage of the bill under one set of economic circumstances if a delay in the Senate would have the bill taken up there at a much later time when conditions may have changed radically. Yet, only a matter of days after House action, a legislative leadership conference with the President disclosed that the Senate timetable most likely will not allow a final vote on the bill until next year.

Mills is extremely unhappy about the development and probably feels he has been done in by his own Democratic leadership in the House, as well as by the administration.

There is a publication for which you pay, but never see. It is called the Congressional Record. It has a solitary purpose: to record the daily activities of the United States Senate and the House of Representatives. It is long-winded, dull, and not always truthful. Members of Congress are permitted to edit the remarks they made before publication.

One of the worst features is a section called The Appendix. In this section, any M.C. can reprint anything which will make him or his congressional district look good. It goes on page after page and all at your expense.

Take a typical Congressional Record — October 2nd, 1963. It numbers 104 pages, somewhat lean compared to other days. Congress convenes at noon, and quits around 5 p. m. or shortly after. When the gentlemen and ladies get behind in their work — practically all the time — they may impose night sessions to consider a tax bill, civil rights, foreign aid, a budget for the republic.

On this day, the Senate opened by greeting Emperor Haile Selassie of Ethiopia. He is a wizened man who looks like a cheroot. The august Senate poured oral flowers all over him. The emperor studied the Senate, heavy-lidded and impassive, and the Senate and galleries (according to the Record) broke into applause and got to its feet.

When the Senate returned to business, it argued a point of order. After two pages of dialogue, Senator Russell complained: "I do not know just where I lost the floor." Senator Mansfield of Montana at last got the floor. He is the majority leader, so you read on, knowing that he is about to bring up a matter of urgency to the Republic.

He made a speech criticizinz Konrad Adenauer for criticizing the United States for thinking of selling wheat to the Russians. Then he read into the Record newspaper editorials endorsing the sale of wheat to the Soviet Union. Every two pages or so, Senator Everett Dirksen of Illinois gets to his feet to suggest the absence of a quorum.

A few bills were introduced. One to validate salary over-payments; another for the relief of someone named Remedios R. Yankton; a third relating to gasoline taxation of interstate buses. Senator Gore spoke awhile on taxation. Senator McNamara took a whack at water pollution. Fulbright discussed co-operation in space. Some Senators take time to refer to each other as "able and distinguished."

Senator Church talked about Washington vacationers who "lost their hearts" in the Sawtooth Mountains of Idaho. Senator Carlson wanted to cite an address made by John Macy of the Civil Service Commission. Senator Bayh reprinted an article by Congressman Denton on foreign aid.

Long of Missouri endorsed the nomination of W. True Davis Jr. as Ambassador to Switzerland. There were bills for the relief of many citizens, but none for the relief of the United States of America. A tribute to former Senator Theodore Green brought out the super-superlatives. This was followed by a discussion of the importance of fishing.

There was a roll-call vote, and 29 Senators were absent, including both from New York State. This is 29 percent absenteeism. Dirksen asked what kind of business the Democratic majority proposed to discuss. Senator Mansfield said the Senate would discuss an equal time measure, an amendment to the Social Security Act, and federal aid to highways. "There will be a speech or two and some further remarks," he said.

It went on and on. At the end, Senator Mansfield said: "I believe it is accurate to say that the Senate has had a very productive day today."

Across the Capitol rotunda, the House of Representatives discussed Soviet intentions to land on the moon. There was a roll call: 317 present, 113 absent — 26 percent absenteeism. Those present discussed the need of additional letterheads in their offices, additional air mail stamps, additional allowance for telephone and telegraph service, and other vital matters. Someone asked what business would come before the House for the rest of the week, and Congressman Albert said:... we will have no other legislative business this week."

The Record then published 34 pages of "Extension of Remarks" of congressmen. Here, under the unanimous consent rule, they publish speeches of businessmen; accolades from editorial writers; tributes to minority groups; the bible in school; wheat to Russia; a tribute to the Republic of Guinea; an editorial from the Pennsylvania Nurseryman; a plea for assistance from veterinaries; a poem in memorium to Pope John XXIII; an acception speech by the new president of the American Legion; Lief Erickson Day; an article by a waterfront investigator.

The Congressional Record—this one, at least — adds up to 149,760 words, very few of which have any bearing on the welfare of our country . .

Strange, Exotic Diseases From Other Lands

By Theodore R. Van Dellen

We have not written on dengue fever for a long time. The disease now is rare in this country, but recently four cases were reported from Michigan. All were members of a Jamaican family who were visiting friends in that state.

According to the morbidity and mortality weekly report put out by HEW, an epidemic of dengue fever was in progress in Jamaica when these people left their island. Over a four month period preceding August 3, 1963, 80 cases occurred. Our visitors had been exposed and one developed symptoms on the second day after arrival. The others became sick a week later. The airplane brings us all closer together and we can expect strange and exotic diseases from now on.

Dengue is best described as a super-influenza. The causative virus is transmitted to man via the Aedes Aegypti mosquito the same critter implicated in yellow fever. These insects prefer "summer like" temperatures such as occurs in the tropics. The victim's temperature rises; it may go as high as 105 F. There is a sense of chilliness but not a definite shaking chill. Fatigue and headache are marked, as in influenza.

But the excruciating pain in the back and various joints, bones, and muscles is one of the most disagreeable features of dengue. This has led to the various nicknames for the disease. The most descriptive is "break-bone fever." "Dandy fever" is another good one; because of stiffness of the joints, the sufferer walks with a mincing gait.

On the second or third day, a fleeting red rash appears that looks like a diffuse blush. A more definite eruption crops out a few days later; it lasts three of more days, and frequently itches as it fades.

The temperature subsides gradually but on the fourth or fifth day may shoot up again. This final bout of fever may cause more discomfort than anything else. There is no treatment for dengue except aspirin but virtually everyone recovers by the end of a week.

BLOOD IS THE SAME

Mrs. R. G. writes: Is there any difference in the blood of white and colored people?

REPLY

No. There is a hereditary type of anemia (sickle cell) that occurs only in the colored race but this has nothing to do with the basic ingredients in the blood. Send stamped, self-addressed envelope for our leaflet that gives some information on sickle cell anemia.

SWITCHING A SOUTHPAW

R. M. writes: If a lefthanded child is switched by his parents to the right hand, will this change cause insanity in later years?

REPLY

No insanity, but it may affect other faculties such as reading.

HOSPITAL STAPH

L. S. writes: Do staph infections occur in clean hospitals?

REPLY

Yes, because the hospital cannot keep out new patients or visitors who harbor staphylococcal organisms in the nose, throat, or elsewhere in the body.

RENAL STONES

M. H. writes: Is kidney stone in a 22-year-old man rare? My son developed one after being away at college 4 years.

REPLY

Not rare but it does occur—even in children and newborns.

SPECIALTIES

K. C. writes: How many types of medical specialties are there?

REPLY

The Directory of Medical Specialists lists 19. But there are many subspecialties—diseases of the heart, lung, gastrointestinal tract, liver, back, and the left ear lobe.

TOMORROW — Pica (perverted appetite)

To the limit of space questions pertaining to the prevention of diseases will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Obviously, states P. G. Wodehouse, the Soviet's top comic is Khrushchev, and if you don't believe it, you have only to watch him on TV. His material usually consists of some obscure Russian proverbs — and how he delivers his punch lines! Wodehouse says, "Mr. K. glares at the Presidium and says, 'In Russia, we have a proverb. A chicken that crosses the road does so to get to the other side, but wise men dread a bandit.' Then his face sort of spilts in the middle and his eyes disappear into his cheeks like oysters going down for the third time in an oyster stew, and if the comrades are a second late with the big belly laugh, their next job is likely to be running a filling station out Siberia way."

Walter Wanger tells about a doctor who was awakened at 3 a.m. by his wife, who reported that the bathroom was flooded. He promptly phoned his plumber. "This is a heck of an hour to wake me," protested the plumber. "Do you realize it's three in the morning?" "I certainly do," asserted the doctor, "but you never hesitate to call me at that hour when you've been drinking too much and your head hurts. Now what am I going to do about that overflowing bathtub?" "Tell you what you do, Doctor," proposed the plumber after a moment's pause. "Take two aspirins and drop them in that tub. If it isn't better in the morning — call me again."

Security And Access To Secrets

So secret is the National Security Agency that all it discloses about its activities in the U.S. Government Manual is that it "performs highly specialized technical and coordinating functions relating to the national security."

But it is known to operate, in a $35 million building at Fort George G. Meade, elaborate equipment for monitoring communications and breaking foreign codes, and it is also said to develop codes for the United States. These functions alone make it a prime target for espionage.

The agency has had a number of embarrassments over the years, however. One was the defection of two of its mathematicians to the Soviet Union three years ago. This brought a Congressional investigation and steps to tighten internal security. But now it develops that Army Sgt. Jack E. Dunlap, who served the NSA as a driver and clerk-messenger, passed data to Soviet agents for two years.

Sergeant Dunlap committed suicide last July, but the Pentagon, which supervises the NSA, says he had only limited access to confidential data. But the Russians reportedly felt what he produced was worth $30,000 to $40,000 in one year alone.

It is, of course, difficult to assume the individual reliability of thousands of employes, but an agency as supersensitive as NSA is expected to be a model of caution. The Dunlap case should bring another, and thorough, search for a more nearly foolproof system of personnel selection and supervision.

These Days

By John Chamberlain

Fussin' And Feudin'

Politics, under the surface, can be a pretty lethal business. And the wolves are ravening just now to make use of the so-called "Bobby Baker affair" in ways that could satisfy a number of lethal political appetites.

To understand the snapping and snarling that is going on under cover, one must know something of the background of the Baker case. Robert G. Baker was, until his recent resignation, the Secretary to the Democratic Senate Majority, a post that carried with it a $20,000 annual salary. Bobby owed his job to Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson, who had originally supported him for the position in the days when an "LBJ" tag carried instantaneous approval with a majority of Senators.

When Johnson quit his post in 1961 as Democratic leader of the Senate to become Vice President, he passed Bobby Baker on to the new Majority Leader, Mike Mansfield. Baker was just as popular—and as useful—as ever in running errands for his senatorial bosses. But the sleuthing of Senator John J. Williams, the Delaware Republican, put Baker on the spot when it was revealed that "Lyndon's boy" had outside business interests and had, indeed, made money from contracts that had placed vending equipment in defense industry plants.

Baker chose to resign rather than to fight — a decision which caused anguish among a number of senators, who saw nothing legally or even ethically wrong with anything that Baker had done. The "conflict of interests" laws which cover employees of the executive branch of government do not apply to senatorial employees any more than they do to the senators themselves. Certainly most members of the Senate have outside interests: they maintain law offices, they accept big lecture fees, they do not necessarily resign their business connections when they go to Washington. For example, the late Senator Kerr of Oklahoma, a big oil man, had an industrial empire that makes anything owned by Bobby Baker look like a child's toy, and he never apologized for protesting it. As Senator Dirksen, a Republican who nonetheless disapproved of investigating Bobby Baker, said to Majority Leader Mike Mansfield, no senator would be immune if there were to be a committee investigation of "outside interests."

This being the tag end of 1963, however, there are Republicans who want to get Democrats for campaign reasons, and there are Democrats who want to get each other. The "dump Lyndon Johnson" faction of the Democratic Party has naturally seized upon the Bobby Baker incident to push their campaign to substitute North Carolina's Governor Terry Sanford for the Vice Presidential nomination slot in 1964.

Here the play leads to anyone who can hope to draw Attorney General Kennedy into the act. Bobby Kennedy has never learned to love Lyndon Johnson. Early in September the Hearst White House correspondent, Marianne Means, filed a story from Washington about "a top echelon feud smouldering in the capital." She remarked that "so far Vice President Johnson and Attorney General Kennedy have not drawn on each other in public, but behind the scenes close acquaintances of both are concerned about their hardly contained distaste for each other." The feud, according to Miss Means dates back to the 1960 pre-convention campaign, when Johnson was busy calling attention to Papa Joseph Kennedy's 1940 opposition to U. S. entry into the European War.

Nobody in any responsible position has accused Bobby Kennedy of prodding the FBI to exert energies beyond the call of duty in investigating the affairs of Bobby Baker. Nobody has accused him of trying to overrule his brother on 1964 policies. But the point is that people who want to "get" Lyndon Johnson by agitating the Baker issue have been reporting conversations with FBI men who have supposedly been predicting that the investigations of Baker will have "wide political ramifications." The FBI naturally denies that any FBI man has said anything to anyone. But rumor, in a pre-election year, often does duty for reality—and if enough animosity can be stirred up against the renomination of Lyndon Johnson for Vice President by spreading rumor, the rumor will be spread.

From the Democratic point of view, the danger in the "get Johnson" maneuvers is that it makes for feuds that could disrupt the 1964 campaign. Bobby Baker and Lyndon Johnson have many Congressional friends who will be running in 1964—and if Lyndon is not on the ticket it could be depressing to Democratic energies. On the other hand, it could be even more depressing if Lyndon can't show that he has what it takes to carry Texas.

Communist World Leaders Keeping Watch On Tito's Reception In U.S.

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — The most controversial Communist in Europe, Josip Broz Tito, is now the guest of the United States. On the manner in which he is received, whether he is picketed, and whether Senators Proxmire, D-Wis. and Lausche, D-Ohio, let out their usual hate diatribes will depend to some extent the course of Communism in Europe. For Tito has great influence in the satellite world.

Queen Frederika of Greece, describing her husband's state visit to Yugoslavia, once told me: "When Tito took off his clothes to go swimming, his body was a mass of scars — wounds from war and the torture chamber."

In 1915 when Tito was a young non-com in the Austrian army, two Russian cossacks came up from the rear of the Austrian trench and ran their lances through his body. He was taken prisoner by the Russians, shipped back to Moscow thence to Siberia and spent five years there, most of the time as a prisoner.

At the close of that war, while Tito was still in Russia, I went to his country. I know it well. Yugoslavia, then hastily thrown together by Woodrow Wilson and only a few months old, was struggling to pull itself out of the most ruthless occupation of World War I.

Its livestock was non-existent, its people starving, its houses in shambles, its railroads rusty ribbons with wheezing locomotives that could hardly make the grade.

Led Ragged Army

While I was still in Yugoslavia, helping to rebuild its villages and replow its fields, Tito came back this time to oppose the monarchy and, twenty years later, to put up the most amazing and resourceful resistance against Hitler of any allied leader.

For three years he maneuvered a ragged army of partisans through the forest and mountains of Montenegro, Bosnia and Hercegovina. How he did it is one of the miracles of World War II. I have ridden horseback through those mountains, in the snow and in the scorching summers. I know how wild and forsaken they are. I know how difficult it is to get grass for your horse, let alone bread for the belly.

Yet while mighty France surrendered to Hitler within hours, and while Belgium, Holland and Scandinavia lay prostrate under the Nazis, Tito kept up his resistance. At no time did the Nazi armies ever control all of Yugoslavia.

"I must say that this old Communist, Herr Josip Broz, has really earned his title of marshal," lectured Heinrich Himmler to a group of senior German officers on Sept. 22, 1944. "When we catch him, we shall kill him at once. You can be sure of that. But I wish we had a dozen Titos in Germany, men who were leaders and had such resolution and good nerves that even though they were forever encircled, they would never give in. The man had nothing, nothing at all. He was always encircled, and he always found a way out."

What the pickets who protest against Tito's visit to the United States and the Senators who rail against him don't know is that he performed this military miracle with absolutely no help from Stalin. In radio after radio, Tito appealed to Moscow for help. He got back messages signed "Grandpa," the code name for Stalin, telling him to fight on, but he got no help.

Russians No Jumpers

Finally, in the winter of 1944, Stalin sent a military mission to aid Tito. But they refused to jump in by parachute, as the British and Americans had done, required the partisans to clear the snow off an air strip, and when they arrived wearing shiny boots and prim tunics, the first thing they asked for was the lavatory.

There was no lavatory. The partisans traveled too fast to dig them. The Russians, however, promptly required that one be prepared.

The Russians brought no arms, no food, nothing but official-looking brief cases and some gratuitous advice about military tactics and the demand that the partisans reorganize on the model of the Red Army. They also wanted Yugoslavia soldiers to shine shoes and perform menial tasks for Russian officers.

This led to such friction that Tito used to wise-crack about the way his dog "Tiger" growled distrustfully at General Korneyev, head of the Russian mission.

Finally, as the Nazis retreated and the Red Army entered Yugoslavia, there were 1,219 rapes, 329 attempted rapes, 111 rapes with murder, 248 rapes with attempted murder and 1,205 robberies with violence — all committed by Russian soldiers.

These were some of the incidents which paved the way for the bitter break between Tito and Stalin, when in 1948 Stalin stormed at Khrushchev, "I shall shake my little finger at Tito and there will be no more Tito."

A lot has happened since then. Stalin's body has been removed from its place of honor in the Kremlin. Khrushchev has made two trips to Belgrade to woo Tito back, not too successfully. And today Tito has fulfilled his long-cherished dream of visiting the President of the United States in the White House. Much more significant, however, is the fact that independent Communists like Gomulka of Poland, who disappeared from power when Stalin started venting his wrath against Tito, have now come back to power.

So the welcome which Tito gets in the United States will be watched by every leader of the Communist world for a clue for U. S. relations in the future.

RFK Finds Civil Rights Bill Goes Too Far

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — Attorney General Kennedy has just made a remarkable statement to the House Judiciary Committee on the whole subject of "civil rights" legislation. In a nutshell, he recognizes that the measure reported out by the subcommittee, while desirable in its objectives, goes too far and might even imperil the ultimate enactment of the entire program.

In the course of his testimony, the Attorney General suggested some ways to diminish opposition to the bill. He said, for instance, that it would be unwise for the federal government to interfere in state, county and city elections and that it should confine itself to federal elections. But Mr. Kennedy's main objection was to the wide sweep of authority which the pending bill would give to the federal government to regulate customer relations in "public accommodations." He said that the principle behind the bill — namely, that all forms of racial discrimination are equally objectionable — is a moral one, but that he believes the original anti-discrimination proposal, which did not attempt to extend federal law to cover every form of "public accommodations," was a much better approach. Mr. Kennedy feels that many of the problems can be solved by voluntary means. He declared:

"We were reluctant to extend federal power beyond those areas where it was clearly needed to meet existing problems. The subcommittee has added to this coverage a catchall which prohibits discrimination in any business operating under state or local 'authorization, permission, or license.' This addition meets none of the criteria we thought important . . .

"What businesses are covered by this provision are unclear. It would seem to extend federal regulation to law firms, medical partnerships and clinics, private schools, apartment houses, insurance companies, banks, and, potentially, to all businesses which a state does not affirmatively ban. And its application, if a narrower interpretation is proper, is in any event uneven to the extent that it depends upon widely divergent state licensing practices to determine its coverage."

Mr. Kennedy pointed out that, while excesses by the police have occurred, the proposed use of broad injunctive power might create new problems for the federal government. He said that before the proposed section of the pending bill could be used, it would have to be clear "that a federally protected right has been or is about to be violated." He continued:

"It would be a mistake to assume that all demonstrations are protected because their aims are consistent with national policy and are supported by the vast majority of the American people — like peaceful protests against racial discrimination. Limitations may be constitutionally imposed upon the time of demonstrations, their duration, their place and the number of people. Not all demonstrations are protected by the First and Fourteenth amendments. Thus, no matter how bitterly they may be resented, not all offensive police conduct in connection with civil rights demonstrations would be within the reach of Title III."

The Attorney General spoke of the basic danger of relying on injunctions to control in advance the actions of local police. He said:

"One result might be that state and local authorities would abdicate their law enforcement responsibilities, thereby creating a vacuum in authority which could be filled only by federal force. This, in turn — if it is to be faced squarely — would require creation of a national police force. This is a step which is historically, and with good reason, abhorrent to our federal system. I am sure all members of the committee would be opposed to such a drastic development unless all means of dealing with the underlying injustices fail."

The subcommittee has also proposed the establishment of a fair employment practices commission and would give wide authority to such a body. But inasmuch as a measure of this kind would have to regulate the operations of labor unions, it is apparent that the administration sees trouble ahead. The Attorney General said:

"At the same time, I recognize that there are some experienced members of Congress who feel that the inclusion of this provision in the omnibus bill could make it more difficult to secure a rule from the rules committee and could even jeopardize ultimate passage of the omnibus bill."

Unquestionably Mr. Kennedy is aware that opposition to the bill has been mounting and that this might mean its defeat. As a practical step, therefore, he has been urging that the provisions which have raised most of the protest should be eliminated or modified. This is the customary tactic in Congress in trying to get legislation enacted on a compromise basis. But all the proponents of the legislation, particularly those who have been leading street demonstrations, may not understand the niceties of legislative procedure. That's what sets up a real dilemma for the administration.

A tribute to former Senator Theodore Green brought out the super-superlatives. This was followed by a discussion of the importance of fishing.

There was a roll-call vote, and 29 Senators were absent, including both from New York State. This is 29 percent absenteeism, Dirksen asked what kind of business the Democratic majority proposed to discuss. Senator Mansfield said the Senate would discuss an equal time measure, an amendment to the Social Security Act, and federal aid to highways. "There will be a speech or two and some further remarks," he said.

It went on and on. At the end, Senator Mansfield said: "I believe it is accurate to say that the Senate has had a very productive day today."

Across the Capitol rotunda, the House of Representatives discussed Soviet intentions to land on the moon. There was a roll call: 317 present, 113 absent — 26 percent absenteeism. Those present discussed the need of additional letterheads in their offices, additional air mail stamps, additional allowance for telephone and telegraph service, and other vital matters. Someone asked what business would come before the House for the rest of the week, and Congressman Albert said:... we will have no other legislative business this week."

The Record then published 34 pages of "Extension of Remarks" of congressmen. Here, under the unanimous consent rule, they publish speeches of businessmen; accolades from editorial writers; tributes to minority groups; the bible in school; wheat to Russia; a tribute to the Republic of Guinea; an editorial from the Pennsylvania Nurseryman; a plea for assistance from veterinaries; a poem in memorium to Pope John XXIII; an acception speech by the new president of the American Legion: Lief Erickson Day; an article by a waterfront investigator.

The Congressional Record—this one, at least — adds up to 149,760 words, very few of which have any bearing on the welfare of our country . .

Strange, Exotic Diseases From Other Lands

By Theodore R. Van Dellen

We have not written on dengue fever for a long time. The disease now is rare in this country, but recently four cases were reported from Michigan. All were members of a Jamaican family who were visiting friends in that state.

According to the morbidity and mortality weekly report put out by HEW, an epidemic of dengue fever was in progress in Jamaica when these people left their island. Over a four month period preceding August 3, 1963, 80 cases occurred. Our visitors had been exposed and one developed symptoms on the second day after arrival. The others became sick a week later. The airplane brings us all closer together and we can expect strange and exotic diseases from now on.

Dengue is best described as a super-influenza. The causative virus is transmitted to man via the Aedes Aegypti mosquito the same critter implicated in yellow fever. These insects prefer "summer like" temperatures such as occurs in the tropics. The victim's temperature rises; it may go as high as 105 F. There is a sense of chilliness but not a definite shaking chill. Fatigue and headache are marked, as in influenza.

But the excruciating pain in the back and various joints, bones, and muscles is one of the most disagreeable features of dengue. This has led to the various nicknames for the disease. The most descriptive is "break-bone fever." "Dandy fever" is another good one; because of stiffness of the joints, the sufferer walks with a mincing gait.

On the second or third day, a fleeting red rash appears that looks like a diffuse blush. A more definite eruption crops out a few days later; it lasts three of more days, and frequently itches as it fades.

The temperature subsides gradually but on the fourth or fifth day may shoot up again. This final bout of fever may cause more discomfort than anything else. There is no treatment for dengue except aspirin but virtually everyone recovers by the end of a week.

BLOOD IS THE SAME

Mrs. R. G. writes: Is there any difference in the blood of white and colored people?

REPLY

No. There is a hereditary type of anemia (sickle cell) that occurs only in the colored race but this has nothing to do with the basic ingredients in the blood. Send stamped, self-addressed envelope for our leaflet that gives some information on sickle cell anemia.

SWITCHING A SOUTHPAW

R. M. writes: If a lefthanded child is switched by his parents to the right hand, will this change cause insanity in later years?

REPLY

No insanity, but it may affect other faculties such as reading.

HOSPITAL STAPH

L. S. writes: Do staph infections occur in clean hospitals?

REPLY

Yes, because the hospital cannot keep out new patients or visitors who harbor staphylococcal organisms in the nose, throat, or elsewhere in the body.

RENAL STONES

M. H. writes: Is kidney stone in a 22-year-old man rare? My son developed one after being away at college 4 years.

REPLY

Not rare but it does occur—even in children and newborns.

SPECIALTIES

K. C. writes: How many types of medical specialties are there?

REPLY

The Directory of Medical Specialists lists 19. But there are many subspecialties—diseases of the heart, lung, gastrointestinal tract, liver, back, and the left ear lobe.

TOMORROW — Pica (perverted appetite)

To the limit of space questions pertaining to the prevention of diseases will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

Obviously, states P. G. Wodehouse, the Soviet's top comic is Khrushchev, and if you don't believe it, you have only to watch him on TV. His material usually consists of some obscure Russian proverbs — and how he delivers his punch lines! Wodehouse says, "Mr. K. glares at the Presidium and says, 'In Russia, we have a proverb. A chicken that crosses the road does so to get to the other side, but wise men dread a bandit.' Then his face sort of spits in the middle and his eyes disappear into his cheeks like oysters going down for the third time in an oyster stew, and if the comrades are a second late with the big belly laugh, their next job is likely to be running a filling station out Siberia way."

Walter Wanger tells about a doctor who was awakened at 3 a.m. by his wife, who reported that the bathroom was flooded. He promptly phoned his plumber. "This is a heck of an hour to wake me," protested the plumber "Do you realize it's three in the morning?" "I certainly do," asserted the doctor, "but you never hesitate to call me at that hour when you've been drinking too much and your head hurts. Now what am I going to do about that overflowing bathtub?" "Tell you what you do, Doctor," proposed the plumber after a moment's pause. "Take two aspirins and drop them in that tub. If it isn't better in the morning — call me again."

Meeting Held On Decorations

The Christmas decoration and program committee for the City of Cumberland had its first planning meeting yesterday.

Street Commissioner Lucile Roeder said Mrs. Marguerite Findlay, advisor, Mrs. Eva M. Hogan, assistant recreation director, and Ray Valentine, street superintendent, attended.

As usual, Mrs. Roeder said Emmanuel Episcopal Church has given the city permission to use its property at Baltimore and Greene Streets as one focal point of the local observance. Plans were also discussed for city-owned properties.

Monday Deadline For Tax Discount

Business continued brisk yesterday at the city's tax office and Finance Commissioner Frederick J. Hill urged residents to pay taxes before next Monday's deadline.

After next Monday, interest at the rate of one half per cent a month is charged.

Wednesday, which Hill termed as the "biggest day," more than $70,000 was collected to bring total receipts near the $800,000 mark. This is slightly more than 65 per cent of the $1,226,913 in taxes billed to date.

Third Order To Meet Sunday

Rev. Angelus Shaughnessy, O. F.M., Cap., of St. Augustine's Monastery, will be the speaker at services for the Third Order of St. Francis in SS. Peter and Paul Catholic Church Sunday at 3:30 p.m.

Father Angelus is commissary provincial of the Third Order. During the 3:30 p.m. services, a class of 25 candidates will be invested into the order.

At 3 p.m. in SS. Peter and Paul School, instructions for novices and candidates will be held.

Game Commission To Hold Meeting

The Maryland Game and Inland Fish Commission will conduct a hearing Saturday at 10 a. m. in the State Office Building, Annapolis, to discuss fishing regulations for next year.

Also on the agenda is a review of crop damage by deer in Allegany and Garrett county orchards.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Shoe Troubles

The smart gal, who has her feet on the ground, uses extreme shoe styles for a special treat as she does dessert in her diet.

The very pointed toe and stiletto heeled shoes need to be taken in moderation, say all the foot specialists. Teen-agers, particularly, should take them in small doses. Young feet are not yet set in their shape. They are still growing.

Toes are designed to grip the ground. Heels provide the greatest support for the body. When toes are squeezed in the tapered toe shoes, they lose their gripping action.

It's difficult for young girls to walk on the tapered toe, high thin heel shoes without wobbling. Some walk as if their feet hurt; they probably do. If these girls would walk toward their reflection in a mirror they'd see the pained expression there—the best thing for starting wrinkles on their way.

Too many young feet are developing ingrown toenails, bunions and foot infections, the experts tell us. Also, not only do the young girls have foot trouble, but they throw their posture out of line when they teeter along on these shoes.

One severe critic reports that because of this wobbling gait, a girl puts more strain on hips, thighs and ankles. This tends to over-develop these areas. He expresses the rear view of a teen-ager in high heels as a "rumble seat" effect.

The secret is to buy the pointed-toe shoes a half-size larger than the regular shoe size. Also, to discard them when outgrown. Always remember that sizes aren't identical in all lasts, so the size you wear may vary according to the last you select. So it is false pride to insist on taking the same size in every shoe.

Be sure there is plenty of "wiggle room" for the toes. And select them only in supple leathers.

Wear these extreme shoes only for very special occasions. Low or medium heels are much more advisable for all day wear.

Zimmer To Talk To Church Group

Dr. Robert S. Zimmer, president of Allegany Community College, will speak at the annual Layman's Day program of McKendree Methodist Church.

Rev. Frank L. Horton, pastor, said the service will be held Sunday, at 11 a. m.

Dr. Zimmer will speak on "The Dignity of Man."

Rev. Mr. Horton said the entire service will be conducted by laymen of the parish.

Those scheduled to participate include Earle L. Bracey, George Ashby, Henry Davis, John Bates, Raymond Bartlett, Robert Holmes and John Trimble.

Public Meeting Set On Sewer Project

A public hearing will be held Monday, November 4 at 10 a. m. before the Mayor and Council on a plan to sewer and otherwise improve Golden Lane from Willowbrook Road north for a distance of 1,050 feet.

All persons affected will be given an opportunity to be heard.

Frostburg KC Awards Event Slated Tonight

FROSTBURG — James Quinn, grand knight, Frostburg Council 1442, Knights of Columbus, will serve as master of ceremonies at the awards celebration to be held today at 6:30 p. m. in the council home, East Main Street.

Dr. Robert McCoy, Keyser, will be the speaker. Twenty-five-year membership pins will be awarded. A dance will follow.

Dr. McCoy was graduated from Jefferson Medical College in 1948 and has had five years' surgical training in Cleveland Clinic and as medical officer in the Navy.

He is a member of American College of Surgeons, South Eastern Surgical Congress, West Virginia State Medical and American Medical Association, Board of directors of F. & M. Bank, Health Research Foundation, Advisory Council of Rehabilitation, president of the Staff of Potomac Valley Hospital and a fourth degree K. of C.

Dr. McCoy is married and has six children.

Former Resident Chosen Finalist

FROSTBURG — Mrs. Walter Eichhorn, McCulloh Street, received word that her nephew, son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Bell, former residents here, has been chosen as one of the finalists in the National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test taken in his school in Lorain, Ohio.

Dale Bell, 17, plans to major in German in college. His mother was the former Miss Mildred Fike, Avilton.

Frostburg College Group Attends State Meeting

FROSTBURG—Today Dr. Harold Cordts will accompany two members of the health and physical education department of Frostburg State College to Baltimore to participate in the fall meeting of the Maryland Association for Health, Physical Education and Recreation.

The students, majors in the department, are Dennis Baker, president of the sophomore class, who will be installed as chairman, and Mary Vann, who will be installed as secretary of the student section of MAHPER.

Seventy-seven majors in health and physical education at FSC are members of the MAHPER and 33 have enrolled in the national organization, the AAHPER.

Local members are making plans to attend the national convention in Washington May 8-12, 1964.

Special Train Visits Valley

MOOREFIELD, W. Va. — The members of the Washington Chapter of the National Railway Historical Society will pause in Moorefield at one o'clock Sunday en route to Petersburg. William D. Gray, president of the Washington chapter, reported the six car Centennial Special will leave Washington at 8 a. m. and return at 9:15 p. m.

The members of the Society visited Moorefield last in May of 1954. At that time they were met by the Moorefield High School band and Mayor W. D. Grafton has requested the band to be on hand to greet the visitors Sunday. The last group of visitors were most impressed with the spectacular ride through the Trough.

The Society, composed of train buffs throughout the country, sponsors one day trips to points seldom used for passenger travel in the past quarter of a century. The only other passenger train to Moorefield since the visit nine years ago was the Centennial Exhibit train here last May.

Visitors from the area are invited to greet the visiting train.

Pancake Baking Contest Will Be Staged Today

FROSTBURG—A pancake baking contest will be staged today from 7 to 9 p. m. in the windows of the G. C. Murphy Co., as a prelude to the annual Pancake Day, to be sponsored by the Frostburg Rotary Club Saturday.

All women are welcome to participate in the contest. The winner will be presented $25 in cash.

Proceeds from "Pancake Day" which will be held from 8 a. m. to 7 p. m. in St. Michael's Hall, will be divided between the Frostburg Public Library and Miners Hospital.

Lowell Sowers is general chairman for the club project. Rotarians will be on duty all day baking the pancakes.

Young John Fox Wins Bishop Award

KEYSER — John Fox, member of the Freshman Class at Keyser High School and of the Jaycees' Little League team, was named winner of the annual Russell (Bull) Bishop memorial award last night during a meeting of the Kiwanis Club of Keyser.

Fox, who excelled in athletics during his first eight years of school at St. Frances here, is the son of Coach John Fox of the Potomac State College faculty and Mrs. Fox.

A trophy was presented by Coach Fred (Tack) Clark of Keyser High School who is also director of the summer recreation program for the city. He spoke briefly on the importance of Little League teams, sportsmanship and physical fitness, and also paid special tribute to Bishop, a former Kiwanian and organizer of Little League in Keyser, for whom the award is given each year as a memorial.

Announce Birth

FROSTBURG — Mr. and Mrs. James Booth, RD 1, Frostburg, announce the birth of a son Wednesday at their home.

Yule Concert Rehearsals Open In Keyser

KEYSER—Leonard G. Withers, who will direct the annual Community Christmas Concert under auspices of the Kiwanis Club, has called the first rehearsals for next week on Tuesday or Wednesday.

At a meeting of the director and Kiwanis committee on Wednesday night the tentative date of Sunday, December 15, was selected and plans are to have the program begin at 4 p. m. Participating with the community singers, as in the past year, will be the Potomac State College Singers and the choir from Trinity Evangelical Lutheran Church. Accompanists will be Richard Davis, of the college music department, and Mrs. Mary Evelyn Coffman, organist at the Lutheran Church.

Mr. Withers, who also directs the College Singers, said that his group wants to invite all of those persons in the tri-state area who are interested in singing to join them for this program. The cantata to be offered this year is entitled "The Story of Christmas" by Matthews.

Rehearsals will be held with the Singers at the PSC Auditorium on Tuesday evenings at 7 o'clock and at the Lutheran Church on Davis Street on Wednesday evenings at 8 o'clock. All taking part in the cantata will be expected to be present at one of these two rehearsals each week. The same materials will be covered at both rehearsals so that a person has a choice of evenings. Copies of the cantata will be available to everyone at no cost.

Pythian Grand Chief To Visit Temple

FROSTBURG — Mrs. Marjorie Barton, Laurel, grand chief of Maryland Pythian Sisters, will make her official visit to Calanthe Temple 3, Pythian Sisters, today at 7:30 p.m. in the Junior Hall, Broadway.

Mrs. Mary Tucker, Laurel, district deputy grand chief, will accompany her here.

Mrs. Mary Ziegler will serve as most excellent grand chief for the visitation.

Guests will be in attendance from other temples in Western Maryland.

Grand Jury Returns Five Indictments

MOOREFIELD, W. Va. — A Hardy County grand jury returned five indictments Tuesday at the regular term. Indicted for a felony were Curtis Morres and Wilmer Whetzel. Indicted for misdemeanors were Charles Combs, James E. Vetter and Charles C. Snyder.

Jurors drawn for the October term were Lena Heishman, C. J. Cunningham, Lawson Mathias, Carlton Cullers, L. B. Bayse, Jr., Delmar Cain, Mary D. Mathias, Mamie Burch, Vance Barr, Orrie Shobe Fisher, Paul J. Harper, Homer Woerner, Lee Arnold, Ed Baker and Virginia Hitt.

Pasture Problem In W.Va. Bad

By ROBERT M. GORNALL
United Press International

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI) —State Agriculture Commissioner John T. Johnson Thursday urged West Virginians to save state forests and fields from fire since the drought has made farmers' pastures "beyond help."

Johnson expressed deep concern over the drought. He said it was a "serious problem" and the "worst in 32 years."

The most severe aspect of the drought from the farmers' standpoint, Johnson continued, is that an early frost killed pastures in most sections of the state.

"Farmers always rely on the month of October to fatten up their cattle for market," Johnson said, adding that there probably isn't a "lush pasture in the state at this time."

Things were not so bad about Oct. 1, but the frost and warm windy weather has killed everything," he said.

Farmers in the northern sections of the state have already resorted to feeding hay to their cattle and Johnson said many will not have enough ruffage to see them through the winter period.

"For that reason, cattle auctions throughout the state are flooded," Johnson said. He noted farmers could not wait for improved market prices and are selling while their cattle is still at top weight.

Crab Feast Set

PIEDMONT — Tri-Towns Fire Company 1 will hold its first annual public crab feast on the second floor at the home of Kelly-Mansfield Post 52, American Legion, Sunday from 1 to 6 p. m. for the benefit of the fire hall building fund.

Birth Announced

WESTERNPORT — Mr. and Mrs. Robert Trenum, RD 1, Westernport, announce the birth of a son Wednesday in Miners Hospital.

Farmers Must Make Reports

OAKLAND—Prompt completion of the 1963 Farming For Better Living reports by each of the families enrolled is urged by Chairman Thomas Thayer of the Garrett County Farming For Better Living Council.

Each family has been asked to deliver its completed report to County Agent James A. McHenry's office by Monday, in a letter from L. Bush Swisher, Farming For Better Living program director. FFBL families have had 100 per cent completion for the past 10 years, Mr. Thayer stated.

The annual Garrett County FFBL awards dinner will be held at Garrett County's Southern High School cafeteria on Thursday evening, November 7, Mr. Swisher said.

Featured on this year's dinner program will be an illustrated talk on "Agriculture Down Under" given by Dr. Gerald G. Anderson, professor of animal nutrition, West Virginia University. He recently spent a year on sabbatical leave studying in Australia and New Zealand. He was especially interested in the grassland farming countries.

Eagles Auxiliary To Meet Monday

FROSTBURG — Mrs. Nell Kennedy, president, will preside at the meeting of the Auxiliary of Frostburg Order of Eagles, Aerie 1273, Monday at 7:30 p.m. in the auxiliary lodge rooms of the Eagle building.

Members will have their final opportunity to make reservations for the "Early Christmas Dinner" to be held October 28 in the V.F.W. Home, Lonaconing.

Bloodmobile Will Visit Grantsville

GRANTSVILLE—Martha Sebold announced at a meeting of the Ladies Auxiliary of Grantsville Volunteer Fire Department that the Red Cross bloodmobile unit from Johnstown will be at the fire hall today 12:30 to 6 p. m. (EST).

Oma Beachy reported on the Southern States Cooperative supper. Grace Warnick and Mabel Bender were hostesses, and Jonas McKenzie spoke.

Named to serve on the nominating committee were Mabel Bender, Grace Warnick, Lucille Yommer, Irma Miller and Edna Miller.

Nancy Hanks Post Arranges Rally

KEYSER — James R. Fawcett, Grafton, past department commander of the West Virginia Veterans of Foreign Wars, will be guest speaker at a membership rally of Nancy Hanks Post 3518 to be held on Sunday at 1 p.m. at the Post Home.

Post Commander LeeRoy Litten said this is the annual rally to inaugurate the new membership year and to begin the annual membership drive. A shrimp feed will be served with refreshments.

Any veteran interested in becoming affiliated with the Post is invited to be present.

Umstead Heads Hardy Co. CD

MOOREFIELD, W. Va. —David Umstead was appointed the new Civil Defense Director for Hardy County by the county court after the resignation of James E. Ansel.

At the October meeting of the County Court, Harold F. Dealaw-der was appointed deputy sheriff to fill the unexpired term of the late G. S. Mathias. J. Holmes Spence applied for a commission as notary public and the application was accepted on evidence that Spence was a resident, competent to perform the duties of the office and was of good moral character.

The request of Robert A. Pack, county sanitarian, for a rental allowance of $100 monthly for quarters for the Hardy County Health Department was denied because the amount was not included in the budget for the county as required by law.

Members will have their final opportunity to make reservations for the "Early Christmas Dinner" to be held October 28 in the V.F.W. Home, Lonaconing.

Bloodmobile Will Visit Grantsville

GRANTSVILLE—Martha Sebold announced at a meeting of the Ladies Auxiliary of Grantsville Volunteer Fire Department that the Red Cross bloodmobile unit from Johnstown will be at the fire hall today 12:30 to 6 p. m. (EST).

Oma Beachy reported on the Southern States Cooperative supper. Grace Warnick and Mabel Bender were hostesses, and Jonas McKenzie spoke.

Named to serve on the nominating committee were Mabel Bender, Grace Warnick, Lucille Yommer, Irma Miller and Edna Miller.

Nancy Hanks Post Arranges Rally

KEYSER — James R. Fawcett, Grafton, past department commander of the West Virginia Veterans of Foreign Wars, will be guest speaker at a membership rally of Nancy Hanks Post 3518 to be held on Sunday at 1 p.m. at the Post Home.

Post Commander LeeRoy Litten said this is the annual rally to inaugurate the new membership year and to begin the annual membership drive. A shrimp feed will be served with refreshments.

Any veteran interested in becoming affiliated with the Post is invited to be present.

Umstead Heads Hardy Co. CD

MOOREFIELD, W. Va. —David Umstead was appointed the new Civil Defense Director for Hardy County by the county court after the resignation of James E. Ansel.

At the October meeting of the County Court, Harold F. Dealawder was appointed deputy sheriff to fill the unexpired term of the late G. S. Mathias. J. Holmes Spence applied for a commission as notary public and the application was accepted on evidence that Spence was a resident, competent to perform the duties of the office and was of good moral character.

The request of Robert A. Pack, county sanitarian, for a rental allowance of $100 monthly for quarters for the Hardy County Health Department was denied because the amount was not included in the budget for the county as required by law.

LaSalle And Allegany Clash In 35th Grid Contest Tonight

Petersburg, Romney In Top PVC Battle; Southern At Keyser

The second game of the intra-city series bringing together Allegany and LaSalle and a pair of battles between four of the top teams in the Potomac Valley Conference heads the gridiron menu in the tri-state area today.

Allegany and LaSalle will tangle in the 35th game of their series at the local stadium tonight at 8 o'clock. LaSalle was trounced by Fort Hill in the first intra-city tilt, 47-0, and will be the underdog in its game with Allegany which has knocked off North Hagerstown, Keyser and South Hagerstown in its last three outings, is 4-1 for the campaign and will be gunning for its sixth straight win over the Explorers whose last victory over the Campobello team was in 1957.

LaSalle's only victory came at the expense of Keyser, 18-6, a team which the Campers also whipped by the score of 25-6. The Explorers are 1-4 to date and the last time out they took a 45-0 walloping at Somerset.

Coach Ed Schwarz of the Campers, who were idle last week, reported yesterday that Richard Paulman will start at left halfback in tonight's game, replacing Barry Bruce, who suffered a broken hand in the South Hagerstown contest here October 5.

Top PVC Teams Tangle

Eyes of Potomac Valley Conference fans will be focused on the battle at Romney where Roger Parker's undefeated Pioneers host Wayne Barr's Petersburg Vikings. This is a battle between the No. 1 and 2 teams in the circuit. Romney is 5-0 while Petersburg owns a 4-1 record in the league. A victory for the Vikings, who never have won a PVC championship, would tie them with Romney for first place. Romney shared the title with Keyser in 1961, tied Moorefield in 1950 and won the crown outright in 1940, 1941 and 1953.

Romney won last year, 19-0, and in 1961 by the score of 28-7, but prior to that dropped five consecutive games to the Grant countians.

Keyser Hosts Southern

Keyser High School, tied with Southern and Beall for third place at 2-1, tackles the Highlanders of Southern High School today at Keyser. The Golden Tornado won the P.V.C. title last season with a 7-0 record and has won eight consecutive games since it started its series with the Garrett countians.

The third P.V.C. game today is scheduled for Ridgeley where Tom O'Connor's Ridgeley Blackhawks will host the West Virginia School for the Deaf. Ridgeley is 3-3 overall and 2-3 in the conference. The Lions from Romney are winless in five games and stand 0-3 in the P.V.C.

Mountaineer High School of Davis (5-1-1) invade Franklin today to engage Ed Wimer's Panthers.

Jackets Face Musselman

George Hott's Moorefield Yellowjackets have a night engagement with the Applemen of Musselman High School tonight at Inwood, W. Va. Moorefield will be playing its 7th game of the season and now owns a 1-5 record.

In Tri-State League contests tonight, winless North Hagerstown entertains Waynesboro, Pa., while Boonsboro visits the Martinsburg Bulldogs.

Bisons Seek 6th In Row

Bedford High's Bison's, on a five-game winning binge, and 5-1 for the season, play Tussey Mountain High School of Saxton tonight at Bedford. Bedford has whipped Somerset, Shade Township, LaSalle, Portage and Cresson after dropping the opener to Everett-Southern.

Radatz Voted Top Sophomore

NEW YORK (AP)—Dick Radatz, the big relief specialist who won 15 games and appeared in 66 for the seventh-place Boston Red Sox, was named the American League's outstanding sophomore for 1963 in the annual Associated Press Poll Thursday.

Radatz, nicknamed the Monster because of his size—6-foot-6 and 235 pounds—and powerful pitching, collected 15 votes in the balloting by baseball writers.

Yanks Send Kunkel, Reed To Richmond

NEW YORK (UPI) — Jack Reed, who worked as "caddie" for Mickey Mantle and Roger Maris in the New York Yankee outfield for the past three seasons, was sold Thursday to their Richmond farm club along with pitcher Bill Kunkel and outfielder Ron Solomini.

At the same time, the Yankees announced the promotion of six young players from their minor league affiliates. The six were: outfielders Elvio Jimenez, who is a brother of the Kansas City Athletics' Manny Jimenez, and Roger Repoz; pitchers Pete Mikkelsen, Tom Dukes and John Chambers, and shortstop Chet Trail.

Myatt Joins Phils

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) —The Philadelphia Phillies announced Thursday night the signing of George Myatt, 49, as third base coach for the 1964 season.

Keyser High Frosh Beat Romney, 34-0

Scoring in every period, the Keyser High School freshmen gridders posted their third victory of the season yesterday when they trounced the Romney High frosh at Romney by the score of 34-0.

Chuck Hart accounted for three touchdowns and Scott Wilson scored twice on passes.

Hart scored in the first period on a 64-yard gallop, registered on a 51-yard punt return in the second quarter and went over from the six in the third stanza. Scott Wilson tallied on a 15-yard aerial from John Fox in the 4th period and later in the same quarter scored on a 34-yard pass from Charles Wilson. Steve Stanislawczyk accounted for two extra points while John Fox and Bobby Hollingsworth had one each.

Keyser had five first downs to Romney's none, rushed 334 yards and completed 4 of 6 passes for 107 yards. Romney was limited to six yards rushing, completed 1 of 6 passes for 6 yards and was penalized 10 yards.

Score by periods:

Keyser	7	7	7	13	34
Romney	0	0	0	0	0

Touchdowns: Keyser — Chuck Hart 3 (64 and 6 yard runs and 51-yard punt return); Scott Wilson 2 (15 yard pass from John Fox and 34-yard pass from Charles Wilson).

Points after touchdowns: Keyser — Steve Stanislawczyk 2 (kicks); John Fox (kick); Bob Hollingsworth (pass from John Fox).

Lamb Chop Wins

LEXINGTON, Ky. (UPI) — Lamb Chop, so heavily favored that betting was barred, romped home by 11 lengths in the $50,000 added Spinster Stakes at Keeneland Thursday, undoubtedly clinching for herself the title of filly of the year.

Pennsylvania Bans Fishing And Hunting

By United Press International

Pennsylvania deer hunters looked skyward Thursday in the hope that rain might keep their bow and arrow season alive, but there was little chance of weekend sport after Gov. William W. Scranton banned hunting and fishing throughout the state effective Friday at 1 p.m. EDT.

The outdoor activities were prohibited until further notice in a proclamation signed by Scranton at the request of Maurice K. Goddard, state forests and waters secretary.

If the ban goes into effect on schedule, all state forests and parks will be closed to the public by Goddard's department, which was responsible for the current ban on smoking and making of fires in all woodlands, both public and private.

The state justice department emphasized that the fishing ban includes private and commercial lakes, since the 1925 law under which Scranton signed the proclamation made no exceptions in such an emergency.

Dodgers Reported Dealing Off Moon, Skowron And Walls

LOS ANGELES (UPI) —The winter season baseball rumor mill went into high gear Thursday with a report that the Los Angeles Dodgers would deal off three members of their world championship team.

But General Manager E. J. (Buzzie) Bavasi refused to confirm, deny or comment on a published report that Bill Skowron, Wally Moon and Lee Walls were the players earmarked for other clubs.

The report that the three players were destined for other clubs was carried by the Los Angeles Herald-Examiner in a copyright story by Bob Hunter. The story said Moon would go to Milwaukee in exchange for righthanded pitcher Bob Shaw; Skowron would be traded to the Washington Senators and Walls would be sold to the Los Angeles Angels.

Petersburg, Romney In Top PVC Battle; Southern At Keyser

The second game of the intra-city series bringing together Allegany and LaSalle and a pair of battles between four of the top teams in the Potomac Valley Conference heads the gridiron menu in the tri-state area today.

Allegany and LaSalle will tangle in the 35th game of their series at the local stadium tonight at 8 o'clock. LaSalle was trounced by Fort Hill in the first intra-city tilt, 47-0, and will be the underdog in its game with Allegany which has knocked off North Hagerstown, Keyser and South Hagerstown in its last three outings, is 4-1 for the campaign and will be gunning for its sixth straight win over the Explorers whose last victory over the Campobello team was in 1957.

LaSalle's only victory came at the expense of Keyser, 18-6, a team which the Campers also whipped by the score of 25-6. The Explorers are 1-4 to date and the last time out they took a 45-0 walloping at Somerset.

Coach Ed Schwarz of the Campers, who were idle last week, reported yesterday that Richard Paulman will start at left halfback in tonight's game, replacing Barry Bruce, who suffered a broken hand in the South Hagerstown contest here October 5.

Top PVC Teams Tangle

Eyes of Potomac Valley Conference fans will be focused on the battle at Romney where Roger Parker's undefeated Pioneers host Wayne Barr's Petersburg Vikings. This is a battle between the No. 1 and 2 teams in the circuit. Romney is 5-0 while Petersburg owns a 4-1 record in the league. A victory for the Vikings, who never have won a PVC championship, would tie them with Romney for first place. Romney shared the title with Keyser in 1961, tied Moorefield in 1950 and won the crown outright in 1940, 1941 and 1953.

Romney won last year, 19-0, and in 1961 by the score of 28-7, but prior to that dropped five consecutive games to the Grant countians.

Keyser Hosts Southern

Keyser High School, tied with Southern and Beall for third place at 2-1, tackles the Highlanders of Southern High School today at Keyser. The Golden Tornado won the P.V.C. title last season with a 7-0 record and has won eight consecutive games since it started its series with the Garrett countians.

The third P.V.C. game today is scheduled for Ridgeley where Tom O'Connor's Ridgeley Blackhawks will host the West Virginia School for the Deaf. Ridgeley is 3-3 overall and 2-3 in the conference. The Lions from Romney are winless in five games and stand 0-3 in the P.V.C.

Mountaineer High School of Davis (5-1-1) invade Franklin today to engage Ed Wimer's Panthers.

Jackets Face Musselman

George Hott's Moorefield Yellowjackets have a night engagement with the Applemen of Musselman High School tonight at Inwood, W. Va. Moorefield will be playing its 7th game of the season and now owns a 1-5 record.

In Tri-State League contests tonight, winless North Hagerstown entertains Waynesboro, Pa., while Boonsboro visits the Martinsburg Bulldogs.

Bisons Seek 6th In Row

Bedford High's Bison's, on a five-game winning binge, and 5-1 for the season, play Tussey Mountain High School of Saxton tonight at Bedford. Bedford has whipped Somerset, Shade Township, LaSalle, Portage and Cresson after dropping the opener to Everett-Southern.

Yanks Send Kunkel, Reed To Richmond

NEW YORK (UPI) — Jack Reed, who worked as "caddie" for Mickey Mantle and Roger Maris in the New York Yankee outfield for the past three seasons, was sold Thursday to their Richmond farm club along with pitcher Bill Kunkel and outfielder Ron Solomini.

At the same time, the Yankees announced the promotion of six young players from their minor league affiliates. The six were: outfielders Elvio Jimenez, who is a brother of the Kansas City Athletics' Manny Jimenez, and Roger Repoz; pitchers Pete Mikkelsen, Tom Dukes and John Chambers, and shortstop Chet Trail.

Myatt Joins Phils

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) —The Philadelphia Phillies announced Thursday night the signing of George Myatt, 49, as third base coach for the 1964 season.

Radatz Voted Top Sophomore

NEW YORK (AP)—Dick Radatz, the big relief specialist who won 15 games and appeared in 66 for the seventh-place Boston Red Sox, was named the American League's outstanding sophomore for 1963 in the annual Associated Press Poll Thursday.

Radatz, nicknamed the Monster because of his size—6-foot-6 and 235 pounds—and powerful pitching, collected 15 votes in the balloting by baseball writers.

Keyser High Frosh Beat Romney, 34-0

Scoring in every period, the Keyser High School freshmen gridders posted their third victory of the season yesterday when they trounced the Romney High frosh at Romney by the score of 34-0.

Chuck Hart accounted for three touchdowns and Scott Wilson scored twice on passes.

Hart scored in the first period on a 64-yard gallop, registered on a 51-yard punt return in the second quarter and went over from the six in the third stanza. Scott Wilson tallied on a 15-yard aerial from John Fox in the 4th period and later in the same quarter scored on a 34-yard pass from Charles Wilson. Steve Stanislawczyk accounted for two extra points while John Fox and Bobby Hollingsworth had one each.

Keyser had five first downs to Romney's none, rushed 334 yards and completed 4 of 6 passes for 107 yards. Romney was limited to six yards rushing, completed 1 of 6 passes for 6 yards and was penalized 10 yards.

Score by periods:

Touchdowns: Keyser — Chuck Hart 3 (64 and 6 yard runs and 51-yard punt return); Scott Wilson 2 (15 yard pass from John Fox and 34-yard pass from Charles Wilson).

Points after touchdowns: Keyser — Steve Stanislawczyk 2 (kicks); John Fox (kick); Bob Hollingsworth (pass from John Fox).

Lamb Chop Wins

Pennsylvania Bans Fishing And Hunting

By United Press International

Pennsylvania deer hunters looked skyward Thursday in the hope that rain might keep their bow and arrow season alive, but there was little chance of weekend sport after Gov. William W. Scranton banned hunting and fishing throughout the state effective Friday at 1 p.m. EDT.

The outdoor activities were prohibited until further notice in a proclamation signed by Scranton at the request of Maurice K. Goddard, state forests and waters secretary.

If the ban goes into effect on schedule, all state forests and parks will be closed to the public by Goddard's department, which was responsible for the current ban on smoking and making of fires in all woodlands, both public and private.

The state justice department emphasized that the fishing ban includes private and commercial lakes, since the 1925 law under which Scranton signed the proclamation made no exceptions in such an emergency.

Dodgers Reported Dealing Off Moon, Skowron And Walls

LOS ANGELES (UPI) —The winter season baseball rumor mill went into high gear Thursday with a report that the Los Angeles Dodgers would deal off three members of their world championship team.

But General Manager E. J. (Buzzie) Bavasi refused to confirm, deny or comment on a published report that Bill Skowron, Wally Moon and Lee Walls were the players earmarked for other clubs.

The report that the three players were destined for other clubs was carried by the Los Angeles Herald-Examiner in a copyright story by Bob Hunter. The story said Moon would go to Milwaukee in exchange for righthanded pitcher Bob Shaw; Skowron would be traded to the Washington Senators and Walls would be sold to the Los Angeles Angels.

Rodriguez Favored In Bout At Garden

NEW YORK (AP)—Luis Rodriguez, the clever, shifty former welterweight champion, is rated an 8-5 favorite to hand middleweight contender Wilbert (Skeeter) McClure his first pro defeat Friday night.

They will meet in a 10-rounder at Madison Square Garden, the first Friday night bout at the famed arena in more than three years. It will be telecast by ABC-TV, starting at 9 p.m. EST.

Geiberger Leads Sahara Invitation Golf Tournament

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI) — Al Geiberger whipped around the Paradise Valley golf course in a four-under-par 67 early Thursday for the first round lead in the $70,000 Sahara Invitational Golf tournament which was temporarily interupted when rains swept the course in the late afternoon.

Geiberger's 35-32 gave him a one-stroke lead over Gay Brewer and Lionel Hebert, who finished early; and Art Wall, the former Masters champion, who was caught in the middle of the rain on the last hole — and still sank a 40-foot putt for a birdie.

In this gambling town, it was a tough day for the favorites. Arold Palmer was in contention with a solid par 71. But Jack Nicklaus, who with Palmer was rated at 3-1 in the betting, took a big 75 when he finished with bogies on the last two holes after the downpour.

Rodriguez Favored In Bout At Garden

NEW YORK (AP)—Luis Rodriguez, the clever, shifty former welterweight champion, is rated an 8-5 favorite to hand middleweight contender Wilbert (Skeeter) McClure his first pro defeat Friday night.

They will meet in a 10-rounder at Madison Square Garden, the first Friday night bout at the famed arena in more than three years. It will be telecast by ABC-TV, starting at 9 p.m. EST.

Geiberger Leads Sahara Invitation Golf Tournament

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI) — Al Geiberger whipped around the Paradise Valley golf course in a four-under-par 67 early Thursday for the first round lead in the $70,000 Sahara Invitational Golf tournament which was temporarily interupted when rains swept the course in the late afternoon.

Geiberger's 35-32 gave him a one-stroke lead over Gay Brewer and Lionel Hebert, who finished early; and Art Wall, the former Masters champion, who was caught in the middle of the rain on the last hole — and still sank a 40-foot putt for a birdie.

In this gambling town, it was a tough day for the favorites. Arold Palmer was in contention with a solid par 71. But Jack Nicklaus, who with Palmer was rated at 3-1 in the betting, took a big 75 when he finished with bogies on the last two holes after the downpour.

Card of Thanks

We wish to express our sincere thanks to all of our relatives, neighbors and friends for their kindness to us during the illness and following the death of our beloved wife and mother, Ruth Davis. We especially wish to thank Rev. Louis L. Emerick, the pallbearers, those who sent flowers and cards and those who donated the use of their cars.

We cannot help you coughing,
Nor can we get you out of jail;
But when it comes to selling real estate,
We don't too often fail.
We're not stupid and think we're perfect,
Nor smart and think we're great;
But when it comes to selling real estate,
We've got just what it takes.
Now after you have read this,
If you think it's kind of funny,
Don't forget that it's humor
That can get for you — the money.

Singalong Program

Cumberland Council 586, Knights of Columbus, will hold a singalong program today at the post home, beginning at 10 p. m. The program has been arranged to follow the LaSalle-Allegany football game. Music will be by Mary Ethel Knieriem.

There are nearly one million war veterans aged 70 and over in this country.

INVITATION FOR BIDS

The Housing Authority of the City of Keyser, West Virginia, will receive sealed bids for the construction of twenty-four (24) buildings comprising seventy (70) dwelling units, administration building, and other work incidental to the completion of a low-rent housing project to be known as Low Rent Housing Project WVA 10-1, located in the City of Keyser, West Virginia, until 2:00 P. M. (E.S.T.) on the 20th day of November, 1963, at the Housing Authority Office, Farmers and Merchants Bank Building, Keyser, West Virginia, at which time and place all bids will be publicly opened and read aloud.

Proposed forms of Contract Documents, including Plans and Specifications, will be on file at the Office of the Housing Authority of the City of Keyser, West Virginia, Farmers and Merchants Bank Building, Keyser, West Virginia, and at the Office of the Architect, S. Russ Minter, 72 Pershing Street, Cumberland, Maryland.

Copies of the documents may be obtained by depositing fifty dollars ($50.00) in the form of a certified check with and payable to the Housing Authority of the City of Keyser, West Virginia, for one set of documents so obtained. The amount of the deposit will be refunded to each person who returns the plans, specifications and other documents in good condition within ten (10) days after the opening of the bids. Additional sets may be obtained from the Architect for twenty dollars ($20.00) per set with no refund.

A certified check or bank draft, payable to the Housing Authority of the City of Keyser, West Virginia, U. S. Government bonds, or a satisfactory bid bond executed by the bidder and acceptable sureties in an amount equal to fifteen per cent (15%) of the bid shall be submitted with each bid.

The successful bidder will be required to furnish and pay for satisfactory performance bonds, and payment bond (s).

Attention is called to the fact that not less than the minimum salaries and wages as set forth in the Specifications must be paid on this project.

The Housing Authority of the City of Keyser, West Virginia, reserves the right to refuse any and all bids or to waive any informalities in bidding.

No bid shall be withdrawn for a period of thirty (30) days subsequent to the opening of bids without the consent of the Keyser Housing Authority.

Singalong Program

Cumberland Council 586, Knights of Columbus, will hold a singalong program today at the post home, beginning at 10 p. m. The program has been arranged to follow the LaSalle-Allegany football game. Music will be by Mary Ethel Knieriem.

There are nearly one million war veterans aged 70 and over in this country.

INVITATION FOR BIDS

The Housing Authority of the City of Keyser, West Virginia, will receive sealed bids for the construction of twenty-four (24) buildings comprising seventy (70) dwelling units, administration building, and other work incidental to the completion of a low-rent housing project to be known as Low Rent Housing Project WVA 10-1, located in the City of Keyser, West Virginia, until 2:00 P. M. (E.S.T.) on the 20th day of November, 1963, at the Housing Authority Office, Farmers and Merchants Bank Building, Keyser, West Virginia, at which time and place all bids will be publicly opened and read aloud.

Proposed forms of Contract Documents, including Plans and Specifications, will be on file at the Office of the Housing Authority of the City of Keyser, West Virginia, Farmers and Merchants Bank Building, Keyser, West Virginia, and at the Office of the Architect, S. Russ Minter, 72 Pershing Street, Cumberland, Maryland.

Copies of the documents may be obtained by depositing fifty dollars ($50.00) in the form of a certified check with and payable to the Housing Authority of the City of Keyser, West Virginia, for one set of documents so obtained. The amount of the deposit will be refunded to each person who returns the plans, specifications and other documents in good condition within ten (10) days after the opening of the bids. Additional sets may be obtained from the Architect for twenty dollars ($20.00) per set with no refund.

A certified check or bank draft, payable to the Housing Authority of the City of Keyser, West Virginia, U. S. Government bonds, or a satisfactory bid bond executed by the bidder and acceptable sureties in an amount equal to fifteen per cent (15%) of the bid shall be submitted with each bid.

The successful bidder will be required to furnish and pay for satisfactory performance bonds, and payment bond (s).

Attention is called to the fact that not less than the minimum salaries and wages as set forth in the Specifications must be paid on this project.

The Housing Authority of the City of Keyser, West Virginia, reserves the right to refuse any and all bids or to waive any informalities in bidding.

No bid shall be withdrawn for a period of thirty (30) days subsequent to the opening of bids without the consent of the Keyser Housing Authority.

Tawes To Boost School Money

Governor Gives No Details Of New Financing Program

BALTIMORE (AP) — An administration-backed program recommended "a substantial increase in state aid to education" will be presented to the 1964 General Assembly, Gov. Tawes told Maryland teachers Thursday.

Tawes did not go into any details of the program now being developed but indicated it will have to be financed by an increase in taxes.

The governor addressed the Maryland State Teachers Association as the group opened its annual convention. About 20,000 teachers are attending.

The MSTA backed a program at the legislature last March that would have changed the way state aid is distributed to schools. It would have cost $14 million the first year of operation. Despite the governor's opposition, it came close to passing in the final hours of the General Assembly.

New Program Studied

Tawes told the teachers that at his urging the interim Legislative Council's Committee on Taxation and Fiscal Matters has been studying a new program of aid to education and working closely with the committee on state-county fiscal relations. He said he has received a progress report but details are not yet ready for release.

"I believe I can tell you, in good conscience, that a program recommending a substantial increase in state aid to education will be ready for presentation at the 1964 session of the General Assembly," the governor said.

Committees recommended two significant resolutions to the MSTA's representative assembly Thursday on school integration and state aid. Both will be voted on at the Saturday session which will end the convention.

Intergration Urged

On racial segregation, the committee recommended that "complete integration in Maryland public schools should be lawfully, fairly and expeditiously effected."

School systems "which have made substantial progress in this area" were commended. It also was recommended that teacher associations in some Maryland counties, which maintain segregated membership, integrate to realize the advantages of a unified association.

The second resolution said the MSTA should continue to support legislation for changing the basis of distributing state aid to education. The teachers' group wants a formula based on the number of pupils in each county and Baltimore city, rather than teachers' minimum salary scales which now are a main factor.

Gov. Tawes said of the program to come before the legislature next year:

"It is my firm belief that enactment of this program ... will enable Maryland to continue to maintain high standards of excellence in the field of education.

"I am equally convinced that the proposals will better prepare us to cope with the increasing needs that invariably accompany rising enrollments.

"However, I must inject this cautionary note.

Must Raise Money

"It is no secret that I am dedicated to the principles of responsible government and sound fiscal management.

"Therefore, any program that calls for a substantial outlay of state funds ought to be accompanied by recommendations for financing.

"If the people of this state are to be called upon to support a new program or the expansion of an existing one, then they have an absolute right to know exactly how it will be financed.

"Our task now, and in the immediate future, is to clearly state the need for an expansion of services."

The General Assembly opens a 30-day session Feb. 5.

N.C. Governor Urges Better School Support

BALTIMORE (AP) — Terry Sanford, North Carolina's education-minded governor, told Maryland school teachers Thursday that the schools "need support from the public, financial and moral, in a degree far beyond anything we have ever known."

"For too long," he said, "the citizens of America have given too little support to the public schools — and this goes for the wealthy states as well as for the poor.

"It is my firm belief that a nation that can afford to send ships under the polar ice and a nation that can afford to grasp for the moon and the stars themselves, and a nation that can enjoy the standards of living that we in America enjoy today, can also afford to provide the educational faculties and facilities that the children of this modern age need."

Sanford's remarks were prepared for delivery to the Maryland State Teachers Association.

Sanford declared that the "greatest infringement on civil rights" is not the denial of the right to vote, nor to eat in a restaurant nor to see a movie nor to spend the night in a hotel but it is "the denial of the best educational opportunities a rich nation can provide for the boys and girls of America."

"White and Negro children alike have been the victims of this denial," he said.

"Children in farm areas and children in towns and cities have suffered. This infringement is true not only in southern states, but it is true in the states of New England, the Middle Atlantic, the Midwest and the Far West.

"For too long, we have felt ourselves able to afford new automobiles, but have been miserly in our appropriations for new school equipment. For too long, we have put teachers' salaries too low on the totem pole.

"As a result, we have not attracted enough of the bright young men and women to the teaching profession. And in most places we have not paid them enough to hold these good teachers once they got into the classroom."

Salvation Army Missionary To Speak Here

An outstanding figure in the Salvation Army movement, Brigadier Harry Williams, a Salvation Army medical missionary in India, will be in Cumberland over the weekend.

Dr. Williams will be the featured speaker at an early luncheon meeting of the Salvation Army Advisory Board at the Citadel at 11:30 a. m. Monday. The meeting will be concluded by 1 p. m. as Dr. Williams must catch a plane from Baltimore at 5 p. m. Monday.

The medical missionary has been attending a conference of plastic surgeons in Washington, D. C.

Dr. Williams, Lt. Col. Paul Thronburg, divisional commander, Mrs. Thronburg, Major and Mrs. W.R.H. Goodier will conduct the service in the Salvation Army chapel at 7:30 p. m. Sunday. The public is invited.

Members of the Advisory Board have been urged by Major Ben R. Jones, commanding officer, to call PA 4-0860, for reservations for the Monday luncheon.

'Everybody Out Of The Woods,' W. Va. Orders

Fire Danger Closes Forests

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI) — Natural Resources Director Warden Lane announced Thursday that all forest lands in the state are closed to all entry effective at 6 p.m. Friday because of the forest fire hazard.

Lane also said the starting of any fire in or adjacent to any forest land is prohibited, including any fire for which a permit has been issued. Lane said this includes both public and private forest land.

Lane said the only ones that can enter forest lands are "industrial or bona fide users" who take all necessary and adequate precautions to prevent or control any fire in their area of operations.

The order prohibiting fires, Lane said, "does not include industrial or bona fide municipal operations when necessary precautions are taken."

Lane earlier this week suspended West Virginia's hunting season because of the fire hazard.

State forester Lester McClung said that there is "no relief in sight" and added "we expect the next five days to be about the same as we've had the last several weeks."

"There is certainly nothing to be optimistic about at this time," McClung said. "This whole situation could have been avoided if people had been careful. All are preventable fires and all are man-made."

Crews Complete Rehabilitation Of Lake Gordon

A project for the rehabilitation of the faces of Lake Gordon and Lake Koon is nearing the final stage, Water Commissioner G. Ray Light was informed yesterday.

The Air Placement Company, Grafton, W. Va., has completed restoring the face of Lake Gordon to original lines, along with similar work on eroded surfaces of the wing walls.

Crews of the firm yesterday moved to Lake Koon, where they began cleaning and chipping a number of spots in preparation for "shooting" concrete into the eroded areas.

Workers have drilled in several spots in an attempt to locate and stop a leak through the base of Lake Gordon dam. The source of the leak could not be found in the concrete, and it was considered possible the water might be seeping through the rock strata.

The City Engineering Department estimated it may take the contractor another week to complete the work which is being done under a $68,000 contract.

The line, which included a fire hydrant, began on Thompson Avenue between Ridge Terrace and Adams Avenue and out Adams 155 feet.

Crews early this week began extending a six-inch line on Utah Avenue to Church Street and out Church to Massachusetts Avenue.

Mr. Light said he was told the new line extension should be completed by the middle of next week.

Local Man Faces Criminal Charges

Criminal information has been filed in Allegany County Circuit Court against Guy D. O'Hara, 42, of 743 Maryland Avenue, on charges of breaking and entering and larceny.

O'Hara has waived grand jury action and has requested an immediate trial. Chief Judge Morgan C. Harris appointed Harold E. Naughton, local attorney, to represent O'Hara.

City Police arrested O'Hara earlier this month and charged him with breaking into the apartment of Mrs. Lillian Williams, 123 South Mechanic Street, and taking a clock-radio and a steam iron valued at $58. He also was charged with taking an electric razor valued at $29 from James Talley, 25 Arch Street.

Tax Collections Are Picking Up

Prospects for collecting most 1963 taxes before Monday's interest deadline appeared excellent yesterday.

Collections for the day totaled about $69,000 at 3 p. m., bringing total collections to $872,740.56. To date, $1,226,913.88 of 1963 taxes have been billed.

Underwriters Plan Meeting Here Today

A regular monthly meeting of the Cumberland Life Underwriters Association will be held today at 12:30 p. m. in Central YMCA.

John Diamond, president, said HR 10—self employed pension plan—will be discussed. All underwriters are to call Home Beneficial office for reservations.

Methodists List Special Services

Observe 225th Anniversary

Area Methodist Churches are celebrating the 225th anniversary of Methodism based on founder John Wesley's Aldersgate experience. Churches are uniting in "cluster" groups for the week of preaching and witnessing observance.

Services will be held by Rawlings, Dawson, Cresaptown and the Eckhart Charge, Sunday through Wednesday at 7:45 p. m. at Cresaptown Methodist Church. Rev. Charles E. Covington, pastor of Epworth Methodist Church, Rehoboth Beach, Del., will be guest minister.

Emmanuel Methodist Church will hold services Sunday through Wednesday at 7:30 p. m. with Rev. Gerald Henderson, Millsboro, Del., guest minister. His topics include, "Marks of A Christian," "Personal Evangelism," "Personal Service," and "Cost of Discipleship."

Thursday Emmanuel Church will worship with Grace Methodist Church, and on Friday Emmanuel and Grace will join Trinity Methodist Church for a service.

Emmanuel, Grace and Trinity churches will meet at Trinity for a "cluster" service, Saturday.

Services will be held at Oldtown Methodist Church, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday at 7:30 p. m. Fred E. Thron, A. B., S. T. B., pastor of Melvin-Mapleside Methodist Charge will speak on "Where Are You Going?", "Picture Rooms of the Soul," and "A Son's First Chance." This will be a joint witness mission conducted by Paw Paw, Oldtown, Davis Memorial and the Mapleside-Melvin Charge.

Trinity Methodist began its observance of the anniversary last night. The services will continue through October 27 at 7:30 p. m. Rev. George Ports, Methodist minister in evangelism, will be speaker, and he and his wife will conduct a junior sermon for youths each evening.

Scouts To Visit Aircraft Carrier This Weekend

Two Air Explorer Scouts and a leader from Frostburg will spend the weekend aboard the nuclear-powered aircraft carrier USS Enterprise.

The boys, Norman Snyder and Michael Warne, and Howard Ward, leader, will leave early this morning for Baltimore, where they will join another group and continue by bus to Norfolk, Va.

The Frostburg youths, who are members of Air Explorers Squadron 42, sponsored by First Methodist Church there, will board the ship tomorrow and will leave it Sunday afternoon for the trip home.

Arrangements for the visit to the ship were made by Vice Admiral Paul Ramsey.

Church Plans Services

LaVale Methodist Church will hold Aldersgate Services beginning Sunday at 11 a. m. and concluding Wednesday, October 23.

Nightly services will be held starting Sunday at 7:30 p. m. and continuing each evening through Wednesday.

Rev. Edgar W. Beckett, district superintendent of the Washington West District of the Methodist Church, will preach a series of sermons based on John Wesley's Aldersgate experience in 1739.

The sanctuary choir, youth choir and junior choir, directed by Neil Williams, Mrs. Lawrence Clopper, Mrs. James E. Perry and Robert H. Mann Jr., will provide special music for the services.

The services are being sponsored by the church's commission on membership and evangelism, Dr. Raymond E. Vanderlinde, chairman. A nursery will be provided during each service.

Health Unit To Meet

The Board of Health of the City of Cumberland will meet Friday, October 25, at 2 p. m. in the office of Mayor Earl D. Chaney.

Area Executives Attend Management Skill Course

Nineteen industrial executives from Maryland, Pennsylvania, West Virginia and Virginia are attending a "skills of management" course sponsored by the Potomac Edison System at the Hotel Alexander in Hagerstown this week.

Nine supervisors, managers and executives from the electric utility company are also attending the five-day course.

Attending from this area are Louis Amato, manager of the Amcelle plant of Celanese Fibers Company; J. Brooke Fradiska, assistant secretary-treasurer of the Queen City Brewing Company; Charles S. Steiner, president of the Cumberland Cement and Supply Company; James L. Weber, president of the South Cumberland Planing Mill Company, and Eugene W. McCauley, district manager of the Potomac Edison Company at Frostburg.

PE President R. G. MacDonald welcomed the group Monday and told them the course "will provide you with a base for continuing constructive self-analysis and self-development."

The course, he explained, is designed to identify the modern skills of management and show how these skills can be applied in running an industrial enterprise and in improving job performances of managers.

He said the course will also enable the industrial and company representatives to further their own philosophy of management through exposure to the program of skills, the wealth of training and experience of the eight-man faculty and the ideas and experience of the other participants.

Some of the leading men in modern management are teaching various phases of the course.

This is the first time PE has sponsored a course for top management. In the past, the power company has sponsored lighting schools, wiring schools, motor schools and other programs for representatives from industries in the 8,000-square-mile area it serves.

Planning Unit Gives Approval Of Subdivisions

Must Be Recorded By November 15

The Allegany County Planning and Zoning Commission, meeting last night at the Court House, gave its approval to six existing subdivisions, according to Andrew McMinimee, county planner.

Under the county's new subdivision regulations, owners of existing subdivisions were to have notified the planning and zoning commission by October 15 with a letter of intention, according to C. Lee Renaud, county planning director.

Owners of these subdivisions then have until November 15 to record their subdivisions in the land records office at the Court House.

Two subdivisions owned by Mrs. Emma Richards as the Cumberland Real Estate Corporation, were approved. One of them involves three tracts on Brant Road at Cresaptown and the other is on Haystack Mountain near the Sacred Heart Hospital site.

Also approved was another subdivision of the Sunset View Real Estate and Development Company on Haystack Mountain. Approval of this, one of the company's original subdivisions, was requested by Thomas Burton.

Approval also was granted for Thresher Farm, a subdivision of Mrs. Alfred W. Fritz on Winchester Road; Albright's Fourth Addition in Ellerslie and a subdivision of Ray Larkin in Election District 33, Kifer, near Paw Paw, W. Va.

Mr. Renaud said the commission also consider a county house numbering plan and a project under the 701 program, through the Federal Housing and Home Finance Agency.

Four of the five commission members were present. They are James A. Perrin, Ralph M. Race, Carl O. Belt and County Commissioner Robert Little Ebert. Only Dr. Rudolph Steinberger was absent.

Commission Will Review Suggestions

The Municipal Planning and Zoning Commission will meet Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. The principal business will be to review several protests and a suggestion made during Monday's public hearing on the proposed new zoning ordinance.

The Mayor and Council asked the commission to study the comments and to make recommendations.

During the hearing, a petition signed by 14 South Cumberland residents was presented. It objected to the proposed rezoning of the Virginia, Lafayette and Lexington Avenues area, now Residential B and Industrial, to an Industrial district.

Also presented was a petition from 202 North End residents opposing the zoning of an area bounded by Shawnee Avenue, Franklin Street, Piedmont Avenue and the city limits as an RG 2 zoning district.

The area is now classified as Residential B and residents asked that it be put under the RG 1 class.

RG 1 is the classification for a general residential district of medium density and permits single family, two family and multi-family residences as well as related uses in keeping with the residential character of the district.

Also to be considered is a suggestion that a study be undertaken of zoning on Frederick Street.

Choir Director

Famous Choir Of Boys Town To Sing Here

Two Performances On December 3

Reservations are now being accepted for the two performances of the Boys Town Choir which will be presented here December 3 under the sponsorship of Chief Justice Taney General Assembly, Fourth Degree Knights of Columbus.

John H. Mosner, general chairman, said tickets are now on sale at various business establishments in the tri-state area, and may also be obtained by contacting Joseph Webb, PA 4-0149.

The nationally-famous choir will present a matinee at 3:30 p.m. and an evening performance at 8:15 p. m. Both shows will be presented in the Fort Hill High School auditorium.

For Crippled Children

Mr. Mosner said proceeds of the shows will benefit the Allegany County League for Crippled Children.

The Boys Town Choir, Mr. Mosner noted, is more than 20 years old, which makes the choir itself older than any of its members. From the very early days of Father Flanagan's famed Boys Town, singing has played an important role in the lives of the citizens, at church services, sports rallies and social gatherings.

But the choir as a formal organization was inaugurated by Father Flanagan in recognition of the value of music for cultural training and morale-building. Beginning with just 20 youngsters, the choir has grown steadily, until today it numbers more than 200, divided into Concert Choir, Repertoire Choir, and Chancel Choir.

Good Students Only

Father Nicholas H. Wegner, who succeeded the late Father Flanagan as director of Boys Town, insists that, once in the choir, the boys must maintain a high scholastic average — a requirement also of boys on football teams or in any other extracurricular activity.

The choir is directed by Very Rev. Msgr. Francis P. Schmitt, who also is in charge of the home life at Boys Town of his 200 singers. He is guiding his young charges, who range in age from 11 to 18, on their 18th annual tour.

In 17 previous tours, the choir has traveled well over 160,000 miles, singing over 600 concerts in 40 states and five provinces of Canada.

Mr. Mosner said a limited number of tickets will be available. The auditorium seats approximately 1,600, and all persons purchasing tickets will be assured a seat, Mr. Mosner noted.

Identity Clarified In Fatal Shooting

George A. Shaffer, who police said accidently shot Raymond R. Twigg, 66, of Mt. Savage, while hunting Wednesday in Garrett County is a resident of Garrett County and not of Mt. Savage, as was reported in yesterday's edition of The Cumberland News.

Mr. Twigg was hunting with Elmer Garlock, also of Mt. Savage, when the accident occurred in the Red Oak section of Garrett County.

PTA Council Plans Fellowship Dinner

The Allegany County Council of Parent Teachers Associations will sponsor a fellowship dinner next week for members of the PTAs of the county.

The dinner will be served at 6:30 p. m. October 24 at Salem United Church of Christ in Frostburg. The presidents of the local associations and principals of the schools will be guests.

Members planning to attend are being asked to make reservations by calling Paul Meyers at 689-6654 today.

Church To Hold Revival Services

Evangelistic services will be held at the Old Furnace Church of the Brethren, Route 28, Furnace Acres, October 20-27 at 7:30 p. m.

Jesse and Ruth Whitacre, of RD 1, Ridgeley, will be preaching each evening. There will be stories for children and special music each evening.

Registers Of Wills Meet Here

50 To Attend First Seminar

Some 50 persons, representing most of the register of wills offices in the state, are expected to attend a seminar here today and tomorrow of the the Maryland Register of Wills Association.

Allegany County Register of Wills James M. Roby, who is in his second term as president of the state association, said last night that all but about three of Marylnd's 23 counties will be represented here. Registers and their deputies will attend.

Mr. Roby said this is the first of four seminars planned in different sections of the state during the current fiscal year.

Sessions will begin at 2 p.m. today at the Fort Cumberland Hotel. Robert Karwacki, assistant attorney general of Maryland, will serve as discussion leader. This afternoon he will speak on "Interest and Penalties On Overdue Inheritance Taxes." Tomorrow morning the topic will be "Trust Estates."

Bernard F. Nossel, chief deputy comptroller, will represent State Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein.

A dinner will be served in the Fort Cumberland Hotel ballroom at 6:30 p.m.

Other officers besides Mr. Roby are Thomas Eichelberger, Frederick County, vice president; Thomas L. Adams, Harford County, treasurer; Mrs. Kathryn J. Corddry, Worcester County, secretary; Walter D. Addison, Prince George's County; Mrs. Virginia M. Black, Montgomery County, and Mrs. Gertrude Wright, Charles County, executive board members.

County Issues 26 Permits In Half Month

Some 26 building permits and zoning certificates for construction in the unincorporated portions of Allegany County have been approved during the first half of October by C. Lee Renaud, county planning director, and the total builder - estimated costs of the improvements is $167,975.

Just two of these permits are responsible for more than half of the total — $91,000.

Tops among the approved projects is a 38 by 84 foot brick church for the Bedford Road Baptist congregation at a cost of $65,000. This is situated in Election District 21.

The next most sizeable project is a $26,000 three-purpose building which Edward L. Thomas, 115 Midlothian Road, Frostburg, is planning to build some 2600 yards south of Frostburg in Election District 26 on the westerly side of Midlothian Road.

Mr. Thomas' concrete and frame building will serve as a snack bar, auto accessories business and apartments.

In addition to these two major projects, those approved so far in October have included nine dwelling additions and remodelings, six new dwellings four garages, two storage sheds, a dwelling foundation, tool shed, garage and storage.

These October projects include improvements in 18 different election districts of the county. Districts 2., Oldtown, and 21, Gross, have three permits each so far this month. Four other districts have two permits each. They include Districts 5, North End suburban; 13, Mt. Savage; 16, North Branch, and 27 Gilmore.

Districts with a single building permit so far this month include 3, Flintstone; 9, Barton; 10, Lonaconing suburban; 17, Vale Summit; 18, Midland; 19, Shaft, 20, Corriganville; 24, Eckhart; 26, Frostburg suburban; 29, LaVale; 31, McCoole, and 33, Kifer.

Three mobile homes and one advertising sign, which are not considered permanent improvements, also were authorized.

Dr. Shockley To Be Convention Speaker

Dr. Robert J. Shockley, assistant superintendent of Allegany County schools for curriculum, will be one of the speakers at the annual convention of the State Teachers Association in Baltimore.

Dr. Shockley will discuss "The New Mathematics—Fad or Fancy," at a meeting of the elementary section at Edmondson High School at 9:30 a.m. today.

Theodore P. Foote, county supervisor of art education, also said that some 24 pieces of art work, representing all grade levels in Allegany County, will be included in an art exhibit at the Baltimore Civic Center.

Wineow Street Subway Is Brighter

Two city departments have cooperated to help brighten up the Wineow Street subway.

Street Department crews completed whitewashing the west wall of the underpass.

The Police Department painted a center line on the roadway which was resurfaced by the city earlier this year.

CUF Returns Hit $29,031 For One Week

Over One-Third Of Goal Reached

A whopping total of $29,031.57 in just one week's time boosted the seventh mighty County United Fund campaign to 38.8 per cent of its goal yesterday, according to the second official campaign audit conducted by CUF's volunteer auditing committee.

Walter E. Dyck, campaign general chairman, reported after hearing the audit result, that the campaign is now moving into high gear and that success in reaching the overall $394,533 goal appears certain.

Leading divisions in the second audit were Cumberland Golden Gifters with $107,060.38, or 85.6 per cent of their goal, followed by the county area contributions of $22,192.30, and the Classified employe group contributions of the Cumberland area of more than $21,000.

County areas include Frostburg, Keyser, eastern sections of Allegany County, the Central Georges Creek region and the Tri-Towns.

Mr. Dyck commented that the second audit result is even more significant when it is considered that Big 7 United Giving groups are in the process of conducting their in-plant campaigns and the audit results do not include their payroll giving plan contributions. The Big 7 goal is $154,000.

The first audit was held a week ago when $123,884.38 in gifts was counted for the 28 participating health, social services and youth agencies of CUF which do not conduct their own drives and depend on the once-a-year CUF campaign.

Gifts by divisions audited yesterday were as follows:

Cumberland Business Division, $2,295.25, or 22.9 per cent of goal; Cumberland Classified Division, $21,368.02, or 38.9 per cent of goal; Cumberland Golden Gifts, $107,060.38, or 85.6 per cent of goal; Allegany and Mineral county areas, $22,192.30, or 43.1 per cent of goal.

The third campaign audit is tentatively scheduled for Thursday, October 24.

Members of the auditing committee are Richard C. Dickerhoff, chairman, Carroll S. Andrews, B. Woodward Dyche, Eugene F. Fuller, Gerald L. Harrison, W. Edward Jenkins, and Paul D. Long.

City To Help Entertain Bolivian Group

The City of Cumberland is making plans to greet a Bolivian railroad delegation which plans to visit this industrial and transportation center on October 30.

Mayor Earl D. Chaney said Jasper Clemente, of the U. S. Department of Labor, asked that the Mayor and Council meet the nine Bolivian railroad workers who are visiting the United States.

Mayor Chaney said members of the delegation will be taken on inspection tours of any city facilities in which they are interested.

The Bolivians, he added, are also interested in inspecting telephone facilities here.

Last year the city entertained a similar railroad group from Ecuador who were touring the United States under the auspicies of the Agency for International Development.

Battery Is Taken From School Bus

The Detective Bureau yesterday was investigating the theft of a battery from a school bus and the forced entry and theft at a service station here.

St. Patrick's Catholic Church reported yesterday morning that the battery, valued at $40 was stolen during the night from a school bus parked at the rear of the church.

Bernie's Repair Center, 638 Greene Street, reported that a window on the north side of the station was broken and that an intruder or intruders entered and forced open a cigarette dispensing machine, taking an unknown amount of change.

Quench Brush Fires

East Side Fire Company extinguished two brush fires yesterday. The company was called at 9:10 a.m. when a brush fire broke out on the hillside along the 1000 block of Shades Lane and at 1:40 p.m. when brush caught fire at the rear of the Holiday Motel on Bedford Road. No damage was reported from either fire.

Tawes To Boost School Money

Governor Gives No Details Of New Financing Program

BALTIMORE (AP) — An administration-backed program recommended "a substantial increase in state aid to education" will be presented to the 1964 General Assembly, Gov. Tawes told Maryland teachers Thursday.

Tawes did not go into any details of the program now being developed but indicated it will have to be financed by an increase in taxes.

The governor addressed the Maryland State Teachers Association as the group opened its annual convention. About 20,000 teachers are attending.

The MSTA backed a program at the legislature last March that would have changed the way state aid is distributed to schools. It would have cost $14 million the first year of operation. Despite the governor's opposition, it came close to passing in the final hours of the General Assembly.

New Program Studied

Tawes told the teachers that at his urging the interim Legislative Council's Committee on Taxation and Fiscal Matters has been studying a new program of aid to education and working closely with the committee on state-county fiscal relations. He said he has received a progress report but details are not yet ready for release.

"I believe I can tell you, in good conscience, that a program recommending a substantial increase in state aid to education will be ready for presentation at the 1964 session of the General Assembly," the governor said.

Committees recommended two significant resolutions to the MSTA's representative assembly Thursday on school integration and state aid. Both will be voted on at the Saturday session which will end the convention.

Intergration Urged

On racial segregation, the committee recommended that "complete integration in Maryland public schools should be lawfully, fairly and expeditiously effected."

School systems "which have made substantial progress in this area" were commended. It also was recommended that teacher associations in some Maryland counties, which maintain segregated membership, integrate to realize the advantages of a unified association.

The second resolution said the MSTA should continue to support legislation for changing the basis of distributing state aid to education. The teachers' group wants a formula based on the number of pupils in each county and Baltimore city, rather than teachers' minimum salary scales which now are a main factor.

Gov. Tawes said of the program to come before the legislature next year:

"It is my firm belief that enactment of this program . . . will enable Maryland to continue to maintain high standards of excellence in the field of education.

"I am equally convinced that the proposals will better prepare us to cope with the increasing needs that invariably accompany rising enrollments.

"However, I must inject this cautionary note.

Must Raise Money

"It is no secret that I am dedicated to the principles of responsible government and sound fiscal management.

"Therefore, any program that calls for a substantial outlay of state funds ought to be accompanied by recommendations for financing.

"If the people of this state are to be called upon to support a new program or the expansion of an existing one, then they have an absolute right to know exactly how it will be financed.

"Our task now, and in the immediate future, is to clearly state the need for an expansion of services."

The General Assembly opens a 30-day session Feb. 5.

N.C. Governor Urges Better School Support

BALTIMORE (AP) — Terry Sanford, North Carolina's education-minded governor, told Maryland school teachers Thursday that the schools "need support from the public, financial and moral, in a degree far beyond anything we have ever known."

"For too long," he said, "the citizens of America have given too little support to the public schools — and this goes for the wealthy states as well as for the poor.

"It is my firm belief that a nation that can afford to send ships under the polar ice and a nation that can afford to grasp for the moon and the stars themselves, and a nation that can enjoy the standards of living that we in America enjoy today, can also afford to provide the educational faculties and facilities that the children of this modern age need."

Sanford's remarks were prepared for delivery to the Maryland State Teachers Association.

Sanford declared that the "greatest infringement on civil rights" is not the denial of the right to vote, nor to eat in a restaurant nor to see a movie nor to spend the night in a hotel but it is "the denial of the best educational opportunities a rich nation can provide for the boys and girls of America."

"White and Negro children alike have been the victims of this denial," he said.

"Children in farm areas and children in towns and cities have suffered. This infringement is true not only in southern states, but it is true in the states of New England, the Middle Atlantic, the Midwest and the Far West.

"For too long, we have felt ourselves able to afford new automobiles, but have been miserly in our appropriations for new school equipment. For too long, we have put teachers' salaries too low on the totem pole.

"As a result, we have not attracted enough of the bright young men and women to the teaching profession. And in most places we have not paid them enough to hold these good teachers once they got into the classroom."

Salvation Army Missionary To Speak Here

An outstanding figure in the Salvation Army movement, Brigadier Harry Williams, a Salvation Army medical missionary in India, will be in Cumberland over the weekend.

Dr. Williams will be the featured speaker at an early luncheon meeting of the Salvation Army Advisory Board at the Citadel at 11:30 a. m. Monday. The meeting will be concluded by 1 p. m. as Dr. Williams must catch a plane from Baltimore at 5 p. m. Monday.

The medical missionary has been attending a conference of plastic surgeons in Washington, D. C.

Dr. Williams, Lt. Col. Paul Thronburg, divisional commander, Mrs. Thronburg, Major and Mrs. W.R.H. Goodier will conduct the service in the Salvation Army chapel at 7:30 p. m. Sunday. The public is invited.

Members of the Advisory Board have been urged by Major Ben R. Jones, commanding officer, to call PA 4-0860, for reservations for the Monday luncheon.

'Everybody Out Of The Woods,' W. Va. Orders

Fire Danger Closes Forests

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI) — Natural Resources Director Warden Lane announced Thursday that all forest lands in the state are closed to all entry effective at 6 p.m. Friday because of the forest fire hazard.

Lane also said the starting of any fire in or adjacent to any forest land is prohibited, including any fire for which a permit has been issued. Lane said this includes both public and private forest land.

Lane said the only ones that can enter forest lands are "industrial or bona fide users" who take all necessary and adequate precautions to prevent or control any fire in their area of operations.

The order prohibiting fires, Lane said, "does not include industrial or bona fide municipal operations when necessary precautions are taken."

Lane earlier this week suspended West Virginia's hunting season because of the fire hazard.

State forester Lester McClung said that there is "no relief in sight" and added "we expect the next five days to be about the same as we've had the last several weeks."

"There is certainly nothing to be optimistic about at this time," McClung said. "This whole situation could have been avoided if people had been careful. All are preventable fires and all are man-made."

Crews Complete Rehabilitation Of Lake Gordon

A project for the rehabilitation of the faces of Lake Gordon and Lake Koon is nearing the final stage, Water Commissioner G. Ray Light was informed yesterday.

The Air Placement Company, Grafton, W. Va., has completed restoring the face of Lake Gordon to original lines, along with similar work on eroded surfaces of the wing walls.

Crews of the firm yesterday moved to Lake Koon, where they began cleaning and chipping a number of spots in preparation for "shooting" concrete into the eroded areas.

Workers have drilled in several spots in an attempt to locate and stop a leak through the base of Lake Gordon dam. The source of the leak could not be found in the concrete, and it was considered possible the water might be seeping through the rock strata.

The City Engineering Department estimated it may take the contractor another week to complete the work which is being done under a $68,000 contract.

In the city, Water Department crews recently completed laying nearly 370 feet of six-inch water line in the Thompson Avenue area.

The line, which included a fire hydrant, began on Thompson Avenue between Ridge Terrace and Adams Avenue and out Adams 155 feet.

Crews early this week began extending a six-inch line on Utah Avenue to Church Street and out Church to Massachusetts Avenue.

Mr. Light said he was told the new line extension should be completed by the middle of next week.

Local Man Faces Criminal Charges

Criminal information has been filed in Allegany County Circuit Court against Guy D. O'Hara, 42, of 743 Maryland Avenue, on charges of breaking and entering and larceny.

O'Hara has waived grand jury action and has requested an immediate trial. Chief Judge Morgan C. Harris appointed Harold E. Naughton, local attorney, to represent O'Hara.

City Police arrested O'Hara earlier this month and charged him with breaking into the apartment of Mrs. Lillian Williams, 123 South Mechanic Street, and taking a clock-radio and a steam iron valued at $58. He also was charged with taking an electric razor valued at $29 from James Talley, 25 Arch Street.

Tax Collections Are Picking Up

Prospects for collecting most 1963 taxes before Monday's interest deadline appeared excellent yesterday.

Collections for the day totaled about $69,000 at 3 p. m., bringing total collections to $872,740.56. To date, $1,226,913.88 of 1963 taxes have been billed.

Underwriters Plan Meeting Here Today

A regular monthly meeting of the Cumberland Life Underwriters Association will be held today at 12:30 p. m. in Central YMCA.

Methodists List Special Services

Observe 225th Anniversary

Area Methodist Churches are celebrating the 225th anniversary of Methodism based on founder John Wesley's Aldersgate experience. Churches are uniting in "cluster" groups for the week of preaching and witnessing observance.

Services will be held by Rawlings, Dawson, Cresaptown and the Eckhart Charge, Sunday through Wednesday at 7:45 p. m. at Cresaptown Methodist Church. Rev. Charles E. Covington, pastor of Epworth Methodist Church, Rehoboth Beach, Del., will be guest minister.

Emmanuel Methodist Church will hold services Sunday through Wednesday at 7:30 p. m. with Rev. Gerald Henderson, Millsboro, Del., guest minister. His topics include, "Marks of A Christian," "Personal Evangelism," "Personal Service," and "Cost of Discipleship."

Thursday Emmanuel Church will worship with Grace Methodist Church, and on Friday Emmanuel and Grace will join Trinity Methodist Church for a service.

Emmanuel, Grace and Trinity churches will meet at Trinity for a "cluster" service, Saturday.

Services will be held at Oldtown Methodist Church, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday at 7:30 p. m. Fred E. Thron, A. B., S. T. B., pastor of Melvin-Mapleside Methodist Charge will speak on "Where Are You Going?", "Picture Rooms of the Soul," and "A Son's First Chance." This will be a joint witness mission conducted by Paw Paw, Oldtown, Davis Memorial and the Mapleside-Melvin Charge.

Trinity Methodist began its observance of the anniversary last night. The services will continue through October 27 at 7:30 p. m. Rev. George Ports, Methodist minister in evangelism, will be speaker, and he and his wife will conduct a junior sermon for youths each evening.

Scouts To Visit Aircraft Carrier This Weekend

Two Air Explorer Scouts and a leader from Frostburg will spend the weekend aboard the nuclear-powered aircraft carrier USS Enterprise.

The boys, Norman Snyder and Michael Warne, and Howard Ward, leader, will leave early this morning for Baltimore, where they will join another group and continue by bus to Norfolk, Va.

The Frostburg youths, who are members of Air Explorers Squadron 42, sponsored by First Methodist Church there, will board the ship tomorrow and will leave it Sunday afternoon for the trip home.

Arrangements for the visit to the ship were made by Vice Admiral Paul Ramsey.

Church Plans Services

LaVale Methodist Church will hold Aldersgate Services beginning Sunday at 11 a. m. and concluding Wednesday, October 23.

Nightly services will be held starting Sunday at 7:30 p. m. and continuing each evening through Wednesday.

Rev. Edgar W. Beckett, district superintendent of the Washington West District of the Methodist Church, will preach a series of sermons based on John Wesley's Aldersgate experience in 1739.

The sanctuary choir, youth choir and junior choir, directed by Neil Williams, Mrs. Lawrence Clopper, Mrs. James E. Perry and Robert H. Mann Jr., will provide special music for the services.

The services are being sponsored by the church's commission on membership and evangelism, Dr. Raymond E. Vanderlinde, chairman. A nursery will be provided during each service.

Health Unit To Meet

The Board of Health of the City of Cumberland will meet Friday, October 25, at 2 p. m. in the office of Mayor Earl D. Chaney.

Area Executives Attend Management Skill Course

Nineteen industrial executives from Maryland, Pennsylvania, West Virginia and Virginia are attending a "skills of management" course sponsored by the Potomac Edison System at the Hotel Alexander in Hagerstown this week.

Nine supervisors, managers and executives from the electric utility company are also attending the five-day course.

Attending from this area are Louis Amato, manager of the Amcelle plant of Celanese Fibers Company; J. Brooke Fradiska, assistant secretary-treasurer of the Queen City Brewing Company; Charles S. Steiner, president of the Cumberland Cement and Supply Company; James L. Weber, president of the South Cumberland Planing Mill Company, and Eugene W. McCauley, district manager of the Potomac Edison Company at Frostburg.

PE President R. G. MacDonald welcomed the group Monday and told them the course "will provide you with a base for continuing constructive self-analysis and self-development."

The course, he explained, is designed to identify the modern skills of management and show how these skills can be applied in running an industrial enterprise and in improving job performances of managers.

He said the course will also enable the industrial and company representatives to further their own philosophy of management through exposure to the program of skills, the wealth of training and experience of the eight-man faculty and the ideas and experience of the other participants.

Some of the leading men in modern management are teaching various phases of the course.

This is the first time PE has sponsored a course for top management. In the past, the power company has sponsored lighting schools, wiring schools, motor schools and other programs for representatives from industries in the 8,000-square-mile area it serves.

Planning Unit Gives Approval Of Subdivisions

Must Be Recorded By November 15

The Allegany County Planning and Zoning Commission, meeting last night at the Court House, gave its approval to six existing subdivisions, according to Andrew McMinimee, county planner.

Under the county's new subdivision regulations, owners of existing subdivisions were to have notified the planning and zoning commission by October 15 with a letter of intention, according to C. Lee Renaud, county planning director.

Owners of these subdivisions then have until November 15 to record their subdivisions in the land records office at the Court House.

Two subdivisions owned by Mrs. Emma Richards as the Cumberland Real Estate Corporation, were approved. One of them involves three tracts on Brant Road at Cresaptown and the other is on Haystack Mountain near the Sacred Heart Hospital site.

Also approved was another subdivision of the Sunset View Real Estate and Development Company on Haystack Mountain. Approval of this, one of the company's original subdivisions, was requested by Thomas Burton.

Approval also was granted for Thresher Farm, a subdivision of Mrs. Alfred W. Fritz on Winchester Road; Albright's Fourth Addition in Ellerslie and a subdivision of Ray Larkin in Election District 33, Kifer, near Paw Paw, W. Va.

Mr. Renaud said the commission also consider a county house numbering plan and a project under the 701 program, through the Federal Housing and Home Finance Agency.

Four of the five commission members were present. They are James A. Perrin, Ralph M. Race, Carl O. Belt and County Commissioner Robert Little Ebert. Only Dr. Rudolph Steinberger was absent.

Commission Will Review Suggestions

The Municipal Planning and Zoning Commission will meet Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. The principal business will be to review several protests and a suggestion made during Monday's public hearing on the proposed new zoning ordinance.

The Mayor and Council asked the commission to study the comments and to make recommendations.

During the hearing, a petition signed by 14 South Cumberland residents was presented. It objected to the proposed rezoning of the Virginia, Lafayette and Lexington Avenues area, now Residential B and Industrial, to an Industrial district.

Also presented was a petition from 202 North End residents opposing the zoning of an area bounded by Shawnee Avenue, Franklin Street, Piedmont Avenue and the city limits as an RG 2 zoning district.

The area is now classified as Residential B and residents asked that it be put under the RG 1 class.

RG 1 is the classification for a general residential district of medium density and permits single family, two family and multi-family residences as well as related uses in keeping with the residential character of the district.

Also to be considered is a suggestion that a study be undertaken of zoning on Frederick Street.

Famous Choir Of Boys Town To Sing Here

Two Performances On December 3

Reservations are now being accepted for the two performances of the Boys Town Choir which will be presented here December 3 under the sponsorship of Chief Justice Taney General Assembly, Fourth Degree Knights of Columbus.

John H. Mosner, general chairman, said tickets are now on sale at various business establishments in the tri-state area, and may also be obtained by contacting Joseph Webb, PA 4-0149.

The nationally-famous choir will present a matinee at 3:30 p.m. and an evening performance at 8:15 p. m. Both shows will be presented in the Fort Hill High School auditorium.

For Crippled Children

Mr. Mosner said proceeds of the shows will benefit the Allegany County League for Crippled Children.

The Boys Town Choir, Mr. Mosner noted, is more than 20 years old, which makes the choir itself older than any of its members. From the very early days of Father Flanagan's famed Boys Town, singing has played an important role in the lives of the citizens, at church services, sports rallies and social gatherings.

But the choir as a formal organization was inaugurated by Father Flanagan in recognition of the value of music for cultural training and morale-building. Beginning with just 20 youngsters, the choir has grown steadily, until today it numbers more than 200, divided into Concert Choir, Repertoire Choir, and Chancel Choir.

Good Students Only

Father Nicholas H. Wegner, who succeeded the late Father Flanagan as director of Boys Town, insists that, once in the choir, the boys must maintain a high scholastic average — a requirement also of boys on football teams or in any other extracurricular activity.

The choir is directed by Very Rev. Msgr. Francis P. Schmitt, who also is in charge of the home life at Boys Town of his 200 singers. He is guiding his young charges, who range in age from 11 to 18, on their 18th annual tour.

In 17 previous tours, the choir has traveled well over 160,000 miles, singing over 600 concerts in 40 states and five provinces of Canada.

Mr. Mosner said a limited number of tickets will be available. The auditorium seats approximately 1,600, and all persons purchasing tickets will be assured a seat, Mr. Mosner noted.

Identity Clarified In Fatal Shooting

George A. Shaffer, who police said accidently shot Raymond R. Twigg, 66, of Mt. Savage, while hunting Wednesday in Garrett County is a resident of Garrett County and not of Mt. Savage, as was reported in yesterday's edition of The Cumberland News.

Mr. Twigg was hunting with Elmer Garlock, also of Mt. Savage, when the accident occurred in the Red Oak section of Garrett County.

PTA Council Plans Fellowship Dinner

The Allegany County Council of Parent Teachers Associations will sponsor a fellowship dinner next week for members of the PTAs of the county.

The dinner will be served at 6:30 p. m. October 24 at Salem United Church of Christ in Frostburg. The presidents of the local associations and principals of the schools will be guests.

Members planning to attend are being asked to make reservations by calling Paul Meyers at 689-6654 today.

Church To Hold Revival Services

Evangelistic services will be held at the Old Furnace Church of the Brethren, Route 28, Furnace Acres, October 20-27 at 7:30 p. m.

Jesse and Ruth Whitacre, of RD 1, Ridgeley, will be preaching each evening. There will be stories for children and special music each evening.

Registers Of Wills Meet Here

50 To Attend First Seminar

Some 50 persons, representing most of the register of wills offices in the state, are expected to attend a seminar here today and tomorrow of the the Maryland Register of Wills Association.

Allegany County Register of Wills James M. Roby, who is in his second term as president of the state association, said last night that all but about three of Marylnd's 23 counties will be represented here. Registers and their deputies will attend.

Mr. Roby said this is the first of four seminars planned in different sections of the state during the current fiscal year.

Sessions will begin at 2 p.m. today at the Fort Cumberland Hotel. Robert Karwacki, assistant attorney general of Maryland, will serve as discussion leader. This afternoon he will speak on "Interest and Penalties On Overdue Inheritance Taxes." Tomorrow morning the topic will be "Trust Estates."

Bernard F. Nossel, chief deputy comptroller, will represent State Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein.

A dinner will be served in the Fort Cumberland Hotel ballroom at 6:30 p.m.

Other officers besides Mr. Roby are Thomas Eichelberger, Frederick County, vice president; Thomas L. Adams, Harford County, treasurer; Mrs. Kathryn J. Corddry, Worcester County, secretary; Walter D. Addison, Prince George's County; Mrs. Virginia M. Black, Montgomery County, and Mrs. Gertrude Wright, Charles County, executive board members.

County Issues 26 Permits In Half Month

Some 26 building permits and zoning certificates for construction in the unincorporated portions of Allegany County have been approved during the first half of October by C. Lee Renaud, county planning director, and the total builder - estimated costs of the improvements is $167,975.

Just two of these permits are responsible for more than half of the total — $91,000.

Tops among the approved projects is a 38 by 84 foot brick church for the Bedford Road Baptist congregation at a cost of $65,000. This is situated in Election District 21.

The next most sizeable project is a $26,000 three-purpose building which Edward L. Thomas, 115 Midlothian Road, Frostburg, is planning to build some 2600 yards south of Frostburg in Election District 26 on the westerly side of Midlothian Road.

Mr. Thomas' concrete and frame building will serve as a snack bar, auto accessories business and apartments.

In addition to these two major projects, those approved so far in October have included nine dwelling additions and remodelings, six new dwellings four garages, two storage sheds, a dwelling foundation, tool shed, garage and storage.

These October projects include improvements in 18 different election districts of the county. Districts 2, Oldtown, and 21, Gross, have three permits each so far this month. Four other districts have two permits each. They include Districts 5, North End suburban; 13, Mt. Savage; 16, North Branch, and 27 Gilmore.

Districts with a single building permit so far this month include 3, Flintstone; 9, Barton; 10, Lonaconing suburban; 17, Vale Summit; 18, Midland; 19, Shaft, 20, Corriganville; 24, Eckhart; 26, Frostburg suburban; 29, LaVale; 31, McCoole, and 33, Kifer.

Three mobile homes and one advertising sign, which are not considered permanent improvements, also were authorized.

Dr. Shockley To Be Convention Speaker

Dr. Robert J. Shockley, assistant superintendent of Allegany County schools for curriculum, will be one of the speakers at the annual convention of the State Teachers Association in Baltimore.

Dr. Shockley will discuss "The New Mathematics—Fad or Fancy," at a meeting of the elementary section at Edmondson High School at 9:30 a.m. today.

Theodore P. Foote, county supervisor of art education, also said that some 24 pieces of art work, representing all grade levels in Allegany County, will be included in an art exhibit at the Baltimore Civic Center.

Wineow Street Subway Is Brighter

Two city departments have cooperated to help brighten up the Wineow Street subway.

Street Department crews completed whitewashing the west wall of the underpass.

The Police Department painted a center line on the roadway which was resurfaced by the city earlier this year.

CUF Returns Hit $29,031 For One Week

Over One-Third Of Goal Reached

A whopping total of $29,031.57 in just one week's time boosted the seventh mighty County United Fund campaign to 38.8 per cent of its goal yesterday, according to the second official campaign audit conducted by CUF's volunteer auditing committee.

Walter E. Dyck, campaign general chairman, reported after hearing the audit result, that the campaign is now moving into high gear and that success in reaching the overall $394,533 goal appears certain.

Leading divisions in the second audit were Cumberland Golden Gifters with $107,060.38, or 85.6 per cent of their goal, followed by the county area contributions of $22,192.30, and the Classified employe group contributions of the Cumberland area of more than $21,000.

County areas include Frostburg, Keyser, eastern sections of Allegany County, the Central Georges Creek region and the Tri-Towns.

Mr. Dyck commented that the second audit result is even more significant when it is considered that Big 7 United Giving groups are in the process of conducting their in-plant campaigns and the audit results do not include their payroll giving plan contributions. The Big 7 goal is $154,000.

The first audit was held a week ago when $123,884.38 in gifts was counted for the 28 participating health, social services and youth agencies of CUF which do not conduct their own drives and depend on the once-a-year CUF campaign.

Gifts by divisions audited yesterday were as follows:

Cumberland Business Division, $2,295.25, or 22.9 per cent of goal; Cumberland Classified Division, $21,368.02, or 38.9 per cent of goal; Cumberland Golden Gifts, $107,060.38, or 85.6 per cent of goal; Allegany and Mineral county areas, $22,192.30, or 43.1 per cent of goal.

The third campaign audit is tentatively scheduled for Thursday, October 24.

Members of the auditing committee are Richard C. Dickerhoff, chairman, Carroll S. Andrews, B. Woodward Dyche, Eugene F. Fuller, Gerald L. Harrison, W. Edward Jenkins, and Paul D. Long.

City To Help Entertain Bolivian Group

The City of Cumberland is making plans to greet a Bolivian railroad delegation which plans to visit this industrial and transportation center on October 30.

Mayor Earl D. Chaney said Jasper Clemente, of the U. S. Department of Labor, asked that the Mayor and Council meet the nine Bolivian railroad workers who are visiting the United States.

Mayor Chaney said members of the delegation will be taken on inspection tours of any city facilities in which they are interested.

The Bolivians, he added, are also interested in inspecting telephone facilities here.

Last year the city entertained a similar railroad group from Ecuador who were touring the United States under the auspicies of the Agency for International Development.

Battery Is Taken From School Bus

The Detective Bureau yesterday was investigating the theft of a battery from a school bus and the forced entry and theft at a service station here.

St. Patrick's Catholic Church reported yesterday morning that the battery, valued at $40 was stolen during the night from a school bus parked at the rear of the church.

Bernie's Repair Center, 638 Greene Street, reported that a window on the north side of the station was broken and that an intruder or intruders entered and forced open a cigarette dispensing machine, taking an unknown amount of change.
